These Things We Note

Giles L. French

The sun shines bright nearly every day; it has begun to get up early in the morning, but it hasn't really warmed to its job so far. Nevertheless it is time to plant sweet peas.

T T W N

The legislature has passed its 40th day which used to be enough, but is now but a third of the way. No individual or group has assumed leadership and no one has the wisdom to insist that 90% of the self seeking bills be left in committee, appropriations cut and passed and an end put to it all.

T T W N

Senator Morse is quoted as saying that the Oregon business community has failed to get government contracts, not the congressional delegation. That is as sick a political ploy as we've read in a lifetime. Blame others for defeat, take credit for victory.

T T W N

Polls taken of actual citizens prove that the people are far ahead of congress as far as economy is concerned. Spending taxpayers' money isn't popular as it was.

T T W N

Adam Powell seems to think his sins should be forgiven because he is a negro or that they are mentioned because he is a negro. A race or a man who has that philosophy isn't much good.

T T W N

The theory that the opposition party should never say a blunt "NO" to the majority proposals is itself based on expediency and a touch of cowardice.

T T W N

We suspicion that these days many are being taught to type before they are taught anything to say.

T T W N

The president still is the economic modern who thinks that the way to prosperity is by borrowing. Natural enough. In his time that's what the govern ment has always done, but the rule still is true that honesty requires repayment. And the runs out of lenders.

T T W N

Overheard: "Her greatest pleasure is gloating over the mistakes of others."

T T W N

Kennedy told the bankers he wasn't prophesying a depression. Considering his accuracy about things economic it would be reassuring if he did.

T T W N

The sunshine is welcome, the warmth is fine, but what really makes the days brighter is the baseball news and pictures.

T T W N

Michigan Democrats are concerned because Walter Reuther has taken over the party there and may, they fear, make it a labor party. Short job.

T T W N

The many plans to relieve payers of local taxes by imposing more taxes on larger governmental units leaves us cold. We get far more out of local taxes than any other kind.

T T W N

Odd—and sad—it is that the nation that extols freedom in its national songs should have lost so much that citizens think their own future and welfare is a governmental function.

T T W N

Richard Christianson, the Washington fireball who almost retired Senator Manguson last fall gave three riles to listeners in a belated Lincoln day speech at The Dalles Tuesday: Fundamental adherence to the constitution, individual liberty and fiscal responsibility. Of the latter he said it and he would have preferred sounded high brow, bankerish some thing like "pay your bills". A rose by any other name would smell as sweet.

T T W N

For those who can remember how the Russians took their troops—or had the Chinese take theirs—out of Korea, the promise to move a few (or give them workmen's clothes) in Cuba, doesn't mean much.
