

Mor Personals

Mrs. Lent Searcy came up from Portland to see the fair and do some visiting with her daughter, Mrs. Harry Pinkerton and family, and also to look after her ranch business for the year. For a woman past 90 she is in fine health.

Here from The Dalles were former residents, Roy Powell and wife, Tom Alley and wife, Ted von Borstel and wife, Mrs. Etha Schilling, Howard Belshee and Mrs. W. C. Helyer.

W. F. Greer, once marshal of Moro and a very steady worker at all kinds of occupations came up to see the fair Saturday. He is now retired and lives near The Dalles, aged 84.

Candidate Gaylord Madison was here Saturday from Echo to see the fair before going on to Bend that night to attend the reappointment meeting. He took part in the bidding at the auction and bought a lamb which he didn't need, having a range full of them.

Ann Hall's lamb fell ill and died during the fair and fair goers rallied to her cause with donations to make it the highest priced lamb at the show. (Comment: The very best social and economic security to be found is to live in Sherman county and be a good citizen.)

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Balsiger and two children came down from Kennewick, Wn., to have a look at Sunday's fair program.

Steve Burnet left Monday for the Hudspeth cattle sale at Prineville where he was part of an OSU judging team before going on to Corvallis for his senior year. His sister, Carol was up from Hillsboro to see the fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Kirkelle were down from Richland, Wn., for the weekend and took in part of the fair. Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Kirkelle Jr. were also here for the fair and visiting with relatives.

Clair and Ray Kamerrer of Condon have rented the Walter Bruckert farm near Klondike and are in the process of moving.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Henkle are here from California to transact the annual business connected with her farm land here.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Schmeer of Roseburg stopped in Moro briefly Wednesday while returning home from a fishing vacation spent along the Lochsa river in Idaho which they found very beautiful.

Mr. and Mrs. John Gilman are taking a vacation from their work this week.

Mr. L. D. Eakin was here from The Dalles Sunday of the fair to see that event and visit her sister Mrs. Leta Eslinger.

Young people are going back to school every day as registration comes at the end of this week and by Saturday all will have been enrolled for another winter's study.

Kay K. Kirkelle of Moro has been awarded a partial-tuition scholarship for the coming school year at Oregon State University.

She was among those selected for state scholarships, given to help top Oregon students in their university studies and administered by the State Scholarship Committee. The study grants pay $66 a quarter, two-thirds of the term's tuition and fees.

Miss Kirkelle will be a senior in the School of Education at OSU this year.

AGRICULTURE SCHOOL NEW

School of Agriculture study programs at OSU have been revamped this fall to keep coursework abreast of rapid and recent changes in agriculture.

Three major options—agricultural business, agricultural science, and agricultural technology—will be offered starting this year. Within any one of these options, a student will be expected to develop technical competency in some specific subject matter area.

The new options are keyed to career opportunities in agriculture these days, observed Wilbur Cooney, associate dean of agriculture in charge of instruction.

One thing is certain, Cooney emphasized. Job prospects for agriculture graduates were never better though they are of a different kind than 10 or 15 years ago.

Only about 15 per cent of the graduates go back to farming now, but opportunities in agribusiness fields, research, etc., have expanded tremendously. And they will continue to do so with population increases, Cooney added.

The new options are summarized this way:

The agricultural business option is designed for students interested in the giant field of marketing, sales, food processing, credit and finance and other business aspects of agriculture.

The agricultural science option is best suited for students who want a broad education in agriculture and jobs in farming, teaching vocational agriculture, agricultural extension work, soil conservation work and specialized positions with industry.

Rufus News

by Mrs. George Fox

The Sherman County Fair has come and gone for 1962 and from all appearances it was a good fair. The Rufus Grange got first in its booth exhibition. It was on the theme of the "Hub of Progress" and was a wagon wheel telling of all the services which the grange offers.

