4-H Achievement Day, November 13

Poultry raising, a 4-H project popular with both boys and girls, is portrayed in this reproduction of the 1955 National 4-H Calendar pointing as one of many 4-H programs. Because 4-H Club work is so varied, it has a wide appeal for young people between the ages of 10 and 21. Through their 4-H projects, club members know the pride of personal ownership. At the same time they learn important lessons of responsibility. On National 4-H Achievement Day, November 13, 4-H boys and girls will receive deserved congratulations for their outstanding accomplishments.
