SENATOR LUKE LEA.

Tennessee Journalist to Be Youngest Member of the Senate.

Great Northern Train Derailed. Wenatchee, Wash.—Great Northern passenger train No. 4, eastbound, went into the ditch Tuesday evening, 15 miles east of Wenatchee, as a result of which two mail clerks and a brakeman are injured. No one was killed. The whole train of nine cars went off the track with the exception of a sleeping car.

WOMEN INFLUENCE SENATORIAL ELECTION

New York.—The spirit of Paquin has become the occult control of the senatorial situation, according to gossip in Tammany Hall. The husky district leaders, most of whom would not know a redingote from a hobbie skirt, declare that the question is no longer whether William F. Sheehan or someone else shall be the next United States Senator from New York, but whether Mrs. W. F. Sheehan or Mrs. John A. Dix shall wear handsome Paris gowns as the wife of the next Senator.

The story goes that long before the sturdy voters of the state had the most remote idea that W. F. Sheehan had any design upon the senatorial toga, Mrs. Sheehan had been taken into her husband's confidence. Mrs. Sheehan promptly ordered several magnificent gowns from the leading Paris dressmakers.

Mrs. Sheehan made many friends at Albany among the Legislators, and her costumes aroused much admiration among the Legislators' ladies. So that it is reported in Tammany circles that Mrs. Dix determined to hand in a carte blanche order to her own dressmaker first and finally to use her husband to sacrifice himself if need be to end the deadlock by accepting the election to the Senate for himself.

California Senate Solidly Progressive. Sacramento.—After lengthy argument the administration forces have overcome the opposition and passed the initiative and referendum measure in the senate, 35 to 1.

REPUBLICANS IN HARMONY

Roosevelt and Barnes Meet at Banquet of N. Y. Republicans. New York.—For the first time since the fight at the state convention at Saratoga last September, all factions of the Republican party in New York state gathered in harmony. The occasion was the 25th annual dinner of the Republican Club of New York City in commemoration of the 102d anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln.

William Barnes, Jr., newly elected chairman of the Republican state committee, who led in the fight against Colonel Roosevelt at Saratoga, was seated at the right of the ex-President and entered into an animated conversation with him several times.

IN THE REALM OF FASHION

A picture poem of a gown for a young girl is of batiste embroidered in pompadour wreaths in pale green and pink. The scalloped eyelid worked edge of the overdress is relieved by blue, marmaline, which also heads the embroidered skirt ruffle.

A Cozy, Dainty Outing Coat. Of course the truly athletic girl will merely snuff at the very idea of an outing coat being dainty. And it is rather more for the maiden who strolls or drives in lingerie frocks than for the slater in trotteur skirts and high laced boots.

It is a new coat, with all the novelty and charm of extreme daintiness to make it popular. It is made of white Japanese silk both inside and out and carefully interlined with softest cotton, then generously quilted just as any dressing gown would be. Without the bulkiness, however, of the bedroom gown and far more shapely in its lines is this smart little coat made to wear instead of the regular sweater. It is claimed for it that it will wash beautifully, which would obviate its one possible drawback. White is always lovely, but somewhat delicate for strenuous wear. Patch pockets give it a jaunty air, and the neck is much like that of the Y shaped sweater coat. Surely no one will feel that $6 is an unreasonable sum to give for so attractive a garment.

TIPS FOR HOME DRESSMAKERS.

If Patterns Bother You Cut One For Yourself.

Although there are many good patterns to be had nowadays and they come pretty close to actual measurements, still there are some who continue to have difficulty in getting their clothes to fit. If you find after cutting out your pattern from the paper pattern that you have purchased that you must cut here, take up there and shave out the armholes the best plan to adopt is to cut out a waist from some cheap material or some old stuff that you may have around the house. In cutting out this waist cut it perfectly plain, allowing an inch tuck to be stitched down about three inches alongside of the armhole. Now proceed to fit this perfectly, making the needed alterations. Then when you have finished this much cut out a pattern from good, stiff paper, allowing three-eighths of an inch for seams, also an extra half inch for closing in the back or front, whichever you may do. If you close in the front do not use the half inch in the back, and vice versa. Yet another way is to cut a pattern from an old bodice that fits well, having first ripped it up. If the sleeves bother you by being too long, too short or not large enough around the arm try the same method, cutting a pattern for a shirt waist sleeve and one for dressier waists. The skirt, too, might be handled in the same way—that is, for a good plain gored skirt, in tucking material for sleeves and waist.

