Moro School Notes.

Lois Schaeffer has been absent from school this week on account of sickness.

The teacher's training class have been receiving some practical experience this week. Bessie Bourhill and Grace Muir have been substituted in Miss Kessi's room and Marie Morrison in Miss Duncan's room for part of the day.

The high school has received a complete laboratory outfit for assistance in the study of physics and physiology.

Marjorie and Ralph Haynes visited with their parents at Kent over Sunday, returning Monday morning.

An orchestra has been organized in the Moro high school and all are busy trying their new instruments.

Moro school has joined the state high school debating league.

The literary society gave a fine entertainment Thursday evening, November 4, in the high school assembly room.

A complete playground apparatus has been ordered for the Moro school.

The teachers of the grades entertained the pupils and their parents at the Opera House last Friday evening. Various and amusing costumes were worn by the little folks and their instructors. Mr. Bowman's boys gave some good athletic work as a stunt. Miss Duncan's room sang a very ghostly song. Miss Kessi's room gave a dramatization of "The Pied Piper." Mrs. Muir's little folks gave a singing game. Outdoor games entertained the youngsters along with bobbing for apples and fortunes. The usual Hallowe'en lunch of cider, doughnuts and cookies was served.

The student body of the high school held a Hallowe'en party Friday evening in Burnett's hall which was artistically decorated with the school colors, corn stalks and pumpkins. Everyone came masked and Mr. Dunton was awarded the prize as the best masked man and Miss Dyke received the one for the best masked lady. The evening was taken up with all kinds of games that go with Hallowe'en. Late in the evening cider, doughnuts, pickles, olives and sandwiches were served for refreshments.

Marie Morrison,
Geo. Hansen,
Committee.

To the Ladies—A special sale of seasonable hats at one-third off is now on. To apply on all hats in stock. Mrs. Mildred Mortenson, Moro.

Burnett's picture show will next week change location to the Arthur Phillips building.

Mrs. R. J. Ginn is visiting at College Springs, Iowa, called east by the sickness of her sister.

Mrs. W. G. C. Woods received a fine crate of barred rock pullets by express last Friday.

Carbolium, fresh stock, direct from Germany, now on sale at The Observer Book Store.

L. V. Eakin is having a 44x64 barn built on his Rutledge farm, known as the Adams quarter.

Best mullage and brushes at the Observer Book Store.

The Moro Harness Shop is well supplied to fill your needs in harness, leather goods, horse blankets, etc.

D. A. Maxwell is having O. A. Ramsey build a bunk house on his farm and do some general carpenter repair work.

Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Ramsey left for Portland Monday where Mrs. Ramsey underwent an operation at St. Vincent's. Dr. Poley left the same day by auto, via The Dalles, to perform the operation.

The Ladies Aid Society was entertained last Thursday at the home of Mrs. Roy Benson, forty-seven ladies being present. Guessing games occupied the major portion of the afternoon. Refreshments were served.

J. K. Mersinger and family, accompanied by Mrs. Grimes of Wasco, were in the city Saturday from Rufus. J. K. reports that an early rain helped him and some of his neighbors drill their wheat early and now it is well up and growing sturdily.

Europe wants all Pacific northwest wheat that she can secure. Last week the wheat going into the American steamer Minnesota, loading for Europe, was purchased by English dealers before it was placed on board the vessel, at 95¢ cents on the loading truck.

The spotlight has been turned on Oregon's marvelous industrial and agricultural resources at the second annual Land Products Show now on in Portland. Through the endeavors of Supt. D. E. Stephens, of the Experiment Farm, Sherman county is well represented with a genuinely worthy exhibit and will reap much benefit from the affair.

The auction sale of farm merchandise at the Clarence Whitman farm, east of Grass Valley, was a success from reports of those present. The average prices received were better than expected and a good crowd was in attendance. It pays to advertise your sales in the Observer and it also pays well to have an auctioneer like C. G. Huls on the job.

The Boardman Literary Society held their first meeting for the new term last Saturday evening. The school children of the district gave a short program after which the following officers were elected: Frank Hennaglin, president; Herman Christianson, vice-president; Clyde Woods, secretary; Minnie Wunder, librarian; James Kenny, sergeant-at-arms. The remainder of the evening was spent in playing Hallowe'en games and fortune-telling. The school served refreshments at the close of the games. Everyone reports an excellent time.

The New York Tribune is depicting in cartoons American history as it would be if interpreted in terms of present-day currency in politics. The first cartoon represented George Washington refusing command of the Continental army because he was "too proud to fight"; and other subjects are: Patrick Henry delivering his famous speech; "Give me liberty or give me 'strict accountability'"; Benjamin Franklin informing George III that the Declaration of Independence was for "home consumption" only; General Grant writing his memorable dispatch: "I intend to talk it out on this line if it takes all summer."
