

The Observer.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF SHERMAN CO. MORO, OREGON.

D. C. IRELAND & SONS PUBLISHERS

WEDNESDAY, October 6, 1897

An $80,000 plant starts up today in Chicago to manufacture gold.

Mr. Heitman, brother to Mrs. J.M Bartlett of Moro, is expected here soon to investigate the proposition of a creamery for Sherman county.

"Nothing succeeds like success." The Columbia Southern Railway is doing business since Monday between Biggs and Wasco. Moro sends greeting!

Too much wheat cannot be raised in Oregon next year. The shortage will not be overcome with one crop and it will take several years to create another large surplus.

We regret to hear that the racy pen of J. H. Cradlebaugh will soon cease its spicy spinning on the Daily Chronicle. Mr. C. goes to Baker county to personally superintend his mining interests there.

A man peddling pest ridden fruit from The Dalles skipped out at the Crook county back door last week to escape prosecution. The Journal regrets that he was not matched to the full extent of the law.

Walker Bros. machine pulled out for Palouse this week. A large percent of the crop there is yet uncut and farmers are working night and day to save it. The ORNCo generously offer to return threshers free, who go to assist.

The Russian thistle has gained a strong foothold in several parts of Walla Walla county. The weed is very large, covers much surface and exhausts the soil, but according to the best authorities at hand the wild China lettuce is the worst pest.

The daylight ride along the Columbia river is more interesting to the traveler than anything from Yosemite to Yellowstone. Passengers over the ORNRY now get this view lasting five hours. The company give through service and direct connection to all points east.

Sherman county farmers are at all times too busy to experiment—yet experimental farming seems to be essential to success in this region. The Observer hopes soon to be able to announce that a section; perhaps several sections; of EOLCo's lands, will be equipped and devoted to this important work for the good of The Waiting Empire.

The Dalles Daily Times lets out the secret that T. T. Geer is posing for a seat in the United States senate. The worst feature in such an event as that is the fact that the Oregonian is using Timothy Titcomb as a soap ladel, dishing out sops to feast its kine in the kennel of romping malcontents previous to another "push" similar to that which disrupted the recent assembly.

T. E. Fell, manager of the Pendleton woolen mills, sends us a very handsome and comfortable greeting, in anticipation of Christmas, accompanied with the words: "Merchants have an idea that they must carry cheap goods and claim that their customers will not pay the difference between a mixed-wool-cotton-and-shoddy blanket and an all-beece wool production. Our prices are necessarily higher, per pound, for blankets, than other mills, for the reason that we use better stock in their manufacture. This superior quality is appreciated, we think, by those who use them, although merchants are slow to agree with us."

Sensational journalism of the present day deserves a vigorous reminder that insult is not news. The San Francisco Examiner disgraces Mr. Hearst in his comment upon Mrs. Martin's petition in the Superior court at Los Angeles recently in the matter of the estate of ex-Governor Downie, by a mean insinuation that petitioner "Wanted Downie's Money." The Examiner owes Mrs. M. suitable apology for its ill-mannered statement. The records will show that it was necessary for Mrs. Martin to make the petition she did to carry out the wishes and intention of the deceased. Sad enough were the incidents prior, deserving respectful mention at least, if deemed of sufficient importance to the public to call for any newspaper comments whatever.

It is hard to tell the facts about Schilling's Best because each has its own goodness. All money-back, though.

For sale by D. McDonald, Biggs, Ore.

NO HORTICULTURAL FAIR.

The project of holding a horticultural fair in Moro this fall has been abandoned. People are far too busy with farming operations to even think about it.

A private letter from Hon. H. H. Gilroy, secretary of the United States senate, concludes: "This leaves Mrs. Giffy, our two girls and myself, in excellent health, but a little brown from the sea air and summer sun. We spent several weeks at Atlantic City." From this we infer that Mr. G. does not intend to visit Oregon this year.

Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps more generally needed when the languid exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of a tonic and alterative is felt.
