FRIDAY JAN. 11, 1907

Blessed will be the peacemaker who steps in and ends the trouble in France.

What's the loss of $145,000,000 to John D. Rockefeller, since he is now able to eat mince pie and digest it!

Talk of a war with Japan is absurd. It has not been a year since Secretary Taft ate a whale with the mikado.

Russian peasants are said to be living on hay. And it isn't put up in fancy boxes and sold as health food, either.

As a prophet, Overseer Voliva is not a success. Old man Dowie could beat him with his tongue tied.

"Russia would like to help the United States check Japanese aggressions." Ah, ha; how much does Russia want to borrow!

Defeat of the most sorry kind, awaits the gang who undertook to railroad Vawter over Davy last week by slander and libel.

It is not easy to believe the story that Great Britain wants to get control of the air. There are no gold or diamond mines in the air.

A lady scientist has started for Java in search of the missing link. Presumably she is not the kind of female who will fall in love with him at first sight.

Mr. Pike left home Tuesday and is now "wid de gang" at Salem. He will prove to be the best representative Sherman county has ever had in the Oregon legislative assembly.

San Francisco is figuring on having a world's fair 1913 commemorating the discovery of the Pacific ocean, which was no doubt one of the best things that could have happened for S. F.

Defeated in the courts by the forces of the Great Northern Railway the Harriman interests have concluded to withdraw from the field of battle on the north bank of the Columbia river, and work now under way by them will be immediately abandoned. About $350,000 expended will be a total loss.

John D. Rockefeller's fortune, says a polished statistician, "accumulates at the rate of $1.90 every time the clock ticks." Suppose the clock should stop: Would the fortune continue to accumulate just the same? There is too great stress put upon the excess of fortunes won by Rockefeller and other rich men, and it usually falls to those without the ability to accumulate, to make the most noise about it. When Marcus Daily died he was rated as a $50,000,000. When his will was probated it showed about $13,000,000. Senator Hearst was popularly reported to be worth from $40,000,000 to $80,000,000. The facts showed about $17,000,000, and so on. Mr. Rockefeller's wealth would be more correctly represented by a about one-quarter of a billion which he has no other been charged with possessing, and more than half of this has come of the advance in many judicious investments made long years ago. A representative of the most popular magazine of the day, The Woman's Home Companion, who spent the better part of ten days with Mr. Rockefeller, at his Cleveland home, says that it is no exaggeration to say of him that "he is the most hated, the least understood, and most interesting man in America."

"LEST WE FORGET."

Reports of an extraordinary expense, far in excess of the truth, are being circulated by knockers for the purpose of injuring the prospects of the proposed prison jute mill in Oregon. November 9th The Observer produced indisputable facts as to the cost of the mill completed, and the cost of operating the same, which is all the way from $200,000 to $500,000 less than the knockers would have members of the legislature believe. But recollect one thing: members of the incoming assembly will not be easily humbugged by designing graft. According to reports prepared by the Washington state officials last Sept the Walla Walla plant, including structure, machinery and all appurtenances, was about $125,000. The machinery value alone is about $50,000. It is estimated, however, that a similar plant could be installed and fully equipped with modern machinery, for about the present appraised value of this plant. For the past three legislative periods, since April 1, 1900, the Washington legislature has appropriated $150,000 for each succeeding two years; this allows $75,000 a year for the operation of the various industries at the prison. Receipts from the sale of all manufactured products are turned in direct to the state treasurer, hence the necessity of a new appropriation each legislative period. Price per bale paid for jute this year $18; 400 lbs. per bale, makes 451 sacks per bale. During the time between Jan 1, 05, and Sept. 30, '06, the mill turned out 1,339,650 grain bags, together with quite an amount of hop cloth, oat bags, wool bags, warp, twine, floor matting, and other products, made from jute, all of which is made with the same machinery with but a trifle in loss of time for the readjusting of the looms. Since electric power has been in successful operation the mill can easily make a daily average of 1,000 bags, with a monthly average of 172,000, with a yearly output of say 2,000,000. On this basis there would be short time allowed for closing down the looms for a general overhauling of the plant, which is deemed advisable at least once a year. Following is a tabulated statement of expense for 9 months—

ANIMAL ODDITIES.

An eagle can live twenty days without eating food and a condor forty days.

The nose of a dog in health is kept cool by a supply of moisture from the tear glands.

The blue form, so called, is not a worm or snake, but a leafless lizard. It is very shy and perfectly harmless.

The Colorado fox runs faster than any other living animal, and the cheetah, or hunting leopard, holds second place.

In one unbroken nocturnal flight the European bird known as the northern blinethrust has been proved to travel from Central Africa to the German ocean, a distance of 1,600 miles, making the journey in nine hours.

THE COOKBOOK.

Rub ducks or geese with cornmeal after plucking to remove the down.

