White Wheat Sells Best In Orient

The law of supply and demand, economists agree, provides a stepping stone for production and disposal of a commodity, but a recent suggestion on the part of the Commodity Credit Corporation, a federal agency, has Oregon wheat growers more than mildly concerned.

Oregon wheat growers, through their membership in the Oregon Wheat Growers league, are aware of the fact the CCC recommends, as of June 30, 1962, a carryover of 28 million bushels of Pacific Northwest white wheat.

Such a carryover, the league avers, indicates a policy on the part of the CCC of placing a penalty on white wheat by demanding a carryover far in excess of what is a reasonable figure.

About 95 percent of the wheat grown in Washington, Idaho and Oregon is of the soft white variety. This particular type, thanks to the PL 480 program, has met with popular acceptance in the Philippines, Korea, Japan, Pakistan, Burma and India.

Japan and the Philippines are now on the dollar market. From

To pay for Knowledge is Often Real Economy....

Can you measure the value of an examination and diagnosis by your Doctor? The fee paid to him is not for work alone. It is also for his knowledge, for knowing what to do.

Likewise there are years of study and experience that are a part of every prescription dispensed. Consider this, and the pharmacist's fee for professional knowledge is but a small part of the moderate cost of your medicine.

July 1, 1961 to February 23, 1962 Japan purchased 14 million bushels of soft white wheat. Exports to that nation in 1960-61 totaled 23 million bushels.

There is, however, no guarantee that Japan will buy more than that amount of wheat in the next 12 months. It is not the "dollar market" area, however, which causes concern with the CCC stand that 28 million bushels of carryover white wheat be available on June 30.

Pacific Northwest millers will require less than one million bushels per month before a new crop is available. This means, on the local market, not more than 4 million bushels of wheat from this area will be needed.

Experts Back Versatile Youths

When 400,000 men and women volunteer their time and know-how to help 2.3 million 4-H Club members "learn, live and serve," the results are no less than spectacular.

For instance, the Head, Heart, Hands and Health youths finished nearly 4 million projects in more than 40 different categories just this past year.

In almost every instance, the completed project benefited the entire family and in many cases, the community as well.

The information comes from the Cooperative Extension Service which directs 4-H Club work.

Further proof of the far-reaching effect of 4-H was found in 1,900 record books maintained by state award winning club members. The records were reviewed in the headquarters of the National 4-H Service Committee last November, said Norman C. Mindrum, director, for the purpose of selecting boys and girls for scholarships and trip awards to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago.

Miss Sheila Nixon, 20, of Pomona, California, winner of a $400 Ford scholarship, commented: "The awards we win in 4-H work aren't totally ours. Many people have helped us win them."

Another national champion, who won a Sears-Roebuck Foundation scholarship for leadership, is 20-year-old Hoosier farmer Wayne Buck. He has a 4-H record so long "it would fill a book." Now a student at Purdue University, Buck credits 4-H training with teaching him how to accept responsibility, and to better understand the world and the people in it.

President Kennedy expressed a similar feeling when he said in a recent message to 4-H members: "I would commend you especially for your constructive and worthwhile efforts in learning to live and work cooperatively with others."

In the beginning, 4-H Clubs were intended for farm youngsters, and offered only projects in crops, livestock, home canning and cooking. The present program embraces a wide range of agricultural, home economics and scientific programs. With the exception of a few such as livestock, tractor and field crops, the projects can be carried on in town as well as on the farm.

4-H Moves to Town

Today, membership in 4-H Clubs is about equally divided between farm and non-farm boys and girls. The main reason for this shift is the disappearance of the small farm from the American agricultural scene.

Meanwhile, more and more business people are participating in 4-H as it moves into suburban and urban areas, Mindrum points out. National 4-H Club Week, National 4-H Club Congress, Farm-City Week, achievement days, county and state fairs, Farm-Safety Week and the like are but a few examples, he said.

Director Mindrum, who is a former 4-H member and state extension official, has this to say: "To sum up 4-H achievement one should call special attention to the concurrent efforts of many which, over the years, have made the 'learn by doing' program the success it is."

Business Gives Cash

"Besides the paid and volunteer workers who carry out the teaching-training aspect, there are business people who contribute know-how and money," he added.

Approximately 60 different business concerns provide funds for 4-H through the National 4-H Service Committee, he said.

Donors of awards for the last 25 years or more include: International Harvester, Montgomery Ward, Westinghouse Educational Foundation, Kerr Glass Mfg. Corp., Cudahy Packing Co., Armour and Co., Livestock Conservation, Inc., Wilson & Co., Santa Fe, Chicago and North Western, Illinois Central and Burlington railways.

Newer 4-H backers are the Perry and Hutchinson Co., Ralston Purina, Moorman Mfg. Co., General Foods, E. I. du Pont de Nemours and John Deere, also, Pyrofax Gas and International Minerals & Chemical corporations. These firms have supported the program for five years or less, according to the 4-H Service Committee.

Mrs. Augusta Royse was a dinner guest Sunday of her son and daughter in law, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Royse.

Mary Haven, who is a student at EOC spent the weekend at home with her mother, Mrs. Mabel Haven.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Broughton braved the snow last Friday to drive to Portland, where Mrs. Broughton received medical attention. She will return for further diagnosis and a possible hospital commitment this weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Harper drove to The Dalles on Sunday afternoon, and spent the remainder of the day visiting with Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Walker. Mrs. Walker was not feeling so well at that time.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith McDonald went to Roseburg last week to spend a few days with his brother, Harry.

The Wasco Women's Study club will hold its annual family night potluck dinner next Monday, March 12, announces Mrs. Grace Medler, president. The event will be held at the Methodist church starting at 6:30 p. m. and the speaker will be John Cain, juvenile counsellor for Wasco county.

The Wasco Day Home Extension unit met at the home of Mrs. Frank Reid on Feb. 27, with 11 present. Mrs. Don Macnab was co-hostess. Mrs. Reid and Mrs. Kenneth Fridley presented a colorful lesson on "Accessories". Following the business session and the lesson, refreshments of berry pie, ice cream and coffee were served.

The Tillicum club met March 1, with Mrs. Harry Van Gilder as hostess. Member present for the afternoon of bridge included Mrs. Bill Nisbet, Mrs. Elva Dehler, Mrs. Paul Patrick, Mrs. Leona Van Gilder and Mrs. Art Smith. Special guests were Mrs. Mabel Haven and Mrs. Arthur Sargent.

Prizes were given as follows: Mrs. Patrick, high score for members, with Mrs. Nisbet being low, and Mrs. Sargent receiving the guest prize.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Prosser and children Valerie Ann and Craig, of Salem, were weekend guests of Mrs. Prosser's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Root and family.

There were 112 present at the morning worship service on Sunday at the Wasco Methodist church. Next Sunday evening at 8 p. m., the choir will present a Lenten Sacred concert at the church. All are cordially invited to attend. A free-will offering will be taken, to be used to purchase new music for the choir.

Cleona Applegate, president of the Rebekah Assembly of Oregon, was a guest of Mrs. Leo Watkins on Friday and Saturday of last week. Friday evening, both ladies attended a meeting of the Rebekah lodge at Mosier. Saturday, Mrs. Applegate and Mrs. Watkins attended the District 18 convention of Rebekah lodges, which was held in The Dalles.