The Rufus Grange was well pleased with its big venture, the food stand at the fair. Mrs. Harland McDonald was chairman with Mrs. Rolland Johnson assistant. They and the grangers wish to thank the many people who have supported them in this service. The Rufus Grange has operated this booth since 1955. More and more people are making it a habit of having their breakfast there and also eating in the evening before going home. The committee has appreciated this and has tried to offer a different hot dish each day for the ones tired of hamburgers and hot dogs. It means a lot of work but all enjoy working together for a common cause. The profit will go towards the Rufus Grange hall debt. It was less than three years ago that the Rufus Grange built on a new building room and had a general remodeling job both outside and inside. The State Grange officers say Rufus now has one the nicest halls in the State.

It rained for a couple of days the first of last week, but the weather was warm and sunny all during the fair. The first of this week it is still sunny out, but a little hazy in the sky.

The enrollment at Rufus school is about the same as at its peak last year which is around 125 children. A new man teacher has been secured to take the sixth grade. Mrs. Sue Fox has substituted for this grade since school started.

The Sherman County Pomona will meet at Rufus Grange Sept 29, which is on a Saturday.

The clubs and groups are getting started for the year. The Rufus PTA social group will meet Oct. 1 at Rufus school. At this time there will be a reception for the new and old teachers.

Conference Billed At SHS

For Student Aid

A guidance session covering preparation for college or other training beyond the high school level will be held for the students of Sherman County High School on Sept. 26, at 8:45 a. m. Principal C. Edward Tyler announced that a visiting team from state system of higher education has been invited to conduct the meeting.

Representatives from the state schools will explain their respective academic offerings and point up each institution's specific requirements. Opportunity for questions by students is given to provide individual guidance. The importance of education beyond high school and the urgency of adequate preparation early in the high school years will be explained. A description of what that "adequate preparation" entails, career opportunities, costs, scholarships, and mechanics of school application and entrance will be stressed.

These informative sessions are conducted annually in the high school as part of the regular guidance program. They represent a combined effort by the state system of higher education and the high school to better prepare high school students for future careers. The program presents complete information on the educational opportunities provided at public expense within the state.

ACP Program Aided

Cost sharing assistance is available in the USDA ACP program for perennial weed eradication. Infestations need be one-half acre or more. If you plan to sign up for assistance, do it before you spray. Contact the ASC office, Courthouse, Moro.

Medler Family Meets

In Big Reunion

A Medler family reunion was held Sept. 9 in Portland at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Tower, daughter of Mrs. J. G. Medler or better known as "Aunt Ella" for whom the gathering was held to honor her on her 86th birthday and was a wagon wheel telling of all the services which the grange offers.

Four generations were represented among which were the E. A., J. G., Frank and Henry Medler families. Also Sam Brock, brother of Aunt Ella Mr. and Mrs. Joe Brady and Mr. and Mrs. Melvon Brady, life long friends of the family.

Aunt Ella was especially honored by a dedication from radio station KATT of Salem, and her son, Malcolm, entertained the group by many beautiful piano selections.

A bounteous dinner was served in their lovely gardens.

Present besides the honor guest and those above mentioned were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Nelson and son Garth, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Dumler and Dennis, Salem; Dr. and Mrs. D. W. Byrd, Hillsboro; Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Lowell of Bickleton, Wn., Mrs. C. R. McMillin of Berkeley, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. Leland Medler, Doug and Barbara, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Macnab, Arlene, Kay, Nancy and Jeff of Wasco; Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Meuser of The Dalles; Mr. and Mrs. Roe Shumway, Mrs. Elsie C. Medler, Mr. and Mrs. Robert McDonald, Mrs. Malcolm Medler and Charles, and Modeleen O'Brien, all of Portland.

State Regulates Butter

After October 13, sale of butter, margarine and oleomargarine in Oregon at the retail level will be illegal in any units of net weight except one-quarter pound, one-half, one pound or multiples of one pound.

Moreover, weight labels must be prominently displayed so as to be easily read, must be in legible, boldfaced type and of a color that contrasts with the package. The state department of agriculture has adopted this regulation, after hearing early this month, to avoid a repetition of consumer deception such as was involved in the balloon loaf situation, says Kenneth E. Carl, chief of dairy and consumer services division.

The hearing resulted from appearance on the Oregon market of cartons of oleo that appeared like the historic pound packages but contained only 12 ounces of oleo in four three-ounce cubes, also identical in size and shape to those with which consumers have long been familiar.