You will find the above advice very helpful and the saving of a great many minutes that would otherwise go to fitting. With these patterns sitting upon your cutting and sewing together, trying on only for draping, trimming and putting the final effect and finishing up in half the time it no doubt took you before. Of course this applies to ordinary bodices, which just now are used for halings and foundations.

Earth, Sun and Moon. If the earth is represented by a large marble, an inch in diameter, then the moon will be a small pea, two and one-half feet away, and the sun a nine foot globe at a distance of 820 yards. A hollow globe as big as the sun would leave plenty of room for the moon to revolve at her usual distance.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

Good Form

The girl who is popular is she who makes a study of the things that are better left unsaid. One need not be aggressive in speech to be a social failure.

Oh, those things that mean no actual harm, yet make us squirm! Sometimes thoughtlessness is at fault, again a too hasty tongue, more often lack of fine feeling.

There is nothing, for instance, in announcing you have been invited to a certain luncheon or dinner, yet, when that announcement makes another woman realize she is a fill up, far better would it be to say nothing about it.

You may think it shows how popular is your guest to remark the number of things that are being given in her honor. Tell of this entertaining to a friend who feels she should do likewise, but is prevented by poverty. It is one of the things far better left unsaid.

If you are the hostess who has achieved at much trouble two tables of bridge or a simple family dinner for a friend's house guest, don't you feel when that friend announces that she was compelled to turn down an elaborate luncheon for your invitation that the information might with better taste have been suppressed?

Better unsaid is the gloomy greeting to an imaginative friend: "How pale you look! Have you been sick?" To the average fat woman far better unsaid are discussions on flesh, dumplings, big hips and double chins. The hundredth woman may not be sensitive, but the ninety-nine secretly resent being asked, "How much do you weigh now?" or "Aren't you stout-er than the last time we met?"

The Notes to Write. A girl need not be a brilliant writer to send out pleasing wedding notes. What is needed is sincere gratitude, gracefully but not gushingly expressed. Overpraise is almost as annoying as indifference.

Never be guilty of a set form; your friends are sure to compare notes. Aim to give the individual touch. To introduce the reader to the reality of being thanked, not a job lot of givers. It is customary to include your fiancé in thanking for a wedding present. Though the gift comes to the girl, it is actually for both and should be so acknowledged.

It is also the custom to tell your friends you will be glad to have them come in and see your presents. This is particularly necessary when there is to be no reception and you are to live out of town. Set hours may be mentioned if you do not wish to be bothered with a run of visitors.

Many brides write notes to their own friends and work a substitute for the friends of their husbands. This is a great mistake, since strangers have often no other way to judge the bride than by her note of thanks.

The Chaperon Question.

Is the chaperon necessary for a party of young people to have a chaperon? asks an anxious mother.

The good fellowship which prevails among young men and young women at the present time has not lessened the importance of the chaperon. At all times a chaperon is considered best form, and no matter how well a party of young people may know one another the presence of a chaperon gives dignity to whatever good time they may have on hand and also safety in case of an unforeseen disaster, as an older woman presumably has her wits about her in an emergency and can decide what is best to be done. Well bred girls and men would not on any expedition unless a chaperon accompanied them.

On Good Breeding.

