The 4-H "Hi-Yu" horse club met at the home of Sharon Coelsch, Friday evening, May 10. Prior to the 4-H meeting, all of the members and a few of the adult parents went in the heated indoor swimming pool belonging to the Coelsch family. It was 9:30 p. m. before everyone could be coaxed into settling down for the business meeting, as the swimming party was highly enjoyed.

Under old business, Nancy McKean gave a report on the feed and care of a horse. The "Hi-Yu" felt emblems bought by each youngster are to be worn in the drills and at the Sherman County Fair.

Under new business, a written exam was given and passed by almost everyone present. Those completing all requirements of the 4-H rider were presented 4-H medals with the head of a horse thereon. Those receiving the medals were Patricia Alsop, Sharon Coelsch, Ryan Johnson, Jack Kellogg, Nancy McKean, Floyd Rathbun, Phyllis and Shirley Watkins. (John Fields, who was ill in the hospital, was later given the exam in his hospital bed and qualified for the 4-H medal, also.)

Our club has gained one more member, David Conlee.

Potato salad and sandwiches, plus punch and coffee, were served to 41 hungry people. Co-hostesses for the evening were Doris Coelsch and Vada DeMoss.
