

These Things We Note

by Giles L. French

Some one recalls that the meek will inherit the earth. A heck of a trick to play on a meek and innocent man.

We note that the contest between perfume and plumbing still goes on.

The people of this nation are critical of Stalin and other dictators and yet there is little protest about the president flying to an island in the Pacific to meet MacArthur and decide something or other. Foreign policy should be made by the senate.

The cattle are down from the mountains and are grazing on the late forage on the meadows; the trees have turned to brilliant red and deep yellow along the roadsides; wheat is being seeded by huge machines pulled by roaring diesels. Earth is nearly ready for winter.

Ernest Haycox, thin wiry, intense, a thinker type, who wrote of the bold bad days of the west so well that his stories became literature, is dead at a mere 51. Oregon has thus lost its best writer and a political theorist of sound mind.

We suppose there will be some saving when we get our wars coming so close together we do not have a bargain day on "surplus" material between them.

Firms advertise that they will make new hair grow on the human (male) head and barbers want $1.25 to trim that hair. There's one instance where the conservative gets off best. He is too cautious to buy more hair and saves on the cutting.

The local high school student body is broke and is giving a concert as a means of getting part way out of debt. By that method it may be presumed that the youngsters will learn as much as from any course. In these days it is important to know that if one wants something he must work for it because that will be doubly important when present theories about something for nothing are proven wrong.

TTWN

Depending on where you go and who you talk to you may hear that the bankers make too much, the lawyers make too much, the laborers get too high wages, the farmers are getting rich, government workers are paid excessively, manufacturers charge too much, merchants take too big a profit. There are always candidates who use the prejudices in order to try to gain votes and there are always people ready to believe that some other group is profiteering. We presume it is a variation of the old "far away hills are greener" story. Wasn't it that philosophy that caused the writing of that ancient song "The Bear Went Over the Mountain?"

TTWN

If we knew where there was a country that would go to war with the United States we would move there. If possible to survive the war, which wouldn't be difficult, we could be assured of economic safety for a generation. Uncle Sam takes care of its enemies, yes sir.

A newspaper story reports that rain has hampered practice of the U. of O. football team. Goodness, do those boys practice outside?

We'll bet that whatever people all over the world are fighting for they don't get.

A lot of things are going to be forgotten in the week after election. And by most of the voters they aren't remembered anyway.

Moro Takes Odell 19-0 In Friday's Gridiron Tilt

Moro defeated Odell on the local field last Friday by a score of 19 to 0 in what was a comparatively easy game for the home boys. Fred von Borstel, heavy end, John Alley, regular center, and Carl Schilling, burly guard, did not start the game which evened the weights somewhat between the local club and the lighter Odell team.

Moro scored in the second quarter on a long run by Lane, full, and sewed the game up more securely in the final quarter with two touchdowns by Roberson.

There will be no football game this week as Condon has cancelled its schedule and is now playing six man football. Moro's game with Heppner will be here November 3rd; and the local team hopes to schedule a game here for Armistice day.

Enrollment totaled 622 at the end of the third week of the fall term, according to Clifford L. Constance, registrar. Total enrollment in the university for fall is 5,141.

Marvin Thomas New Head of Health Ass'n

Marvin Thomas of Wasco was elected as the new president of the Sherman County Health association at a meeting held at the Moro Community church Thursday night. Mr. Thomas succeeds Mrs. Virginia McIntyre who has held the office since 1939.

Other officers named were W. W. Gearhart, vice-president, and Mrs. Charles Burnet, secretary-treasurer. Committee members will be named at a later time by the president although Mrs. McIntyre volunteered to take care of the work entailed in the seal sale for this year.

Other committees are Health Education and Fact Finding which will be useful in this county.

Present at the meeting was L. P. Putnam, director of field organization for the state association who explained the organization of the national and state groups and told of the work being done. Because of the work tuberculosis now kills but 30 per hundred thousand whereas it killed 400 per hundred thousand in 1904 when the association was formed.

