C. C. Clark of Arlington, has filed notice of his candidacy for the republican nomination for representative from this district. The Observer knows him as a successful business man of his section who will undoubtedly make good if choosen for that office.

Chas. Davis is constructing a self feeder and grain grinder for H. W. Strong; it is built of galvanized steel, fourteen feet in diameter, ten feet high, and will hold when finished seven hundred sacks of wheat. The wheat will be dumped into the bin and conveyed to the feeding racks by pipes, where the rooting of the hogs will grind the grain.

What is expected to be the most important session of the Oregon Irrigation Congress ever held will be that in Portland on February 13 and last for two days. It is expected that fully 200 men, representing all sections of the state, will be in attendance. About 40 organizations and commercial bodies belong to the congress and each is expected to send five delefiates.

A letter received from George DeMoss, who is touring Iowa and Missouri with the DeMoss Lyric Bards, said the company was entertaining good sized audiences each evening. In a newspaper clipping accompanying the letter very favorable comment was noted concerning the technical violin playing of Master Elbert, who is now a recognized member of the troupe.

Believing that alfalfa growing is of vast importance, not only to the livestock interest of the state, but also in its relation to the upbuilding and maintenance of soil fertility, the state superintendent of public instruction has set aside the entire second week of March as "Alfalfa Week." Every school in Oregon will be expected to place special emphasis on the subject of alfalfa.

A Fallacy Corrected

A mistaken opinion held by a large number of women suffragettes is that of thinking of man as the master of woman, whereas the real master of both man and woman is necessity. The world has jolted along as it could. There has been a great deal to do, and men and women, respectively, have done what they had to. Life has been rough; women have needed protection, and have had to pay perhaps overmuch for it, and the tradition that was based on the woman's need of protection seems to have outlasted somewhat the facts on which it rested. The world has come to be a safer place to live in, women are safer in it than they were, and in a very much better position to strike out, if they choose, for themselves.

The world is also richer than it was, by enormous increases. There is far more to distribute. The women are richer, have more power of money, have a just claim on a larger share of the general wealth than they used to get, and are making their claim good. To the woman of courage, capacity, and training the world seems already a very open field. The pioneering has been done; the paths are broken in all directions and a vast deal of work and money is going into the improvement of the roads. Why, then should these feminists want to get up sex-wars, when things are going too fast their way already?

Mrs. Minnie A. Hosford, wife of Attorney J. B. Hosford of Portland, died at the family home in that city February 4th. Mrs. Hosford had a large circle of friends in Sherman county, where the family lived for several years before moving to Portland.

One of the most popular farm implement lines in the county is the John Deere; of which the Moro Hardware and Implement Co. has received an assortment in double action cutaway discs, plows and harrows. They also have on hand a good supply of extras for the Flying Dutchman and Oregon Moline plows

Edna VanAusdell, eight year old grand daughter of J. I. Miller of Hood River; died in that city Friday, the 6th, from inflammatory rheumatism of the heart. The little girl was a grand niece of Mrs. H.W. Strong and a neice of Mrs. J. A. Armstrong, who left Saturday morning accompanied by J. A. Armstrong, to attend the funeral held Sunday in Hood River.

An order for 115,000 wheat bags for members of the farmers union at Moro upon which a saving of $1380 was effected and $460 more would have been, if the jobber had not refused the business after submitting prices, illustrates rather better than anything else the importance of the grain bag problem to the farmer of Sherman county. The marketing of grain in bulk is worthy of study.

Suit for an aggregate of $8000 has been brought against Governor West, Colonel B. K. Lawson and Seargent Walton, militia officers, by residents of Copperfield charging wrongful, malicious and unlawful confiscation of property. Governor West is made a joint defendant with the two officers in the action and, if judgment is obtained each, all or any one of the defendants will be liable to the amount of the judgment.

A Unique Social Affair

The boys of Moro skating club scored another social hit when they and their friends to the number of forty assembled last Friday evening in Rudolf opera house and spent the first half of the night on wheels.

The boys had complete control of every detail and not only received their guests formally, but also entertained on the floor and served refreshments.

Bill James acted as director and several fancy figures were formed and evolutions gone through that made the first skate approach a grand march in appearance.

Refreshments consisting of waters and coffee were served by a committee that was attired in waiters regulation uniform. Even in this event no suffragettes were flitting about, but each was pasted against the wall as decorations.

An enjoyable event of the evening was several vocal solos by John A Demoss.

Road Work in Sherman County

The good roads excitement has invaded Sherman county. The state of Oregon has let a contract for a road, costing $32,000, which will connect Wasco and incidentally the main roads of the county with a ferry crossing the Columbia river at a point about one miles east of the present Biggs station. Also the county court will soon begin work on the project adopted last fall, to improve the road leading from this county to The Dalles by way of Fulton canyon; the camp for this last mentioned project has been selected and A. L. Bagley will be chef while the work is in progress. The two roads are but a few miles apart, but the most important for the county at large is the one being undertaken by the county officials with Wm. Henrichs in charge.

New Train Schedule

A new schedule went into effect upon the O-W R & N Co. lines February 8th. The most important change to residents of Sherman county is no more connecting at Sherman with the early DesChutes train into The Dalles. Another change is the doing away with The Dalles-Portland local and having the train running into Spokane do the local work between those points; this train stops on signal at Biggs, from Portland, at 7.58 p.m. while No. 5 in the morning stops on signal at Biggs at 7.47 for Portland. The passenger from Shaniko now passes Moro at 9.20 a. m., ten minutes earlier, and leaves Biggs on the return trip at 12.40, but arrives at Moro only five minutes earlier and at Shaniko at the previous time. The connecting train from Portland arrives at Biggs at 12.10 and for Portland at 12.40, stopping in The Dalles 45 minutes, so that passengers will not become dizzy by too soon an arrival in Portland.
