The horn of the Hunter in Kentucky does not seem to be a cornucopia.

King George is gradually getting a large stock of ultimata from the powers.

Mayor Frank J. Taylor of Astoria promptly vetoed the ordinance to legalize gambling.

Cal Cooper, the Yamhill county political lunatic, is again at large. His fad is a "union of forces."

To repudiate a desperate state debt Nevada would now willingly relapse to a territorial condition if it were possible.

A Chicago paper asserts that Mr. Moody held 600 people "in the hollow of his hand" at the Auditorium. The evangelist evidently had a hand full.

The Edwardsburg, Mich., Bachelors Girls association, having taken a vow to remain single, can now supply an elaborate list for the matrimonial bureaus.

Durrant the San Francisco degenerate, has until June 11th to meditate over his horrible crimes. He will probably confess before the day set for the execution.

Moreton Frewen, the eminent bimetalist declares that the gold standard is making the English rich. The question is: Frewen being English, why is he so anxious to abolish it?

It is predicted that Englands dependence on foreign countries for her food stuffs, notably Russia and these United States, will soon cut something of a figure in the diplomacy of the world.

What next? It is charged that the new American minister to England, Col. John Hay wrote "The Breadwinners!" Pooh; the author of that mischievous and vicious fire-brand was an anarchist.

C. Linwood Wood a hitherto respectable Pittsburg banker, recently perfected a scheme to rob the insurance companies of about $270,000 and when arrested for it "fell in a dead faint." Aweful fate.

The 60-days quarantine on Oregon sheep destined for summer pasturage in "our sister state" Washington, is a corker. It completely shuts off from the Yakima market bands annually herded across the Simcoe range.

U'Ren, one of the populists who refused to perform his duties as a legislator last winter, is traveling in the valley towns trying to explain matters. He is a self-confessed bribe taker, according to reports from his own county.

Col. J. G. Day and sons are working a giant on the Bushnell mine in Olalla, Douglas county. If the results are sufficiently encouraging they will tap the river at an elevation that will give ample head for hydraulic operations.

"Bill's in Trouble" is still going the rounds. Since The Observer started the "poem" from Salem last winter through the favor of Hon. F. N. Jones, it has appeared in nearly every state. Last week The Oregonian reproduced it from Colorado, credited to the Denver Post.

NOT THE GOVERNMENT.

Harrison R. Kincaid is secretary of state—that's all he is. He seems to think, however, that he is the whole state government, supreme court and legislature included.

But he is not!

He refuses to recognize certain of the state officers while he does others elected at the same time and in precisely the same manner—because, he says, the people do not want them!

* * *

It is generally understood that the making and unmaking of laws is the prerogative of the legislative assembly and not of the secretary of state. If Mr. Secretary Kincaid is so very anxious to comply with the wishes of the people it might be well to call his attention to the fact that he was nominated and elected on a platform pledging the state officials to the acceptance of the constitutional salary,

And no more!

* * *

The people set the seal of their approval on that declaration but Mr. Kincaid himself does not see fit to obey the will of the people in this particular. The Roseburg Plaindealer says he expects the populist nomination for governor next year and thinks to make himself popular, but he will hardly get it. There will be respectable and deserving populists aspiring for that nomination.

Instead of being recognized as all there is of the Oregon state government he will be a back number.

It is reported that Russia is paying for Greece used by the god of war to lubricate the European chariot of war. Russia might in no other way accomplish her purpose so economically as by sending a few millions of her war fund over to Athens.

The last of the 1896 wool clip in Morrow county sold last week for 5¼ cents per lb. which is 1c. more than had been previously offered. The owner of that particular clip must have been asleep when the big prices we read about the other day were prevailing.

Juggler Altgeld through his friend Spaulding and his Globe bank, got away with a big share of the Illinois University endowment bonds. As governor of the state, vice president and director of the bank, he had an easier task than the ordinary safe cracker.

Foreign wool is flooding the Boston market. Receipts last week were greater than for any one week in the history of the port. Importers are evidently loading up, which is one of the evils of prolonged discussion of the tariff. By this method interested speculators may defeat the purpose of a law for such a length of time that the public is deceived as to the effect when the law is put in force.

Hon. Henry W. Corbett is among the most worthy citizens of Oregon. With him The Observer has no controversy whatever, but for the gang of political bunco steerers who got him into the senatorial trouble, and disgraced this state, we have no apologies. The Corbett bile and contentions of those petty larceny and blackmail sheets so industriously endeavoring to shift the responsibility from themselves utter no principle for the good of Mr. Corbett or any person connected with the outrageous proceeding.

The Oregon manufacturers association are having a sorry time "informing the public" how to patronize home industry. There is one right and efficient course to proceed and only one. First have the goods then advertise them through the country press legitimately. A scanty stock and a niggardly system of advertising is not business in any sense of the word. We may be excused for the remark, but it doesn't matter whether we be excused; that it makes the country press very tired after publishing association essays gratis to be informed by the beneficiaries that they limit their advertising to catalogues and The Oregonian. A blind man can see the all around ruin of such policy as that.

Now the big muddy Missouri is costing trespassers at Omaha big fortures while she reclaims a channel abandoned 25 years ago. A system of locks and dams such as those of England, France and Germany to imprison the dangerous surplus of the Mississippi and Missouri would be economy if it cost $50,000,000. On the Mississippi it is the last 36 inches that does the damage. Losses in the lower Mississippi this year cannot be estimated and floods have come to be looked for annually. The loss in the lower Mississippi during the flood of 1883 alone was approximately $50,000,000. Cincinnati lost something like $1,500,000 in addition. This is a matter which yearly grows more serious. Why should not the United States control the great waterways in a similar way with that adopted by the army-burdened countries of Europe?

THE COMING MUSICALE.

When Gen. George H. Williams introduced Booth Tucker of the Salvation Army to a Portland audience recently among other things he said: "I do not know what sort of a being the devil is," and the press-clippings-bureau started the excerpt on its mission of mischief. Taking it literally Bro. Stewart of the Journal adds: "Judge Williams should have been in Fossil Thursday evening when a Baptist preacher from Missouri gave a realistic description of the old boy, dressed in his new spring clothes."

GRAND ARMY CAMP FIRE.

Adjutant J. M. Parry has addressed the following circular from headquarters W. T. Sherman Post, Dept. of Oregon, G. A. R., which is self explanatory:

Comrades—There will be a Camp Fire in the School hall at Moro, commencing at 10 a. m. Saturday, May 8, 1897. Yourself and family are cordially invited to be present. There will be a short program rendered in the forenoon consisting of old Army Songs, recitations, etc. Dinner at 12, and afterwards an old-fashioned Camp Fire in which every Comrade present will be expected to take part. Post Commander John H. Johnson will preside at the afternoon meeting. Come, and help make this a Grand Reunion—a time of refreshing

Sailing over Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota and out over South Dakota, where it was lost in black clouds, an apparent flying ship attracted the attention of hundreds of people. From Evanston telegraph operators advised its approach along the lines. It carried colored lights and was easily traced. Unfortunately the observatory telescope was not brought to bear upon it to discover a lone balloon hence theories are advanced by students and philosophers to determine what the object was. Prof. Bates of Coe college, says it could not be a heavenly body and must be an earthly object. Disciples of the reformed Mormon church believe it was the old saint Strang returning to get the brass records which he played their ancestors with at Voree in 1840.
