Mr. and Mrs. H. S. McDaniel were passengers for the Rose City Saturday, on a few days visit.

The agricultural department wants deer raised as a productive industry. But wouldn't that give us a venison trust?

Old type makes the very best of Babbitt metal. We have it for sale and when you need any call at The Observer office. Price is right.

Somehow or other the small boy doesn't seem to take nearly as much interest in Sunday school these days as he does along about December holidays.

The simplified spelling board says twenty thousand persons have agreed to adopt the simple spelling. But what of it? There are many times that many persons in the country who can't follow any method correctly.

It seems that the latest Canadian transcontinental Pacific railroad will cost $200,000,000, or $50,000,000 more than the estimate. London bankers of late have advised Canada to slow up in its zeal for new transportation facilities.

Newberg Graphic: It's a pretty good sign in a man who moves to a big city if he retains his interest in, and maintains his loyalty for, the town in which he got his start. Otherwise, it's a clear case of room to let in the top story.

A number of young men from the foremost families of Kentucky have forsaken drinking, gambling, swearing, chewing tobacco and smoking cigarettes and cigars. Now if they will swear off on night riding they will be model young men. But what in the world will the grand old blue grass state do for colons?

Children are to have a part in the district fair to be held in The Dalles next October. The exhibits will be open to the high, public and parochial schools in Crook, Sherman, Wheeler, Wasco and Gilliam counties. These exhibits must be the work of the pupils of the school.

Flowers, vegetables, art, mechanical, needle, poultry, cooking, etc. will be represented in the exhibit.

A striking feature of the August McClure's, one that will be widely discussed, is an essay on prohibition and social psychology, by Professor Muensterberg. The distinguished psychologist says: Better America inspired than America sober. Another strong feature, from a pictorial standpoint, is the reproduction of several of the best paintings of Alexander Borissoff, the Russian artist, who went to the frozen north and painted the marvelously beautiful colors of the arctic region on the spot. Richard C. Cabot, an eminent physician of Boston, analyzes one hundred Christian science cures, declaring that Christian science treatment does not cure organic diseases. The reminiscences of Carl Schurz continue, with an intensely interesting account of two interviews between the author and Bismark, in 1867. In her memoirs, Ellen Terry tells of her last years with Henry Irving. In fiction there are a half dozen stories, everyone of which possesses exceptional merit.

Mrs. Fred Hennagin returned from the hospital Sunday.

R. Wilcox, of Rutledge, was trading in Moro Saturday.

Two farmhouses were destroyed by fire near Grass Valley last week.

Roy C. Atwood and L. Barnum made auto trips to Kent on the 24th.

Claude Spoon has put in a phone at his farm house, and can now Hello to the outside world.

J. C. Coy and H. A. Stuart are off again on their search for the headwaters of Das Chutes river.

This year's bathing suits are trimmed with real lace. Another sign of where every little bit helps.

Walford Behe, brother of O. L. Behe, is here from California on a visit and may remain in Sherman county.

A New York woman escaped from jail by removing her corset. A sort of case of staying in jail but not staying out of jail.

Wm. Rudolf has purchased the auto of Judge Henrichs, belonging to the Medler estate, of which Judge H. is administrator.

A Washington woman found a gold watch in a can of lard. This ought to inspire a taste for cooking in several of the lily-banded.

The currency question may not be the leading issue of the campaign, but the fact remains the campaign is simply a contest between bills.

If he lives to manhood the six-year old Elwood (Ind.) kid who coughed up a brass key, should be able to unlock all of life's problems.

N. W. Silvers has placed a gasoline engine at the pump in his deep water well, and no longer is troubled with hauling in a tank from Moro.

County Assessor Otto Peetz is in Portland on work in connection with his office. Sherman county has loaned Portland 3 score of its best people.

Camp life has this year been shorn of many of its distinctions for preference as an outing, mostly on account of the ubiquitous and pestiferous mosquito.

A Georgia legislator proposes to make it a crime for women to pad or to wear peek-a-boo waists to lure the men on. All the men who are in favor of not being lured will please stand up.

The first wheat to come to a Moro warehouse this year was from one of Robert Urquhart's fields thrashed by the G. C. Huls machine near town, and it was A No. 1 wheat and 13 bushels per acre.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett White, former residents of Moro, are here visiting old time friends. Mr. W. was almost ready to surrender to the physician when he arrived, but is pulling through all right.

