Which is More Important to You... ?

What you get for the OLD or What you get in the NEW

Don't let a few dollars difference in allowance on an old machine make you blind to the BIG differences in value and quality of new machines. It's the new machine you have to live with, work with, and depend on. That's why it's wise to look beyond the allowance on the old machine and figure how much value you get in the new machine for the new money you put into it. You'll find we give you top value when you trade for a Case machine.
