KENT STOCK 4-H CLUB MEETS

The 4-H's of Kent carrying livestock projects met Wednesday, December 9, for their second meeting. The meeting was held after school at the Kent school. The club includes eleven members, nine having steers and two having swine. Officers are Frank McKay, president; Ronnie Mobley, vice president; Kay McKay, secretary; Nancy Decker, news reporter. All members received their record books. A special talk was given by Jim Ellis, from Corvallis on what to feed club calves and pigs.

Next meeting is to be held the second Wednesday in January at the Kent school.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB MEETS AT MEDLERS

Mrs. Grace Medler entertained the home economics club of the grange at her home Thursday afternoon with co-hostesses Mrs. Harland McDonald and Mrs. Harry Adams. This was the club's Christmas party, and Mrs. Medler made her home gay with wreaths, candles and an ornamental Christmas tree lighted up.

Ice cream to represent cake topped by green leaves and red candles was served with cookies punch and coffee. Mrs. Rolland Johnson, outgoing chairman, served at the linen covered dining room table a buffet style while Mrs. William O'Brien, incoming chairman, presided at the punch bowl on the opposite side of the dining room table.

Mrs. Johnson opened the business meeting Roll call was each one telling what was their favorite project of the club during the year.

The women of the grange who wish to be active in the home economics club should give their names to the new president, Mrs. William O'Brien. This way the club will be made up of a group of willing workers, and the president won't be let down when she appoints her committees. Mrs. William O'Brien, the new chairman was installed by the past chairman Mrs. Trace Fields assisted by Mrs. Walt Morris and Mrs. Will Huck.

There will be no host meeting of the HEC on January 14 at the Rufus grange hall. The women will serve a 6:30 p. m. potluck dinner with their husbands as the guests.

Mrs. Walter Morris won the drawing. Mrs. Earl Pearson and Mrs. Elton Medler were guests of the club. Also Mrs. Gordon Harper and Mrs. Mary Pratt, incoming grangers and Mrs. Charles Blake were present besides 16 regular club members. The members all exchanged gifts by standing in a circle and passing the gifts to music. When the music stopped, each kept the gift which was in their hands. A name was taken of a boy in White Salmon, Wn., by the HEC members, so every boy at the camp was given a gift. Mrs. Rolland Johnson was named to send the gifts away.

The Moro Barber Shop will be closed Dec. 24 thru Dec. 28 will be open Dec. 29.