Advocates of woman's suffrage may be justified in maintaining that comparisons are odious in the case of the Battery park suffragettes who were hooded by loungers who possess the suffrage by right of their sex.

Charley Garlick, for years a resident of Moro, is here to aid in the harvest. His home is at St. Johns, where he is employed in the woolen mills, but as the latter is taking a holiday, Charley concluded to do likewise.

B. C. Van Voorhis raised some of the same kind of wheat in Multnomah county this year, as that referred to in another column from Dayton. Van got the seed from M. W. Hunt, of Tillamook, who claims that it came from the ruins of Pompeii. The old, old story.

Notwithstanding the loss of a fine team and rig in the recent Yakima fire, John Holman is yet able to drive a pair of prize animals when away from the farm. He caught the contagion recently of running a rusty nail in his right foot, and is now keeping step with P. J. Dillinger and Roy Powell.

From present indications there will be shipped out of Yakima city, before the end of the season, in the neighborhood of 10 carloads of honey. Besides this, large quantities of honey are produced for home consumption and in neighboring towns. Jesse W. Thornton has 300 colonies of bees and the season is at its height, while prospects for a great yield are excellent. Most of his hives are kept in valleys near the city where alfalfa is now in bloom, and each hive will yield a surplus of 50 pounds of comb honey. The honey industry is still in its infancy and Mr. Thornton, who has had experience in the east and in Oregon, says that conditions for the production of honey are ideal in the Yakima valley. The honey being shipped is all of a high grade. Mr. Thornton has about a dozen colonies at his Fruitvale ranch, where he raises queens to supply colonies in the alfalfa fields.

S. S. Hayes is up from the Rose city looking after his Sherman county farm interests.

Europeans are taking Oregon in large blocks for farming and dairying on the colony plan.

If you don't find what you want at home, come to Moro. Keep the circulating medium in Sherman county.

Burns and Prineville are now connected by telephones. The News and Review editors exchanged greetings on the 17th.

Mr. Anson visited Moro in his auto Saturday. That's what we like to see the well-to-do farmer doing; give the horses a rest.

G. R. Matthes hauled the Tomlin well drill out to his farm last week, and hopes to have a well soon that will bar water hauling.

Tally Newcomb will run the L. L. Peetz trashing outfit this season as separator tender. The machine started up last Monday.

Dolph Goetjen was a Moro visitor Saturday, purchasing machine extras, harvest supplies, etc., of which our city is well stocked this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Hunter have moved into their new farm house, and now feel quite at home. Bob's eyes are troubling him pretty badly.

Roosevelt, on the North Bank Ry. will have 4 pen stock yards. White Salmon, Columbus and 10 other points will have 2-pen yards each.

Geo. Rehman laid in an assortment of harvest necessities in Moro on the 24th, including a new watering tank, grain wagon bed, etc.

California hops are to be picked by machinery. Now if they could invent a machine to drink up all the product of the hops it would be all right.

J. O. Elrod and Wm. Booth of Portland, have bought the Alvord ranch of 15,000 acres south of Vale in Harney county. Consideration $90,000.

Every class of society and industry has some degenerate representatives. A German chauffeur has eloped with and married a Wurtemberg princess.

It is reported from Washington that the signal corps of the army is to try out dirigibles. Incidentally it is probable the dirigibles will also try out some of the corps.

Mr. Bryan was paid $1000 by two phonograph companies to talk samples of campaign oratory into their wax rolls. A man ought to wax eloquent at that compensation.

Prof. Ohnes, of the university of Leyden, it is reported, has liquefied helium at a temperature of 450° below zero Fahrenheit. That sounds cool, but the professor calls it the boiling point of helium.

Since the flurry of last October the export of farm products from the United States has kept up to almost the highest known mark. The American farmer is unsurpassed as a tower of financial strength.

II A Page will have 500 acres of wheat to harvest on his Gooseberry farm in Gilliam county, that will average 15 bushels per acre, but he wants to sell the farm, or trade it for income bearing city property.

The proposed increase in the railroad freight rate on sugar between the Atlantic ports and the west is about 1 1/2th of 1 cent per pound. Consumers should remind dealers of this figure if the retail price is advanced.

Mrs. Merlinger, Aunt to Mrs. L. Barnum, is a Moro visitor, returning to Falls city from Idaho, where she was called recently to attend the funeral of her sister, Mrs. Fred Raymond, brother of Wm. Raymond of this city.

