SO MANY persons have had good luck with advertising in the SHERMAN COUNTY JOURNAL so many have sold their articles as soon as the paper is published, so many have told us about it

THAT, despite our modesty, we are forced, actually forced, to believe that advertising in the SHERMAN COUNTY JOURNAL is an easy way to dispose of goods

Whether it be some huge equipment like tractors, some graceful equipage such as an automobile, a surplus of gadgets ready to gather dust on the shelves come spring when there will be dust or some un-needed household appliance that has outworn its usefulness around one house and is ready to move on to another, like a baby crib, for instance

The same thing would apply to a plow, or a cow; a trailer or a baler, a tisket or a tasket

We think we can reduce inventories like rye krisp can reduce hips, given the proper co-operation in both cases, and we are rarin' to try because we have an inventory of white space a little too large right now.

Three new members who were welcomed to the American Legion Auxiliary at the January meeting were Mrs. Jack Rothery, Mrs. Joe Moss, and Mrs. Vern VanGilder. The unit was visited briefly by District 5 President Mrs. Keith McDonald, who was unable to stay. The secretary read a letter from Lois Ericson concerning the Heart association. The secretary also stated that the Heart fund will be in the form of individual letters sent out with a returnable envelope for contributions instead of personal contact this year. There was discussion on the wheel chair to be purchased by the auxiliary. They decided on the $108 one, but would wait until the chairman, Grace Medler, returned for final action. The subject of name tags for school children was discussed again and decided to present the idea to the PTA again this Friday at the family night and January meeting. Mrs. Floyd Rathbun was present as representative for the PTA and invited everyone to the meeting for discussion. The president informed the unit that the magazine salesman for the auxiliary would be around again sometime in February and will have identification in the form of a contract which would have been signed by Mrs. Dewey Thomas and Mollie McLachlan of Moro. A letter of congratulations from the department secretary was read on having reached the membership quota.

There was discussion concerning a date when the Legion and auxiliary might attend church together and the Sunday after the Legion birthday dinner was tentatively chosen. There was a thank-you from the district president, Mildred McDonald for the get-well card she received during her illness. It was decided to honor the district president at a tea following the May 5 meeting. A committee was appointed to decide upon a gift to be presented at that time. The president asked that cookies be brought to be next meeting to be sent to the Roseburg hospital. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Clyde Fridley and Mrs. Dewey Thomas, who had decorated the table with red tapers and balloons and confetti in a New Year motif.

Mrs. Grace Medler flew to Las Vegas to visit Mr. and Mrs. Harry Adams and sons for the holidays. She will stop off and visit her sister in Arcadia, Calif., on her return trip.
