MORO, OREGON. FRIDAY JULY 1 1910

Personal Talk With You. At any time when requested to do so, the paper will be discontinued. But we expect that all arrears will be paid before such request is made.

AS BERFORD FOUND IT.

By STACEY E. BAKER. Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

SYLVIA threw a huge lighted firecracker over the conventional clump of alders and waited expectantly for results. They came sooner than she expected. "Hey, wot do you tink!"—

Room! The great red freting thing had exploded before the surprised tramp, the sleep still in his eyes, discovered what hit him.

The girl, Miss Sylvia Moore, late of Bryn Mawr, was no madcap. Don't think it! In fact, a more daintily demure damsel would be hard to find in all the prolific vicinity of Rumpeltown.

Miss Sylvia, trim and fair, had been a shopping in the interests of two incorrigible little brothers whom a fond mamma with painful memories refused to allow away from home on the Fourth of July.

The Moores were farmers, living about a mile from the city. Heretofore the boys on their annual trips to town had left a profusion of burned fireworks by the dusty roadside and arrived with sundry mementos in the shape of powder scarred fingers, powder blue cheeks and powder singed eyebrows.

The metamorphosis of the maid of the meadows into a self-assured young lady properly "finished" was not so thorough that primeval impulse could be overcome easily.

Therefore when a kindly shopkeeper with eyes only for the girl that used to be had given the maid two giant crackers "for herself," she had taken them with an inward laugh at the simplicity of mere man.

Before Miss Sylvia had reached the outskirts of the town on her way home insidious memory had whispered in little pink ears: "Why not? You used to!" To which the important ego of the college girl responded dramatically: "Ah, but that was when I was a che-ild!"

It's all very well to battle against staidism, you people who can't trace ancestors back to every war since the formation of this glorious republic, but, again, if there are frayed uniforms moldering in your attic you will understand, taking environment into consideration, the faculty of Sylvia's fight.

Time and again the hectoring maid drew the two great noise producers from the wicker basket, which contained her purchases, and time and again they were reluctantly returned, until—

Well, the finding of the little box of wax vestas in the bottom of the basket was really the undoing of Sylvia. This was another gift from the shopkeeper and one which he had not mentioned to her.

And so, selecting a secluded part of the road, Sylvia gently drew a pale stick across the rough edges of its own box and threw a spluttering crater over the convenient alders.

A naturally much irritated gentleman of leisure glared malevolently at the sweet girl graduate after the ensuing explosion, his pudgy and begrimed hands busily engaged in brushing the little bits of red paper, still smoldering from his rage of clothes.

The maiden heart of Miss Sylvia beat tumultuously. Bryn Mawr training for no such dire predicament as this. Old Grandpa Trouble, metaphorically speaking, bubbled up with a patriarchal smile for the disturbed damsel.

WEAK KIDNEYS MAKE WEAK BODIES.

Kidney Diseases Causes Half the Common Aches and Pains of Most People. As one weak link weakens a chain, so weak kidneys weaken the whole body and hasten the final breaking down.

Overwork, strains, colds and other causes injure the kidneys, and when their activity is lessened the whole body suffers from the excess of uric poison circulated in the blood.

Aches and pains and languor and urinary ills come, and there is an ever-increasing tendency towards diabetes and fatal Bright's disease. There is no real help for the sufferer except kidney help.

Doan's Kidney Pills acts directly on the kidneys and cures every kidney ill. More cures are the proof. Mrs. P. H. Buxton, of Moro, Oregon, says: "A member of our family used Doan's Kidney Pills for backache and trouble with the kidneys and great benefit was received."

Commandments For the Fourth. Remember the glorious day, to keep it wholly noly. Thou shalt not kill the kid who pops one in thy face.

Thou shalt not swear because the cannon is too close to thy domicile and keeps thee awake. Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor who gets into the police court for setting fire to thy barn.

Honor thy father and thy mother if they refuse to buy thee giant crackers so that thy days may be long in the land. T. SAPP.

Work 24 Hours a Day. The busiest little things ever made are Dr. King's New Life Pills. Every pill is a sugar coated globe of health, that changes weakness into strength, languor into energy.

Brain lag into mental power, curing constipation, head ache, chills, dyspepsia, malaria. 25c at Moro Pharmacy.

Those Boyhood Pies. How delicious were the pies of boyhood. No pies now ever taste so good, what's changed? The pie? No, in you; you've lost the strong healthy stomach, the vigorous liver, the active kidneys, the regular bowels of boyhood.

Devilfish. Devilfish weighing up to 200 pounds are sometimes caught in Japan. These fish are amphibious. They are often seen wabbling on their tentacles like giant spiders in search of patches of sweet potatoes.

A Frightful Wreck. Of train, automobile or buggy may cause cuts, bruises, abrasions sprains or wounds that demand Bucklen's Arnica Salve, earths surest healer.
