Rufus News

By Mrs. George Fox

Your Rufus correspondent feels she has one for Ripley. Mr and Mrs Tracy Fields were astonished Monday morning to see a two thousand gallon septic tank propped against a tree in their backyard which came in with the wind Sunday. It is presumably from a spot where additional trailer spots are being built south and west of their home. Mrs Fields said the owner of the septic tank hadn't claimed it up to Monday afternoon. Mrs Fields entertained the Wasco Womens' Study club Monday afternoon at a silver tea to raise money for a scholarship. The sight and story of the septic tank created quite a stir among the members.

Mrs Frank Reid and Mrs Harland McDonald were hostesses at Mrs Fields home when the study club met and Mrs Hildren Zell gave a talk on a foreign country.

Leonard Jordan was host at a birthday dinner Thursday evening at the John Day cafe to honor of his wife, Ardie and Mrs George Fox whose birthdays are just a day apart in March. Also invited was George Fox.

There was a conference of Wasco and Sherman county grangers Saturday at the grange hall and Mrs Buetler of Oswego, district Home Ec president was present to greet the women. A pot luck dinner at noon was enjoyed preceding the meeting. Mr Buetler found there were seven members present from Chenoweth grange, one from Cherry Park, four from Harlandview, one from Mosier besides those from Rufus. Mrs Agnes Benson, Pomona Home Ec chairman for Sherman county acted as secretary. Mrs Edna Renkin read the minutes of last years meeting which was held at the Cherry Park grange. Mrs Buetler passed out last years report cards and the reports of last year. She went over the questions on the quarterly report blanks of the state grange.
