"I suffered with rheumatism for over two years, says Roland Curry, a Key West, Fla., patrolman. Sometimes it settled in my knees and lamed me so I could hardly walk, at other times it would be in my feet or hands, so I was incapacitated for duty. One night when I was in severe pain and lame from it my wife went to the drug store and got a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I was rubbed with it and found that the pain had nearly gone during the night. I kept on using it for a little more than 2 weeks and found that it drove the rheumatism away. I have not had any trouble from that disease for over three months." For sale by Moro Pharmacy.

The Observer has been established nearly 21 years, and it has some subscribers who have received it regularly for more than half a score of years. Many of these object to having the Old Reliable discontinued at the time of expiration of their subscriptions, and for their benefit, as for other reasons, we discontinue subscriptions only when notified to do so, except by agreement made at the time the account is opened, when it is noted upon the calendar to be discontinued promptly in advance at the time of subscribing, will have the benefit of the $2.50 rate for two years, or the $5.00 rate for five years. We send The Observer to any responsible person who orders it, though they may not send the money with the order, with the understanding that they are to pay 12 1/2 cents per month for it, until such time as they may wish to take advantage of the above liberal discounts. From this date we are prepared to discount rates to all leading Weeklies and Magazines published in the United States, to any prepaid reader of The Old Reliable Observer. Come with the money—as that is indispensable.

The Observer Institute HOME AND FARM.

Farmers find many curious things happening around them every day, which they cannot understand, and nobody, even the scientist, can explain for them. For instance, why does a horse strain a drink of water through its lips? Why does a cow poke her entire face into the bran mash, eat all she can, then lick her nostrils with her tongue? Why do chickens drink exactly opposite to the horse and cow, having to hold its head up when it swallows a drink of water? Then note the pig-con of the same feathered family, as it keeps its bill immersed while drinking. The dog laps the water in its mouth. This animal, moreover, never chews its food; while the cat, his companion household pet, always chews thoroughly before swallowing. How is it that failing to masticate does not hurt a dog, while in case of all other animals, mankind included, unchewed food causes dyspepsia? Why has a cow a cud? and why can a horse shiver its hide to drive away flies? These questions, and many more like them, that might be asked, will show us that we are far from knowing it all.

To Patrons and Correspondents.

All locals will be run till ordered out, unless otherwise specified.

Don't send us for free publication anything of an advertising character.

Don't ask us to send you names and address of correspondents. That is a private matter between them and us.