A good cook adds a teaspoonful of sugar to each quart of water in which corn, peas and squash are cooked.

In making custard pie do not beat the eggs more than just enough to have them mix with the milk; then be careful not to bake it too long.

When preparing dropped or poached eggs the skimmer should be well buttered. This will prevent the egg from sticking when taken from the water.

To get a delicate, "faraway" flavor of onion in a sauce drop a slice of the onion into the milk or stock which is to serve as its foundation, leave it only a few minutes and then remove it.

TALES OF CITIES.

Two-thirds of the population of California are males.

Amoy is the world's unhealthiest city. All Amoy's sewage is thrown into the streets.

In Paris nearly all cafes have tables on the sidewalk. From these sidewalk rentals the city's income is over $200,000.

The receipts at the New York general postoffice for 1905 were just $15,682.22 greater than the receipts of the following states combined: Virginia, North and South Carolina, Kentucky, Arkansas, Tennessee, Florida, Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas.

WOMAN'S PROGRESS.

Women may now become members of the Finnish parliament and may occupy any position under parliament from the speakership down.

The city of Stockholm, Sweden, boasts the only women's co-operative store in the world. Shareholders, management, buyers and sellers are all women. Only two men are employed. These drive the delivery wagons. Miss Anne Whitlock, leader of the women's suffragists in Sweden, was the promoter of this scheme.

Shoe Buckles. When Evander Berry Wall, king of the dudes for twelve years and really the most inconspicuous man about town, because he was homely of face and a very bad dresser, besides being rather short and blotchy, undertook to reintroduce shoe buckles he made his first big failure as the sartorial dictator of our "jeunees dorees." I think it was poor Al Cleggnet who said: "Why, Berry, you make a fool of yourself. Shoe buckles go with long stockings and knee pants. You can't wear 'em with socks and trousers. They interfere with the set of the trousers around the feet. Then, of course, you're got to have a low quartered shoe. Cut it out, Berry, cut it out." Well immediately quit.—New York Press.

Wearing Glasses. Wearing glasses need not be permanent. If the first bit of derangement in the eyes is heeded a short time spent under the direction of an oculist will safely tide over the difficulty. It is most restful to close the eyes frequently for a few minutes. This rest does them great good. Particularly should this be done in trains and street cars. Many a headache and smarting pain may thus be averted. Traveling in public conveyances is exceedingly hard on the eyes, even for those that are strong and perfect. The gaze should be confined to the interior of the car. Looking out of the windows to the rapidly changing scenery is a great strain.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Industrious Chinese Children. The Chinese are a wonderfully industrious people, and their children learn very early to make themselves useful. In the streets of a Chinese town it is no uncommon sight to see two children who are so young that they can hardly talk, trotting along with a bamboo pole on their shoulders, by which they are carrying home a pail of water. If one child is stronger than the other the pail is hung near his shoulder, for thus he takes the "heavy end of the pole."

Our Literary Budget

THE MAGAZINES.

In commemoration of the 100th anniversary of the birth of Robert E Lee, January 19, 1807, a hitherto unpublished portrait of him is reproduced on the cover of Lippincott's Magazine for the current month. Memories of Robert E Lee, in the same book, is intimately anecdotic, and extremely interesting, because of the fresh light it throws upon the character of this great man.

One evening, says Mrs General Pickett writer of the sketches, Gen. Pickett and I were invited to a Mrs Shields house in Richmond, where we found Gen Lee. For refreshments we had ice cream made of frozen buttermilk, sweetened with sorghum, and lemonade made from lemons which grew in the conservatory. Mrs Shields apologized for having so much luxury saying there were more lemons on the tree which she would send to the hospital.

Gen Lee said: "I will try to forget, and enjoy this lemonade, if you will promise not to forget to send the rest to the hospital."

This generous sympathy was not confined to war time. Long afterward a friend came up just as Lee was sending a poor fellow from his gate with a happy face. "An old soldier in hard circumstances," he explained. When the friend asked to what command the soldier belonged? Lee replied:

"O, he was on the other side, but we must not hold that against him now."

Gen Lee was noted for his impartiality. Only worthy deeds won recognition from him. He was urged by some of his officers to give his own son command of a brigade, but replied that he could not appoint an untried officer to so important a position. He paid no more attention to personal antagonisms than to personal affection in the management of the army. He recommended a certain officer for promotion, despite the fact that his friends urged him to withdraw his favor because the officer was in the habit of speaking disparagingly of Lee. "The question is not what he thinks of me," he said, "I have a very high opinion of this officer as a soldier, and I shall certainly recommend him for promotion, and do all in my power to secure it."

One of his officers, speaking of the enemy once, remarked: "I wish those people were all dead."

"How can you say that?" Lee remonstrated. "I wish they were all at home, attending to their own business, leaving us to attend to ours."
