

Moro Personals

Allen Murray of Hood River was here for the fair Saturday, going on Sunday to Lakeview to get a burro for his grandchildren. Word received from Miss Edith Paulson is that she is teaching second grade in the Burns, Oregon grade school. There are three other teachers teaching second grade there also, she states.

Clarence Sparling took in a day at the fair last week as did Tom Fraser and wife, coming from Portland.

J. B. Adams, former manager of Eastern Oregon Land company here, came up from his retirement in Portland to see the fair and visit with old friends.

Mrs. Hazel Woods came back to Moro for the fair which gave her a chance to see friends of her telephone girl days in Moro and visit son, Lyle and family, who were over from Centerville, Wn.

Mr. and Mrs. Avery Martin were here for a day of the fair and to visit her father, Charley Belshe.

BORN: To Mr. and Mrs. William Bleker, Thursday, September 11, at The Dalles an 8 pound 15 oz. son.

Fred Greer was a visitor in Moro Monday from The Dalles. Fred looks natural again having recovered from his illness.

Claud Thompson left Wednesday for Salem and Eugene preparatory to going back to California where he makes his home.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Thomas, formerly lessees of the Moro Hotel Coffee shop, left this week for Camp 5, Kinsua where Ralph will go back to work in the woods.

Young persons whose quick step has enlivened the town during the summer quietly left us this week, going back to school for another year of learning to be adults at which most of them made some strides toward accomplishing during the holiday.

Wren Hogue was in town Wednesday visiting with friends of another day when he was a resident of Kent and a more frequent visitor in Moro.

Miss Sharon Belshe showed slides Tuesday evening and gave an interesting talk of her IOOF sponsored trip to the United Nations in July. A good crowd attended, lunch was served by Moro and Wasco Rebekahs.

Kaseberg-Woods

Engagement Told

Mrs. Shirley Smith Woods of Portland and Mr. Ernest Woods of Moro announce the engagement of their daughter, Sherry, to Larry Edward Kaseberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence E. Kaseberg of Wasco.

The bride-elect attended Oregon State College where she was affiliated with Kappa Kappa Gamma. Her fiancé, a graduate of Oregon State College, is a member of Beta Theta Pi.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Tumalo and two sons were down Saturday on visit to attend the fair and visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Barnum and other relatives.

Property lost at the fair grounds or mislaid includes two keys and rings and one small transistor radio. They can be obtained at the Journal office.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Kelso left for southern Oregon the first of the week on receipt of word that her step mother had been killed in a highway accident and her father seriously injured.

Duane (Spike) Hennessey and Monte Brooks came to the fair Friday to see what it was like. Hennessey is manager of the Multnomah county fair and Brooks is an entertainer who has appeared here. They were impressed with the livestock and would like to have some of equal quality for the show at Gresham.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Button of Selah, Wn., visited at the home of John and Etha DeMoss the first of the week. Also Mr. and Mrs. Fred Seigel of Spokane, Wash.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to extend my sincere thanks and appreciation to the kind friends who sent me cheering cards and letter and for the flowers to brighten up my room during my recent stay in the hospital. I hope to be home soon.

Rufus Personals

Mrs. George Fox

The Rufus Grange was awarded the blue ribbon for its display at the Sherman County Fair at Moro last week. The talented and gifted Mrs. Fred Harrison won the honors with her display on 4-H club boys and girls parading their animals before the judges. The figurines were made of salt material with all the fine details of color and equipment added. There were pigs and their babies, lambs, and calves with one animal running away dragging the child holding onto the rope. Another man was running to his aid with a lariat coiled ready to throw. A space ship and a balloon hovered overhead with the parents of the children cranning their necks to see it all. Men were seen looking out of the space ship which was marked from "Mars". A bale of alfalfa hay and some wheat was used in front of the display. Mrs. Harrison was assisted with the background work by her husband and Mr. and Mrs. Trace Fields. This is the third consecutive year since Mrs. Harrison has been in charge of this display that the booth has won the blue ribbon. This means $35 to the Rufus Grange in prize money. The Harlandview Grange booth was very attractive with its display of fruits and vegetables.

