The Atlantic city experiment of smoking in church is a pretty wide departure from orthodox conventions. In old days it was smoking in the hereafter that concerned the church.

Now army officers must walk ten miles a day for three days. The test is so easy as to seem almost superfluous. Any one who cannot do that is in line for retirement as an invalid.

In Lancashire 30,000 cotton mill workers are out of employment. There appears to be a business depression in many parts of the world, but the United States is not among the heavy sufferers.

Somebody has dug up a love letter, written in strange characters on a sheet of clay, long before the Christian era. It reads much like the ones pretty Mae used to receive from Senator Platt.

Pennsylvania's governor was able to state to the White House conference that his state has acquired 1,000,000 acres for reservation purposes and is rapidly planting trees where they were wastefully slashed off. The way to begin in forestry, is to begin.

After figuring for some time on tonnage, displacement, sailing capacity, etc., Congressman Hobson has concluded that the American navy ought to be strengthened. In matter of this kind the most sensible thing to do would be to let Hobson have his choice.

Mrs. Mollie Brown, a pretty, young widow of Brooklyn, captured a burglar 30 days ago. Her portrait was published in the newspapers and her exploit described, and the first ten days brought her 70 letters from masculine admirers, some promptly proposing marriage others more delicately requesting the privilege of beginning a correspondence. Think of the 70 whose letters bespeak intelligence and standing in their communities. How idle was the elder Weller's caution: "Samivel, bevare of vidders!" How wrong is the old notion that men prefer the timid, shrinking woman who shrieks at a mouse, faints at a word and dissolves in tears at every opportunity to the strong and courageous of their sex.

It is announced from Portugal that the conspiracy which caused the death of King Carlos and the Crown Prince last February "had so many ramifications" and "so many persons of position" are suspected or implicated in it that there will be no prosecutions. It is best to let sleeping dogs lie—and pray that they may stay sleepy. This condition of affairs recalls that in Belgrade, where the assassins of the late King and Queen are known, are in power, and are unmenaced, and by the real knowledge of what they have done and may repeat, hold King Peter in subjection. In Portugal the regicides overawe the government; in Servia the regicides are the government. Europe has scarcely had two such examples of the divine rule by assassination since in 1801 the madman Paul I of Russia, was murdered by "gentlemen of the highest respectability and social standing" in his court.

AN OPEN COLUMBIA RIVER.

Extract from Mr. Bowerman's Mitchell address: During my term of office, which is now just closing, I have worked diligently both in the legislature and out of it, for an open Columbia river. I was a member of the Open River Association which raised money to complete the portage road. After the state appropriation had proven insufficient I introduced, and had passed thru the legislature, a resolution creating a committee to gather data for evidence which would show the great benefit that would come from the operation of the road, and based on the report of this committee, with other members from Eastern Oregon I secured the state appropriation of $25,000 to be used for operating the road. Had not this appropriation been granted, the road could not have been operated more than a month or so after it was completed, and the sum of more than $200,000 which was invested in the road would have been an absolute loss. During the session of 1905, and also the session of 1907, we secured the passage through the senate of a bill making further appropriation for the purpose of completing the road into Dalles city, but these bills failed in the house each time, for the lack of just one vote. When the road is completed into The Dalles, as I believe it will be, freight on all products from this part of Oregon will be reduced materially, and a great deal more business will be transacted by the portage. Under the present arrangement there are no competing boat lines connecting with the portage at the lower end, but when the road is completed to The Dalles three competing lines will connect. The use of incline cars will also be done away with and freight will be handled direct from the portage cars to the boats.

A word for Messrs Donnelly and Pike, gentlemen who went before the primaries as candidates of the republican party, and were nominated without opposition, and being well and favorably known throughout the district, should receive the support of the party. They are opposed by Mr. Mariner, of Gilliam county, who came out as an independent candidate, after the primaries had been held, and after the people had selected their candidates in both political parties. Therefore, he has no party back of him, and is only his own candidate. Mr. Mariner is understood to be making his canvas solely on the ground that he is in favor of an open Columbia river. Messrs. Donnelly and Pike point to the journal of the last session of the legislature showing that they, too, strenuously favor an open Columbia river, and that both have worked and voted for that measure. As the senator will come from Gilliam county, in case Mr. Mariner should be elected, either Wheeler or Sherman would be deprived of any representation whatever in the next legislature. Therefore, in the interest of decent politics, and in behalf of fair play and a square deal for all, we believe that every good citizen should vote for, and in every way support candidates nominated at the primaries, especially Messrs. Bowerman, Donnelly, Pike and Collier, all of whom have served the public faithfully, and can render more efficient service than new and inexperienced men.

