Other guests included Mrs. Owens, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Crews, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Ruggles and Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Baumgartner. After the dance Mr. and Mrs. Kock entertained Jimmy Whitmore's orchestra members.

Mrs. Carl Schadewitz was given a surprise party Sunday, August 20 when relatives and friends called to help her celebrate her birthday anniversary. Guests included Mr. Schadewitz, and son John, Mrs. George Barnett, Mrs. Roy Barnett, Mrs. Ernest Barnett, Mrs. James Mathes and Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Schadewitz all of The Dalles, Mr. and Mrs. Troy Adams and son of Yakima and Mr. and Mrs.

HE "TIED" HIM AND WENT ONE BETTER . . . Race track fans will like to place their money on the jockey rather than on the horse. They will be interested to know that these two jockeys, Sam Boulemetic (left) and Joe Culmone, are battling for leading honors at Hialeah. When the photo was made, Sam was trying to tie Joe. He did such a good job, however, that he now possesses 13 wins, while the rider he was outdistancing has only 12. The winter racing season is on in Florida.

Bob Jarline of Toppenish, Wn., were dinner guests Sunday at Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Wilson and the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gorman. Mrs. Bill Jeffries of Kent and don Lemley. Orren Schadewitz of Portland. Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Dunlap and Mrs. Hans Bardenhauser spent Sunday visiting at the Argen and daughter, Terry of Kent Zell Lemley home.

Mr. and Mrs. Andy Walter and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Dillon of Hood River enjoyed a picnic dinner Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace May.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Newcomb and Mrs. Amelia Peterson left Monday for Vancouver, Wash., having received word of the death of Mr. Newcomb's brother, Ray Newcomb. Funeral services were held at Vancouver Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Edwards of Leaburg brought Mrs. John Engstrom home recently after spending several weeks with them.

Mr. and Mrs. John Rolfe and son, Ronald, left Monday for the coast to spend a week. Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Andersen went to The Dalles Friday evening to a party and charivari for Mr. and Mrs. Jack West.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Crews, Frank Ketter and daughter, Marlene, and Mr. and Mrs. Steve Ketter were in The Dalles Sunday to visit Mrs. Frank Ketter and infant daughter at the hospital.

Miss Gladys Moore of Wasco is visiting her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Fields.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Ruggles and son, Dean, and Mr. and Mrs.

Then there's bucking. Bucking and the rodeo events that accompany it is about the most popular spectator sport in the country. That means it draws about the most people to watch it. Not many folks want to board one of those bucking horses when he rares around in the chute, bawling a little and trying to find some one close so he can stick his foot in a human face. They are unpleasant characters at such times.

There's really not many folks who become participants in this rodeo game and even the biggest shows have a comparatively small cast. It is a risky business. Take a look at Bob Erzler who is leaving Banjo by the air route. He looks as if he were flying but will probably hit the ground kerpunk in a second and that white shirt will need a washing and Bob will need a new start of air for breathing.

Sure, there'll be bucking and rodeo events at the Sherman county fair, it is a habit. The spectators demand it. The board provides it. Mack Barbour is bringing his string of bucking horses down from the Lewiston show. Some of them were at the Pendleton Round-Up where they were found tough. Some of the riders will come, too so you will be seeing much the same show as if you had driven three hundred miles. There will be calf roping and bull dogging and bull riding and bareback riding, and all will be sandwiched in between the horse races to fill up the afternoon. You know, even people who say they don't like bucking yell just like any one else when a rider balances on thin air a moment and no can tell whether the horse is going to be there when he comes down again or not. And when the rider loses his balance or lets his head begin to bob there is a thrill that they all feel even if their favorite game is Tiddly-winks. Now there's Numa McCain sitting up there like he was riding a merry-go-round horse. The sailing through the air isn't the worst part of it, the boys say; it is the stopping. That's like a lot of other things easy to start and hard to stop. Rodeo events at the Sherman county fair have helped make the fair's fine record for entertainment because the quality of them has been so uniformly good. There's good horses (you understand that a good rodeo horse would bite your head off), horses that appear in the best shows. So why shouldn't they appear here. And there's always a bunch of men who don't care for broken arms or legs or necks who will ride them for glory and honor and a few bucks. Bucking is one pursuit at which little practice is obtained. It's like parachute jumping. If you're not good at it you only last a couple of seconds and if you are good you can get maybe ten seconds of practice. The guy who needs it the worst gets the least. But it does beat the deuce (not a very high card) how much a man can learn in five seconds. Win Powers has gone to driving tractor and herding cows instead of following the buckers around the season and maybe you wouldn't wonder when you see what sometimes happens to a man on the broken neck circuit. Win was going ashore from the deck as the picture was snapped and not in the best naval tradition. But he got there. Oh, Yes, there's something doing at the Sherman Fair and it's good. Get you a good comfortable seat when you come, one from where you can see all the chutes (most seats are like that) and you'll be in for a good afternoon. Better arrange to have some pleasant person in front of you, someone who won't object if you do a little kicking and a lot of yelling. Because you're going to be excited.