Last weekend a grass fire burned from the tracks up to the highway at the Blackburne hill. Seems as if Rufus has had grass fires all around it this year. There is a large area of burned land south of Rufus along the hillside below the wheat fields.

The Rufus Tavern took on a new look last week, a pretty light green shade. It has been painted white ever since it was built.

Jimmy Fox left Sunday morning for Pullman, Wn., to attend Washington State college. He is a graduate of Sherman High. Another Sherman county native, Jim Belshe, is attending Washington State for his second year. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Belshe.

Mrs. Jean Thompson is happy to hear that her son, Albert Thompson of Fairfield, Calif., who is with Uncle Sam in the Air Force had a recent promotion to Senior Master Sergeant. This is a new E-8 rank for enlisted men, and carries a stripe. There were only twenty men out of about 500 master sgts. that made the new rank in his group. Mrs. Thompson also received a picture of all the men making the new rank. Albert has had 19 years with the service. He is a high school graduate of Rufus Consolidated school, and his parents and family lived here for many years. His father passed away, but his mother still is a native here, being raised just a short distance south of Rufus and getting her education at Rufus.

Mrs. Harland McDonald and her workers completed another year having the food booth at the Sherman County Fair. The ones from Rufus assisting Mrs. McDonald were Mrs. Bert Swigart, Mr. and Mrs. Atlee Wilson, Mrs. Walter Morris, Mrs. Bob Byrd, Mrs. Otto Peterson and Mrs. Geo. Fox.

Mrs. Otto Peterson won a blue ribbon at the Sherman County Fair with her display of salt and pepper shakers. She also won three ribbons with her canned fruit and vegetables. Mrs. Trace Fields won a blue ribbon with her roses and snapdragon flowers.

This area has had several showers both Saturday and Sunday nights quite a good rain came down. The wild geese have been heard flying over, so it won't be long until a fire will feel good in the houses. The wheat men are looking forward to seeding their wheat land as soon as possible. Heavy equipment is tearing up the land at the John Day dam site Rufus where the cofferdams are across the Columbia river from to be installed.

Let's Talk REAL COST

...with your Brea Brand Solution Man

Cheapest Fertilizer Saves $5 per acre... Most Profitable Rate Earns $18.72 per acre

How much can I save per acre by buying the cheapest fertilizer possible?

How can fertilizer rate affect my profit per acre?

What's the best way to find out how much nitrogen I should use?

Where can I get the best help with quick tissue tests of my crops?

This depends on rate applied, of course, but here's an example: A recent study of San Joaquin Valley cotton fertilization showed a difference of 2.5 cents a pound between the highest and lowest costs of nitrogen and phosphate. The average usage was 200 lbs. per acre of N and P combined. The biggest savings possible, therefore, was 200 x 2.5 cents - or $5 per acre.

In the same San Joaquin cotton study, it was shown that the most profitable rate of N... established with the help of an experienced fertilizer dealer... produced 1250 lbs. of lint. However, 20 lbs. less N per acre produced only 1187.6 lbs. The difference of 62.4 lbs. of lint, at 30 cents a pound, amounted to a profit gain of $18.72 per acre for the most profitable rate of N.

The most profitable rate of nitrogen is the one which lasts in the plants up to a certain "cut-off point". To find this "cut-off point", apply three different rates of nitrogen and use quick tissue tests during the growing season. When you compare results of these tests with differences in yield, you'll know which will be the "most profitable" rate next year.

Brea Brand dealers have been using quick tissue tests for four years, on all Western crops under all kinds of conditions. They're ready to give you the benefit of this combined experience in finding the most profitable rate and lowering the "real cost" of your fertilizer.

For the most complete, up-to-date information on fertilizer solutions... and on solutions to fertilizing needs... write today for Brea Brand Solution File - Fertilizer Facts for Farmers. Or call your Brea Brand dealer - today.