The local group has over $3300 which can be used for health purposes and it is desirous of obtaining the services of a nurse for the county if it can be arranged. This money has been obtained from the seal sale 74 per cent of the returns from which stay in the county.

Other meetings will be held on the third Mondays of the month, and at the November meeting a revised constitution and by-laws are to be presented to the committee.

More work on health education is the aim of the association for the coming year and the committee is expected to prepare a program for that purpose.

More Students Enroll at University

A seven per cent increase in enrollment in the University of Oregon's graduate school for fall term points up the growing stature of this basic university strength.

Enrollment totaled 622 at the end of the third week of the fall term, according to Clifford L. Constance, registrar. Total enrollment in the university for fall is 5,141.

An increase in enrollment is shown in the college of liberal arts, which has drawn all freshmen and sophomore students who were formerly enrolled in the several professional schools that have been changed to an upperclass status.

Measures Topic Of County Club's First Program

Discussion and opinion of the measures on the November ballot was given to the Sherman County club at its first fall meeting Wednesday night at Rufus.

The amendment to increase legislator's pay was described as a bill that would make it easier for senators and representatives to break even on their expenses although it was not held that it would increase the quality of the legislators themselves.

The amendment to lend the credit of the state for the purpose of building self-liquidating buildings at schools of higher learning has a laudable purpose and would probably not create any general public debt if the board of higher education and the legislature were as careful after the state assumed the obligations as they have been heretofore.

The third measure that would permit loans of state veterans' fund money to veterans who enlisted from other states and who now reside in Oregon was described as being a fair bill that would serve to give additional welcome to veterans who have chosen to make Oregon their home.

Of the basic school increase bill it was said that it would perpetuate a poor system of school district organization by keeping it supplied with funds, that it would cost the taxpayers of this county more than they would receive and that tax collections over a large area for redistribution was a wasteful practice.

Passage of the needy persons assistance act was urged because it would remove possibility that the dangerous Dunne bill would have to be tried. That bill would probably make it impossible for the state to obtain federal money. A vote for 308 X YES was described as a vote for a sound public welfare bill.

The uniform time bill was described and the prophesy made that daylight time would be made uniform over the state in case the bill passed because adjoining states are using daylight time. But if this bill passes all Oregon will have one time to go by and complaint comes from the variations mostly.

No opinion was given about the bonus bill which would give to veterans of World War II a cash bonus up to $600. It will be decided on sentiment. The cost at an average of $500 for 147,000 veterans would be over $70,000,000 but the total figure should be somewhat less than that figure. The veteran estimate is $43,000,000. Interest will make the annual cost nearly $5,000,000 per year for 20 years.

The bill for reapportionment was urged on those present because no measure before the voters is of greater importance as a means of retaining the stability of the state. It expresses the American way of choosing legislators which is by population and area. Better acquaintance with state affairs by up-state legislators, greater interest in broad problems of the state by up state voters was claimed and necessity of development in rural areas were all given as arguments for this most important bill.

The bill to prevent sale of advertising brands of liquor was dismissed as a fanciful idea that was neither practical nor possible.

Presiding at the meeting was L. E. Kaseberg, president. Speaker was Giles French.

Game Board Recinds Any Sex Season

At a special meeting directly following a public hearing October 16, the Oregon game commission voted to eliminate the hunter's choice deer season that had been scheduled for October 21st and 22nd. The commission also voted to extend the regular deer season for bucks with forked horns or better thru October 22nd. The extension of the general season, however, does not apply in the area in Lake and Klamath counties where the special season on the interstate deer herd is being held on October 18 and 19.

The service may be requested by any establishment which might suspect the existence of harmful results from leakage of equipment or poor ventilation. As little as 0.40 percent carbon monoxide in the atmosphere will cause perceptible effects in one hour, headache and nausea in one to two hours, and lethal effects in three hours or less. Home owners should consult the local fire department for advice concerning operation and hazards of home heating equipment.
