Cal Horn, your Telephone Manager

"Shut-ins" go to school by telephone

For many ill or handicapped children facing long confinement at home, there's a new interest in life these days. Thanks to school-to-home telephone service, they can now "attend" classes regularly. A speaker-microphone is put in the classroom and another in the home. They're connected by a private telephone line. The student at home hears everything his teacher and classmates say, and they hear him. As one youngster says: "Before, I just did my lessons at home and that was that. Now something new happens every day." The men and women of Pacific Telephone work to make your telephone more useful every day.

Thirty one years of telephone service in The Dalles area . . .

Here is A. R. "Art" Darling pictured by some of the equipment in The Dalles Toll Test room. He started with the Telephone Company in Colorado 37 years ago and 31 of them have been right here in this territory. During World War I he served as a Navy radio operator. His job is Chief Transmission Man in charge of long-line equipment maintenance which includes Micro-wave stations near Moro, Hood River, and Arlington. His crew consists of 10 men skilled in electronics. Art and his wife, Vaunda, own their home at 810 W. 9th street, The Dalles. They have a unique hobby of growing African Violets and Gloxinias in their own greenhouse. He says, "the telephone business has been most interesting over the years."

Sewing Club Learning How To Make Things
By Julie Woods

The 4H sewing groups of Moro, who call themselves "The Handy Girls Sewing Club" held its regular meeting, January 23, in the Moro school cafeteria.

The meeting was called to order by president, Julie Woods. Roll call was taken and the minutes were read by secretary, Sherrie Fraser. It was suggested that we have our news put in the paper by our newsreporter. One of our leaders, Betty Henrichs, told of the importance for keeping our sewing records up accurately.

Refreshments were served by Susie and Julie Woods. A committee was appointed for bringing refreshments to our next meeting.

After our business meeting we did some sewing. The first year girls, who are in the book, "Just So Girls", are making headscarfs. The second year, "Sew It's Fun", girls are also making headscarfs, however, by machine instead of by hand. Garment protectors are being made by the girls in the third year, or "Charmingly Yours" group. The fourth year, "Teenage Miss" girls are busy making blouses. "Clothes for Fun and Sun" group, or the fifth year is making practice garments and also the sixth year girls are practicing.

Our meeting was finished at 5 o'clock.
