IKE AND MAMIE VISIT OREGON

Portland's Mayor Dorothy McCullough Lee and Sig Unander were on hand at the Union Station to greet General and Mrs. Eisenhower when they arrived last week. The party traveled in motorcade through downtown Portland along Broadway, 5th and 6th avenues to the public auditorium. An estimated 60,000 persons turned out to see the general and Mamie. Unander was general chairman of the committee handling the Eisenhower visit to Oregon.

The crowd closed in on "Ike" when he left Portland's public auditorium to return to his special train. Wherever he goes eager spectators scramble to touch him while those in the rear chant "We Like Ike". Driver of his convertible car through Portland was Inez Scott, an ex-WAC who drove General Eisenhower for 11 months in North Africa. She is a former Albany girl now living and working in Portland as an accountant.

Oregon's Governor Douglas McKay and Mrs. McKay visited the distinguished visitors in their private car on the tail end of the Eisenhower special. Gov. McKay was an early supporter of the general, and Ike reminded the assembled thousands at the Salem railroad station that "Oregon's delegation to the Republican national convention was the first state to cast a unanimous vote for my nomination, and I shall always be grateful."

Robert A. Elliott, Medford, state chairman of the Republican central committee of Oregon; Jess Gard, Republican national committeeman from Oregon; and Gordon Orput, chairman of the Oregon Citizens for Eisenhower committee, joined the general's special train in Washington and stayed with "Ike" during his entire trip through the state. Elliott almost missed the train in Portland when the car in which he traveled along the parade route caught fire on the return trip from the auditorium to Union Station.

At each whistlestop Mamie was given flowers or some memento of the region. Presentations varied from flowers and a 25-pound salmon to an especially created chapeau given to her by ladies in Albany. In Salem, Gov. Douglas McKay leaned over the rail on the rear platform of the Eisenhower train to receive a bouquet from a group of young Salemites. Mrs. Eisenhower handed eager young fans souvenir rings just before the train pulled out of the station.

Between whistlestops Mamie met the ladies in the parlor of the Eisenhower private car. The visiting ladies photographed with Mrs. Eisenhower between Portland and Salem are: Miss Emilie Eisenhauer, Portland; Mrs. M. Clay Myers, Tillamook; and Mrs. Irene ... Mrs. Gaul is the general's secretary. ... their chat with "Mrs. Ike" the week ... to the guest lounge car where the ... to General Eisenhower along with ... of the guest delegation.
