Sherman County Fair Sept. 15-16-17

Horse Races=Rodeo=Cattle & Horse Exhibits
4-H Club Demonstrations-Carnival-Wheat, Fruit, Vegetable Exhibits-Crochet Contest

In a little over a month from now you'll be perched on the very edge of a seat at the fair grounds watching the chutes while hurrying horsemen strap a saddle onto a chunk of angry horseflesh and a stout hearted rodeo performer stands atop the chute waiting for his chance to hit that saddle and get out before you. Then he'll find out if he's in the money or in the dirt. It doesn't last long. It can't. Neither horse, nor man, nor spectator could stand it.

And in a few minutes you'll be standing up and yelling while the ponies come down the stretch toward the wire and you'll either want the bay to win or have a bet on the brown.

To get in the mood for all this excitement you will have spent the morning looking at the fat, steers the 4-H club boys and girls have been feeding and while viewing those rounded bodies you can consider the taste of a T-bone—and the cost.

You will probably be full of hamburgers, smell like an onion and feel like a small boy at the circus. You wouldn't miss it.

There will be dancing on Friday and Saturday nights at Grass Valley and Wasco, respectively, and that in itself gives a county wide tone to the whole fair.

There will be a carnival—a big one—on the flat and there will be excitement no end when the lights are on for that performance.

The county fair as an institution has lasted for years and years, grandpa always attended. And they have grown into state fairs and similar public events. And there's a reason for all of that. BECAUSE THEY'RE GOOD. They meet the public demand. There's new things to see, there's competition, there's excitement, there's a chance to win. There are beautiful horses and cattle that reach perfection. There's cakes that make the cooks fill with pride and that fill the hungry male accomplished only in eating them. There are children showing their best animals or best work.

There will be a lot of people at the Sherman County Fair, some of them will have come a long way because they know that they will meet friends at the fair. It is a good place to meet Bill and Betty and little Jasper who's growing up to be quite a man. And do you remember that time....