It is probably just as well that congress has n't acquired the habit of adjourning out of respect for a dead bill, but it seems remarkable that it should sine die so quick after the death of Ship Subsidy Bill, lost in the contagion that carried 640-acre Homestead Bill, et. al., to untimely graves.

Only in America could the Goebel murder farm with its gruesome associations be transformed over night into a Coney island, with the picture postal vender and the faker out in force and a crowd of 15,000 people arriving daily by train and trolly car, and automobile, searching for ghastly souvenirs.

We don't know what Mr. Hearst intends doing with his new party. As a pretty plaything it will doubtless afford him and the rest of the country a vast deal of amusement. It will never amount to much as a political organization; at most it will only serve as a sort of haven of rest for discredited and broken down politicians.

WOMAN AND HER RIGHTS.

From a Recent Address by Clarence True Wilson, D. D.

The question is not whether the women have a right to vote, but it is whether we have a right to compel them all to vote at the dictation of a very small minority of their own number. It is certain the vast majority of our women do not wish the ballot. The laws for protection of women are improving steadily with the years, and every interest of hers is as well safeguarded as that of any man. If you wish to protect the rights of women ask yourself, today, does my wife want to vote? does my sister? does my mother claim it to be her privilege? If they do not, what right have I to compel them to do it by my ballot? But it is said we need the ballot of woman to aid us in government. But is it expedient? Will society be improved by the granting of the ballot to women? Will the better element of women come to the front as political workers and fill our offices—or will the worse? Which is the better element of women? The quiet, unassuming queens of our homes, our mothers, sisters, wives and sweethearts, or will politics be controlled by the clubwomen? This is not an untried experiment. Four states have given the ballot to women unconditionally, and after 30 years of women's voting, politics has not arrived at the moral standard of our own state in Wyoming, Colorado, Idaho or Utah. But you say "There are not as many women as men in Wyoming." True, but in Utah women are so plentiful that seven or eight of them club together and keep one husband between them, and with this numerous company they have not closed the saloons or the brothels, or prevented gambling dens, or purified politics. Indeed, there are not four states in the union where politics is so corrupt as in the four states where women vote. It is a sad picture where a man, for the sake of office, sells his integrity but it is a sadder, and a common sight, in the states where women vote, to see women sell their virtue for offices. I can give specific incidents, with names, places and dates where women, desiring to be assistclerks, etc., are sent from the candidates office to the political boss, to there offer her all, at the shrine of a man, who, but for politics, would not be allowed to enter her home. In every womans suffrage stnte, the proverb has had a double emphasis that "Politics make strange companions."

W. B. McCoy, republican candidate for re election to the office of sheriff of Sherman county, should receive the unanimous vote of the republican party June 1st. He has made an excellent officer; has faithfully served the people for the past four years, and his wide experience in matters pertaining to the office enables him to give to the people the very best of service. He has been the means of settling more law suits than any man who has yet filled that office, thus saving many dollars to a number of litigants. He received the indorsement of the republican party at the primary election, and we have every reason to believe that he will receive further indorsement on June 1st, for the good and efficient service he has rendered the people in the past. We appeal to you to show your appreciation of that service by voting

Emma Goldman is talking from Portland platforms in spite of hades and The Oregonian; and so is C.E.S Wood, who appears to be able to give the woman cards and spades and then spit the biggest flame of anarchistic fire. Just wait until the dynamite gang catch on, then there 'll be something doing in streets of the Rose City besides the blissful fiesta carnival.

The great Ultimal scheme of proportional representation, we are told by its gifted author, "is in successful operation in Japan, Switzerland, Denmark and Tasmania." And also, suggests The Oregonian, in Patagonia and Thibet and Abyssinia, we hear. By all means Oregon should desire to be classed with those enlightened countries.

The White House conference adjourned in time to prevent it from turning into a democratic love feast. Something must be pardoned in a party that is so seldom in touch with the atmosphere of the Executive Mansion. But the worst that could happen in the East Room before adjournment was a fillibuster, and the time was too short for that. Congress in a whole session has hardly heard so much broad patriotism however, and true public policy as the house of governors listened to in less than a week.

Loyalty to Party.

Dalles City Optimist.

A good many are saying there is nothing in party. They want to do away with party. All right; but if you scratch that man, or those men you will find they are not republicans, but heart and soul desire the destruction of our party. No real republican will admit that this country would now occupy the high plane it does if the people had not divided on party lines; and no good republican will admit that any other agency made us what we are except our party. A man who has not that faith, and cannot give his reasons for it, is not a loyal republican.

An error made in preparing my petitions for filing, discovered too late to correct, left my name off of the official primary ballot. The only recourse is to run Independent at the June election. This have decided to do.
