WHAT'S DOING

Cal Horn, your Telephone Manager

This is a "switchboard on wheels"—a complete telephone central office built right into a big truck trailer. Its job is to help phone people keep vital calls going through during emergencies. You see, we can send these switchboards on wheels wherever they're needed and hook them up to hundreds of phone lines in a matter of hours. Then operators work right from these trailers, keeping important calls going—fire, police, hospital, civil defense, and such. It's one way we work to keep phone service ready when it's needed most.

Featured is Lyle Rasmussen at our The Dalles stand-by generator used to meet emergencies. Reserve power can be fed into the batteries that supply electricity for your phone calls. It's seldom we'd ever need them but, like the switchboard on wheels, they're ready just in case.
