

Klondike Has Wheat Fire

Mrs. Joe Drinkard

The Marie Barnett Cooper ranch was the scene of the seasons third fire. Cause of the fire was not determined. About a half mile of railroad right of way was burned and some old ties was the extent of damage to the Union Pacific. The ranch, however, suffered the loss of some 300, mostly new posts, and about 20 acres of wheat. The wheat luckily was insured. Due to a west wind the out buildings were not burned but the fire burned within a foot or two of some of them before being stopped. The Wasco community fire engine was called out and was manned by town volunteers who among others fought fire for a few hours.

Our fourth fire of the season was Monday morning on some vacant lots back of the Guy Andrews' residence and the Christian church. Mrs. Andrews was burning garbage and the wind blew sparks into the dry grass. The alarm was turned in by Joe Drinkard and the community engine went to the rescue. The only damage done was to a pile of lumber back of the parsonage and it was not badly hurt. Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Watkins have returned from a weeks stay at the coast.
