

Moro Personals

Dick Holdaway came up from Washington last week end on a little business trip. He says he is doing alright in his service station at Bingen.

Mrs. Mollie McLachlan was in Madras last week end to visit her two daughters and families who both live near there.

The Campfire girls are going to have a scavenger hunt from 7 until 9 on the evening of April 23 and after that they will dance. Scene or headquarters of this event will be the American Legion hall in Moro. Mrs. Mike Mulick is leader of the group.

Robert S. Balian, field representative of the American Red Cross, was in town Tuesday night and Wednesday adding the push for funds now going on.

Cy Griswold is here from Pendleton to pour the foundation for the new flat warehouse of the Moro Grain Growers. Sunday the site was covered with coarse rock dug from a bank along the the Grass Valley canyon road. This has been rolled down this week preparatory to actual concrete pouring which may be next week.

Russ Longnecker, here for spray flying, is finding the weather on the windy side.

Experiments with television are going on in Moro with some show of success recently. Bud Powell has a big aerial that gives him fair reception and others are trying different things to try to bring the pictures and sound down from some hill to their living rooms.

4-H CLUB MEETS

By Tom Higley

The Root and Waller club met the 27th of March at the home of Alice Eslinger. There were six members present.

Under new business we talked about the changing of The Dalles Show date. The next meeting will be April 24.

Lola Osborne, president and district deputy presidents were introduced.

The welcome address was given by Josephine Gentry of Lupine lodge with response by Helen Olds, Grass Valley lodge No. 118.

A roll call of past chairmen and presentation of gifts to each one followed.

Each lodge gave reports which consisted of their activities during the year and exemplified a part of the lodge work, Grass Valley on balloting and Lupine by introducing a member from another jurisdiction and Marion's was a paper on a defunct card read by Beatrice Howell and complimented on by the president, who then answered questions and gave an interesting address on some of the new work to be learned.

Lupine lodge received the attendance award, after which an invitation was given by Marion lodge 127 to have convention there next year, the invitation was accepted, election of officers followed and lodge adjourned until 8 o'clock.

A banquet was served at 6:30 in the church basement by the Eastern Star with each Rebekah lodge furnishing some entertainment. Vernon Miller was toastmaster.

At the evening session Grass Valley lodge put on the degree work for six candidates, three for Lupine and three for Marion, the president complimented them especially on not using their books during the work. She then gave another interesting address.

The following officers were installed for next year: Edith Brock, chairman; Eva Cantrall, vice chairman; Selma Watkins, secretary-treasurer; Vada DeMoss, warden; Charlotte Barnett, conductor; Grace Medler, inside guardian; Hazel Adams, outside guardian; Bertha Belshe, chaplain; Lena Brock, L. S. to chairman; Mollie McLachlan, R. S. to vice chairman; Ellen Justesen L. S. to vice chairman; Leona Douma, musician; Helen Martin, past chairman.
