family. It is soft and punky enough for anyone, it is delivered fresh and even warm, it is sanitary and wrapped to keep it that way, it is sliced and convenient, it is filled with vitamins and proteins and for all we know, hormones. But it doesn't taste like bread even though concocted of rye, wheat, barley, potatoes, soy flour and almost any other grain or vegetable that can be dried and ground.

The other day some were talking about the huge quantities of bread consumed by harvest crews in the days gone by, but without memory. Two or three ovensful were barely enough for a crew. The same number of men could be fed on a couple loaves of the modern stuff.

One family we know well is in constant search for some kind of bread that tastes like bread. It could be hard and tough, it could lack certain of the stylist additives, but it must taste like bread. If the bakers can solve that problem and get back the business lost to carrots and frozen fish, breakfast foods and prepared dinners, it will not need to worry about prices or profits.

"Sure, I bank at U.S. - doesn't everybody!"

Why do folks, like this bakery driver, take it for granted that everyone banks at U. S. National? Possibly because so many of their customers pay with U. S. National checks. Or maybe it's because of their fellow workers who have chosen Oregon's only home-owned, statewide bank. And, of course, complete personal satisfaction is always an important factor. You'll find U. S. National is "your kind of bank," too.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Friendly "Enemies"

Just about my closest friend in town is old Colonel Harmon, our banker. Yet when I was a lot younger and had just started the Clarion, I actually thought he was my enemy!

Whenever I wrote an editorial, there was sure to be an angry letter from the Colonel, taking the opposite side. Seemed pretty clear he'd just as soon I was out of business.

But in the Depression, when it looked like the Clarion would have to shut down, it was Colonel Harmon who offered the loan that kept me going. Startled, I asked him why. "Well," he growled, "just because I don't agree with a man, doesn't mean I don't value his opinion. Besides—if you'd closed up, who'd I have to argue with?"

From where I sit, one of the wonderful things about America is the way people respect each other's opinions. For example, the Colonel doesn't happen to share my preference for a glass of beer, but he understands I have a right to feel the way I do. It's tolerance like this that keeps our friendship "in business."