Wasco News: John and Ed Kaseburg of Gordon ridge started their combine on the 20th and are cutting volunteer wheat and barley. The wheat is making eight sacks and the barley ten sacks to the acre. The grain is of first grade.

The Harriman system has just divided-up a trifle more than $31,000,000 for the year ending June 30, 1908. Meanwhile it takes the Company from 25 to 50 minutes to get the Moro mail sack from the depot to the post-office.

According to most authorities, seven years of age is the best time to start a child for school, or six if the child is to be sent to kindergarten. It is also the wisest plan to start the child in school in the fall, when the regular school term opens and not any time during the year that it may occur to the parents. If the child is unusually delicate it is better to wait for another year, as the confinement is apt to prove weakening to a nervous and sickly child. Sending a child to school to be rid of caring for it at home, should be prevented by legal process.

Mrs. Walter Stanley is expected home from Salem tomorrow.

Hon. B. F. Pike and wife returned from their summer jaunt last Saturday.

The auto garage is the property of Charles Huck, city marshal, who is prepared to care for all autos that may come his way.

Sheriff J. C. Freeman was able to come to Moro the last of last week, and take up his new work. His appearance indicates that his recent sickness was very severe.

E. A. Moretz has a weeder which he built himself at a cost of $25.00, exclusive of knives, and with six horses ahead of it has pretty nicely cleaned the weeds off his farm.

The Optimist: Miss Laura Lytle, of Portland spent Sunday at the J. M. Patterson home. Her sister, Mrs. Catron, of Wasco, was also a guest of the Patterson's last week.

A Chautauqua lecturer says the Garden of Eden is all a myth. Inasmuch as the world has taken it for gospel fact for some centuries it may now be set down as all a myth-take.

Mrs. Carl Williams died on the 24th at Redlands, Cal. Deepest sympathy is extended to the sorrowing family. The remains will be brought to Grass Valley for interment.

A. B. Potter, the merchant prince, Mayor and Nashy of Klondike, was a Moro visitor one day last week. His appearances here are always cheerful, though few and far between.

Masters of vessels coming into the Columbia wonder why more fishermen are not drowned. One says: "The fogs are so thick that we can see only a few feet ahead of us and fishermen are scattered about in a way that keeps us guessing all the time."

The wife of N. E. Markley, formerly of Moro, threw her 7-year old daughter into Lake Washington last Friday and then leaped in herself. The woman was drowned, but the little girl succeeded in saving herself. Mr. Markley practiced law when living in Moro.

The dance managers labored under difficulties Friday night, in consequence of the unfinished condition of the building, but nevertheless everybody present had a most enjoyable time. The music was fine, super excellent, and none departed dissatisfied.

Phil Metochan is homesick. Didn't we tell you he would be. In a letter to his son Philip, of the Imperial Hotel, Portland, he says that he expects to sail for home from London October 17th, and adds "that I shall be glad to be home again, where I expect to stay for the rest of my years."

Master Johnny Matthias took a fresh cow from Grass Valley, with its calf, one of the hot days last week and delivered the goods at home in good condition. Johnny's home education has not been misapplied. It is boys like Johnny who make sensible business men. He didn't run that cow one rod in all the 15 miles traveled.

Chronicle: It is said by night passengers coming from Portland by train that the biggest, fattest, "sasiest," mosquitoes come in at the open windows of the coaches and sting the passengers as they ride along. The Columbia river region seems to have an unusual amount of this nuisance this year, due, it is said, to the unusually late high water.

A reverend doctor refers eloquently to "America's greatest preacher, who for seven years has used the White House in the spirit of the old-time prophets." Exactly so Jeremiah ix, 4: "Take ye heed every one of his neighbor, and trust ye not in any brother; for every brother will utterly supplant, and every neighbor will walk with slanders."

To have the eyes water is not only annoying and distressing but it is at times exceedingly embarrassing. Do not strain the eyes in any way and do not use them for any trying work at night. A mild eye wash, which will bring relief in most cases, is made of one ounce of pure water and one ounce of distilled white hazel. Bathe the eyes frequently with this wash, which is especially excellent for eyes irritated by the wind.

Newberg Graphic: Col. B. F. Pike and wife of Moro, Sherman county, who attended the G. A. R. encampment here one year ago, got a pretty good case on Newberg, which the passing months have not relieved. As a result they returned a few days ago to see if Newberg still looked good to them, and have purchased for a home the Walter Fortune house in the west part of town. They are people of prominence in Sherman county, and highly respected. A hearty welcome is extended to them.
