4-H Soloist with Chicago Symphony

An Oregon 4-H'er, Wilbur Jensen, 19, of Langlois, will share top billing as trumpet soloist with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra Nov. 30 in a "Pop" concert that will herald the opening of the 36th National 4-H Club Congress.

Now a sophomore at Lewis and Clark College, Jensen is an eight-year 4-H Club member. This will be a repeat performance for the young talented musician. He last appeared with the Symphony Orchestra in 1953. He and his sister entertained the Club Congress delegates in 1951 and both were guests on a coast-to-coast TV program honoring National 4-H Club Week.

The "Pop" concert is given by the Singer Sewing Machine Company, which for the past two years has sponsored the 4-H Clothing Leader Training program throughout the country. More than 1500 Congress delegates and leaders will attend this musical treat.

In reflecting on his music and 4-H careers, Jensen said: "In retrospect, music and club work have formed for me a most interesting, beneficial and enjoyable coalition."

gon department of agriculture. Almost half of the 1162 livestock and poultry losses reported from July 1 to October 5 were attributed to coyotes. Foxes, bears, raccoons, bobcats, dogs, badgers, mountain lions, opossums, skunks, and eagles, in that order, were responsible for the other losses.
