A WILD RIDE . . . Rafael Sanchez Saco is lifted off the ground and appears about to be taken for a ride—free of charge—as he battles to outwit a bull in the arena. Fortunately, although Saco was in danger of a severe goring, he escaped unscathed. He tangled with the bull as alternate for Rafael Santa Cruz, a Peruvian apprentice bullfighter who scored an ear, cherished prize among bullfighters. Bull fighting is the national sport in many Latin countries.

Refreshments were served and games played late into the afternoon.

"But why not, Matilda? After all, aside from taxes, gasoline costs about the same now as in 1925!"

It takes a far smaller share of your income to keep your car in gasoline today. Oil men have been beating increased costs with technical efficiencies that hold prices down—and yield better gas: two gallons now do work that used to take three. That's progress.
