OFFIC AL PAPER OF SHERMAN CO

MORO, OREGON.

Entered as second class matter at the post office at Moro, Oregon, July 25, 1891.

C. L. IRELAND........Manager.

FRIDAY........March 1, 1912

If you do not read The Observer, why not?

We would like to have you take it, and we know it would be profitable to you to become a subscriber. We send it two years for $2.50; one year $1.50; 12½ cts a month isn't much. Try it. Order by postal card, and pay for it when you can.

Church and Society notices FREE, except when for money making purposes. Such notices at regular rates at the option of the publishers.

We will not be responsible for the neglect of subscribers to notify as of changes in their address. Nor will the notification of a Postmaster that the subscriber has "Removed" settle the bill of a delinquent.

Did it ever occur to you that it costs no more to produce printing that is pleasing to the eye than the other kind? The Observer is equipped with all the modern faclities for doing good work at the very minimum of cost. Try us with an order and if it is not executed to your perfect satisfaction you need not pay for it.

Send for advertising rates.

Mr. Taft could not find a stenographer on hand when he went to work Monday morning. They are all protected by civil service laws.

More than 50,000 postal savings depositories will be in operation in this country next year. Deposits in the banks already established more than equal $1,000,000 a week.

The province of Quebec will sell no more of its water powers in perpetuity, but has advertised for proposals for 99-year leases of ten large water powers in the province.

Idaho, Nevada, Wyoming, Montana, Utah and Florida are looking into their phosphate deposits; while not as exciting as a gold rush this move may be more profitable.

At last we are to have a limited beginning with a parcels post system of delivery of merchantile packages; it is called an experiment, but it is not. The experiment was made in other countries long ago.

China is the most distressed nation in the world. Three millions of its children are dying of famine. The native authorities are helpless. The people to be relieved are chiefly hardworking and honest farmers.

President Taft's course in the case of Major Ray shows the wisdom of magnanimity. The president is a stickler for military discipline, and the major deserved it for his conduct. Abraham Lincoln would have done exactly as President Taft did.

The proposed closing of Pearson's academy, the preparatory institution of Whitman college, is an index of the progress of education in the Inland Empire. Its high schools have so greatly improved since 1900 that the academy has become almost needless.

Senator Bourne has introduced a bill for the regulation of wireless telegraphy. He says the bill introduced in behalf of the government provides for two much official regulation. He would have the regulation by law and not by departmental rulings; in which he is most decidedly correct.

The further into this problem of the high cost of living one goes he invariably finds that the element of waste, needless, wanton waste, cuts a tremendous figure in more ways than it is easy to recite. Not only might expenditures in restaurants be reduced to actual needs, but in every other department of our life with practiable results.

Why He Was Late.

"What made you so late?"

"I met Smithson."

"Well, that is no reason why you should be an hour late getting home to supper."

"I know, but I asked him how he was feeling, and he insisted on telling me about his stomach trouble."

"Did you tell him to take Chamberlain's Tablets?"

"Sure, that is what he needs." Sold by all dealers.

MAY PROVE FATAL

When Will More People Learn The Importance of It?

Backache is only a simple thing at first;

But when you know 'tis from the kidneys;

That serious kidney troubles follow;

That diabetes, Bright's disease may be the fatal end,

You will gladly profit by the following experience.

The statement of a Moro citizen.

P P DeMoss of Moro, Oregon, says: "I am just as willing to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills at this time as I was several years ago when I gave a public statement in their favor. A too frequent desire to pass the kidney secretions, especially at night, caused me no end of annoyance and I was very anxious to get relief. When an acquaintance who had taken Doan's Kidney Pills with benefit advised me to try them, I did so, procuring my supply at Moro Pharmacy. This remedy brought prompt relief and corrected the difficulty in a short time. I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills since then and they have always benefited me."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Don't be surprised if you have an attack of rheumatism this spring. Just rub the affected parts freely with Chamberlain's Liniment and it will soon disappear. Sold by all dealers.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

Shattered.

She had met the young man at the seaside. His name was Percy Sinclair. His neckwear was irreproachable.

