AN OPEN LETTER TO WHEAT RANCHERS FROM AL ULLMAN

Ullman-for-Congress Headquarters
Baker, Oregon
October 25, 1954

Dear Friends:

Developing a sound and equitable wheat program is my major concern. I want you to know that I will spend the time between the election and when I go to Washington conferring with wheat ranchers and Wheat League leaders on this program.

Before going to Washington, I will work with farm leaders to develop a domestic parity formula satisfactory to wheat producers. Study and consultation with producers is essential and I will devote my full time to that end.

The future farm program must be geared to individual commodities and solutions found on the individual commodity level. Working through the members of commodity associations, we must develop an over-all program that is individualized to meet the needs of separate commodities. The flexible price system is a corn program, not a wheat program, and the compromise at 82 1/2 per cent of parity this year is just a step toward 75 per cent parity next year.

The farm program of the present administration is a year-to-year program, giving the producer no chance to plan ahead because it shifts under an unstable short term. We must look to the long-term stability of the industry.

I will actively work to develop a marketing program so that the Pacific Northwest can benefit from the demand available in Far Eastern markets. We need a stepped-up program on research for conversion of grain to other uses, especially in manufacturing. Research in this field has not kept pace with the needs of the wheat industry. Wheat should be considered as a feed crop as well as a food crop.

Oregon's delegation has no experts on wheat in Washington, D. C. We must work together to develop a program to suit the needs of this area's wheat producers, who contribute so much to the prosperity of our economy.

Sincerely,

AL ULLMAN
