Here's a way for everybody to invite everybody to Oregon this year:

(GOVERNOR HATFIELD HAS DESIGNATED APRIL 16th AS THE DAY WE DO IT)

WELCOME

Spring, 1963

Dear _____:

It's rocking chair season, the time when lots of people dream and plan their 1963 vacations. So—because I know you'd enjoy it—I want to put in a plug for my state—Oregon.

As usual, the roses are growing into Paul Bunyan giants for the Rose Festival this year (and you can time your visit for any of more than 200 or so county fairs and community events). Now, let's examine some of the reasons most Oregonians (like me) think you'll be wild about Oregon, too.

"It's the scenery." Well, we have a breathtaking column of big mountains marching from north to south down the spine of this big state (like Mt. Hood—in July, you can snow-ski on her slopes or water-ski nearby!). We have cathedral forests (we're America's greatest timber producer), breathtakingly blue Crater Lake, hundreds of miles of spectacular seacoast to drive along and fish from... plus beaches, boating, waterways, lush orchards, wheatlands, grazing lands, river valleys, ghost towns—you name it!

"It's the things to see and do." For the whole family. Fishing beyond your wildest dreams—deep sea, surf, lake or stream! Golf, horseback riding, tennis, hiking, camping, swimming, skating, and wild life to study or stalk. Even relaxing—just stretch out, we've got elbow room!

"It's the climate." Most anywhere you go in Oregon, the weather's apt to be just right—and we mean year 'round. (That's why we coined the phrase, "The Welcome Mat Is Out For You All Year 'Round In Oregon.")

One last thing about our vacationland: almost anywhere you go, the roads are fast and new, and you're never far away from a trailer site, resort, inn, luxury hotel or motel—whatever your fancy prefers or your budget dictates. (Plus the more than 250 state parks and Forest Service camps.)

By the way, for a tempting stack of travel folders to help you plan your vacation, just write the Travel Division, State Highway Department, Salem, Oregon, or any of our Chambers of Commerce... See you soon?

Yours, for better vacations,

A WILD-ABOUT-OREGON OREGONIAN

Doesn't the letter above make you feel glad to be an Oregonian? Well, if it does, you're invited to join all of us Pacific Northwest Bell phone folk in a project to tell the world about Oregon!

Here's the scoop: On April 16, each of us 5,700 or so Pacific Northwest Bell employees in Oregon will mail a copy of the letter above to at least three of his or her out-of-state business associates, friends, or relatives!

Why? If only one-fourth of these 17,100 invitations "take," there will be more than 4,000 extra families coming to our state this year. And according to tourism experts, the thousands of dollars these happy visitors will bring will boost our state's economy mightily. (Just think, we did it all with our little ballpoint pens!)

Where do you come in? Right here and thank you for asking. Initially, we viewed this come-see-Oregon letter drive as just a project for us phone folk. But Governor Mark Hatfield heard about it and was so intrigued with the idea that he suggested it be broadened to include every Oregonian! Governor Hatfield has designated April 16, 1963 as "OREGON-WELCOME-BY-MAIL-DAY"! If you'd like to help our state, we'd love to have you aboard!

Here's what you do: Cut out the letter and address it to an out-of-state friend, relative, business associate or even enemy. Hold it until the April 16 mailing (everybody mails April 16 for bigger impact!). While you're waiting, mail the coupon below (or phone, write or drop in at your local telephone Business Office) and get more copies. Any number you wish, from one to one thousand (and these are neat, irresistible copies, printed on good bond paper).

Then, address 'em all—and flood the mails to out-of-state friends on the big day in April! (Note: If you think letter writing is out-of-style, feel free to invite your out-of-state friends to Oregon via long distance phone. We won't be mad.)

With your help, there's no telling how many thousands of extra (and lucky) vacationists we can lure, or how much extra prosperity we can bring our state—all in our altruistic role as hosts to the rest of the world.

So—get extra copies, address 'em to your out-of-state friends, get set for April 16 and—Let's Tell The World About Oregon!