There were other young men at the seaside—nearly a half dozen of them. There was but one Percy Sinclair.

She felt flattered by his attentions. They were brief because he was called away suddenly by business, he said, but they were delightful.

"I trust we may meet again," he murmured as he bent over her reasonably small hand.

And she echoed the sentiment. Later on she looked up the lineage of the Sinclairs and found it muddled.

Percy didn't write, although he could easily have found her address.

And then one day in autumn he called. She heard him at the door. She heard him ask for her father. Her heart fluttered. She tripped down the stairs.

"Why, how do you do, Mr. Sinclair?" she sweetly chirped. He flushed hotly.

"I have called to see your father," he stammered.

"Yes?"

"I heard he wanted a man to drive a delivery wagon. Do you know how much he pays?"

And love's young dream had made another nightmare finish.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

His Descent.

He was a gentler specimen of his class than one usually meets, and when he made his appeal for something to eat at the kitchen door he was asked by the good natured cook to come in by the fire. As he sat there she said:

"You don't look as though you had always been a tramp."

"I haven't," he replied, without offense. "I came from a very good family."

She let him eat on without interruption, but after he had finished she said:

"You say you came from a good family. May I ask the name?"

"It was Blankleigh," he responded.

"Why," she said in surprise, "that's the name of the occupier next door to us."

"Yes," he replied. "I noticed it on the doorplate. That's who I came from. He threw me down his steps just before I called here."—Denver Times.

True to His Promise.

"Dearest, will you let me share your every sorrow after we are married?" she whispered as she cuddled her cheek against his.

"Yes, darling," he replied, again plucking a delicious kiss from her sweet lips.

It was the same lady who two years later wearily cried out:

"Oh, Tom, why can't you ever come into the house without bringing a tale of trouble with you? I'm so sick of hearing about how hard you have to work to keep the bills paid."—Chicago Record-Herald.

The Money Power.

Braggs—It is positively absurd to talk about a "money power" in this country. There is no such thing.

Waggs—I'd just like to discuss that with you. Have you got a minute to spare?

Braggs—Not a minute. I've got a note due at the bank and they're bothering me to death about it.—Life.

Competition.

"You still assert that competition is the life of trade?"

"Oh, yes," replied Mr. Dustin Stax. "But we don't care to compete for a chance to sell our goods. What we want is to find people with their money out competing for the privilege of buying them."—Washington Star.

Would Play Safety.

Marks—If you had to live your life over again would you marry the same woman?

Parks—You just bet I would. I know what she is, and women are too uncertain for me to experiment with another one.—Boston Transcript.

Our Varying Moods.

"Yes, environment does influence us."

"How now?"

"You never see a man coming out of church with his hat perched on the side of his head."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

More Time.

"He's the man of the hour."

"Isn't there ever a woman of the hour?"

"Yes, but it takes her an hour and a half."—Chicago News.

In the North Woods.

Week End Sportsman—I just shot a deer, old chap!

His Pal—Gweat! Kill him?

Week End Sportsman—I think not. He shot back!—Puck.

Well Understood.

Blobbs—Do you think we shall ever have a universal language?

Slobbs—We have now when money talks.—Philadelphia Record.

Which Route.

Mrs. Fly—I just heard of Mr. Buzzer's death by the plague.

Mr. Fly—Did he get stuck or was he swatted?—Judge.

No Better Off.

"My boss raises my salary."

"Yes?"

"And my wife 'lifts' it."—Baltimore American.

ORDERING SUPPLIES by TELEPHONE

THE Retail Merchant's telephone serves not only as a salesman, but also as a purchasing agent.

When a merchant finds that he is going to run out of a line of goods, he calls up the wholesaler or factory and not only orders a new stock, but comes to an agreement on the price and time of delivery.

The unexpected needs of his customers can be met with the least possible delay.

If the merchant cannot find what he wants in town, the Long Distance Service of the Bell System brings him into immediate communication with other cities and other markets.

The Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co.

Every Bell Telephone is the Center of the System.
