The Rufus area was saddened when the accident happened to the child playing while her folks looked for rocks and arrow heads at the mouth of the John Day river last Monday. A good many have been sifting the sand for many months looking for arrowheads, but this was the first fatality in this place.

Mr. and Mrs. John Walker reportedly rolled over a bank Saturday night on their way home from out to dinner at Arlington. Mrs. Walker suffered deep cuts while John's bruises were minor. Mrs. Walker is in a hospital in The Dalles.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Macnab and family spent a few days recently seeing the Seattle Fair, and spent a few days in Portland for their vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Macnab and family are spending a few days vacation seeing the State Fair in Salem.

The Bill Hucks received word from Mrs. Marie Guilford, a former resident of Rufus, that her daughter, Velda Bain, had given birth on August 20 to twin boys in Portland. She said mother and boys were doing well. Velda received her grammar and high school education at Rufus. They lived on the farm now owned by Grace Medler.

WASHING WALLS MADE EASIER IT SAYS HERE

Washing walls will be easier if you wash from the bottom up. The reason is this. If water drips down on the cleaned portion, it won't stain. But if you start at the top, the drip causes streaks on the dirty wall which are practically impossible to remove except with hard rubbing.

Save time in picking up after other members of your family. Out-smart them by putting one or more waste baskets in every room and hallway. It isn't necessary to buy these; just collect some deep boxes and invite the children to help cover them with pretty wall paper or shelf paper when they need some busy work. They'll take more interest in using them for their intended purpose.

If they empty their pockets in an unsightly heap, give each person a special box for his personal clutter. This will help keep it in one place.

For youngsters just learning to eat at the table, use small terry cloth hand towels for place mats. The towels absorb spills, wash easily, and need no ironing.

The Porters lived many years at the mouth of the John Day river. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hydorn of Hermiston spent the weekend visiting with Mrs. Hydorn's parents the John Mathiesons. Mrs. Hydorn recently had major surgery and is still convalescing and will not work for awhile yet, at her job at the bank.

Today was the first day of school, and all the teachers were at their jobs excepting one who will be ready next week. This week Mrs. Sue Fox is substitute teaching. The children had lunch at the school today the same as they did last year, so that the high school bus and grade school bus can meet and take the children home after school. Previously they let the children out at noon the first day.

Mr. and Mrs. Tage Ahlquist of Bremerton, Wash., came Saturday to spend the weekend with their son in law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. James W. Fox.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale McWilliams who were married Aug. 11 in Los Angeles, stopped briefly in Rufus Sunday on their way to Pullman, Wash., where they are both seniors at WSU. Dale is a fraternity brother at AGR house of James Fox and Mrs. McWilliams a sorority sister at Sigma Kappa of Sue Fox.

The Rufus Grange is making preparations to get the food stand going again at the Sherman County Fair. The group will again serve breakfast and try to have a hot dish each day. Mrs. Harland McDonald will have charge of the buying and Mrs. Rolland Johnson will have charge of the ones working at the stand.

Mr. and Mrs. George Fox took a drive over Labor Day to see what the John Day dam looked like on the Washington side of the river. There's been a vast amount of work already done and more to do. They visited at the store near the damsite and Mr. Holden who runs the store is a painter and does beautiful work of portraits. He said he has classes in painting at night. He paints with oils.

Then the Fox's went on to visit at the Delbert Porter place where they saw their lovely new home which they are building and which they will move into next week. It is a three room pumice block house with a nice fireplace.