A great part of our education is sympathetic and social. Boys and girls who have been brought up with well informed and superior people show in their manners an inestimable grace. Fuller says that "William, earl of Nassau, won a subject from the king of Spain every time he took off his hat." You cannot have one well bred man without a whole society of such. They keep each other up to a high point. Especially women. It requires a great many cultivated women—salons of bright, elegant, reading women, accustomed to ease and refinement, to spectacles, pictures, sculpture, poetry and to elegant society—in order that you should have one Mme. de Staël—Emerson.

A Vacation Hint.

Young girls who land unaccompanied by escort of any kind at an out of town resort, as it is sometimes necessary for business women to do, need to be careful of the acquaintances they make. If some perfectly unknown man is assiduous in his attentions the unprotected girl should make a point of sitting under the wing of some elderly woman guest at the same house until the man has proved his worth.

The Woman's Century.

Jean Pinot, one of the leading French editors, says, "The twentieth century will be the woman's century, as the eighteenth and nineteenth were the century of human rights." He says with conviction that women will gain some of the right to vote and that they will assume a much greater place of importance in the history of the present century than in past years.

A Flood of Ink.

Uncle Sam's printing office in Washington uses some twenty-four tons of printing ink yearly.

A Point For Willie. A Capitol hill woman went out in the garage back of her home the other day and found her ten-year-old son playing cards with pennies with a neighbor boy. "Why, Willie," she said, "what are you doing—gambling?" "We're just playin' cards with that new deck you won over at Mrs. Mason's playin' bridge last week," replied the boy. The woman picked up the cards and went back into the house. She had nothing to say.—Denver Post.

The quicker a cold is gotten rid of the less the danger from pneumonia and other serious diseases. Mr. R. W. L. Hall, of Waverly, Va., says, "I firmly believe Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to be absolutely the best preparation on the market for colds. I have recommended it to my friends and they all agree with me." For sale by all dealers.

MAY PROVE FATAL

When Will More People Learn the Importance of It?

Backache is only a simple thing at first. But when you know its from the kidneys; That serious kidney trouble follows; That diabetes, Bright's disease may be the fatal end.

You will gladly profit by the following experience.

"The statement of a Moro citizen. P. P. DeMoss, of Moro, Or., says: 'I am just as willing to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills at this time as I was several years ago when I gave a public statement in their favor. A too frequent desire to pass the kidney secretions, especially at night, caused me no end of annoyance and I was anxious to get relief. When an acquaintance who had taken Doan's Kidney Pills with benefit advised me to try them, I did so, procuring my supply at the Moro drug store. This remedy brought prompt relief and corrected the difficulty in a short time. I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills since then and they have always benefited me.'"

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

She Knew Better.

Ostensible Head of the Family—Maria, there was a canvasser at the office today who wanted to sell me a work on etiquette and good behavior. Teaches it in six lessons. I told him I'd ask you if you thought we wanted it.

Real Head—It's all humbug, John. It can't be taught in six lessons. I've been trying to teach it to you for sixteen years and haven't succeeded yet.

"I had been troubled with constipation for two years and tried all of the best physicians in Bristol, Tenn., and they could do nothing for me," writes "Thos. E. Williams, Middleboro, Ky. 'Two packages of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets cured me.' For sale by all dealers.

Where He Wanted to Go.

A man went into the ticket office of the Colorado Midland railway recently and said to the ticket agent, "I want to get a ticket to Lame Water, Colo."

"To what place?" asked the perplexed ticket man.

"Lame Water. It's a mining camp. The agent put his head in his hands and thought deeply a moment. "Oh," he said finally, "you mean Ogipie Creek, don't you?"

"Yes, that's the place," said the man. "I got it wrong."—Denver Post.

Every family has need of a good, reliable remedy. For sprains, bruises, soreness of the muscles and rheumatic pains there is none better than Chamberlain's. Sold by all dealers.

Town's Loss.

"Hello, old chap," greeted the crowd at the club. "Back from your hunting trip? Bag anything?"

"No," responded Chappy Badcock wearily.

"Well, no wonder. You are a back number. The idea of going hunting with a tailless pointer."

"Oh, don't blame poor Beppolo. He had a tail when he started."—Omaha World-Herald.
