

You will never go back to Wheat Sacks!

There is a better way to handle wheat than in sacks. Only three places handle wheat in sacks: Argentine, Australia, and the Pacific Northwest. The governments of Argentine and Australia are putting in the bulk system and the war price on sacks is doing the same thing here.

Save the price of sacks every year. Here's How

Bulk System, one year only. Turn the hogs into the stubble as soon as you are through threshing	Cost of Sacks. To be paid every year at 14% cent.

The Proper Place to Store Your Grain is on the Farm

And if you are thinking of an elevator at the track, we are now designing and building many track elevators of from 15,000 bushels up to 100,000 bushel, and can furnish complete plans and guaranteed costs.

Rapidly fluctuating prices on material make it impossible to protect above prices for any length of time.

We hear a lot of talk now about concrete elevators. Let's see if there is any economy in concrete elevators, take a 60,000 bushel track elevator costing in timber construction not to exceed $7,000 fully equipped with most expensive machinery and costing in concrete at least $20,000.

The increased investment at 8 per cent would be $1040 yearly. Say you carried no insurance on the concrete elevator and the insurance on the timber elevator, fully insured at $1.75 per $100, would be 60,000 bushels at 70c insured for 6 months, $367; and $7,000 on the building for 12 months at $1.75 would be $122, or a total of $489 yearly insurance on timber building and wheat as against $1040 yearly interest on increased investment of concrete. A saving of about $550 yearly by having a timber elevator; and you are fully insured.

There is only a limited amount of elevator timber in this country. It's being used up now. Every day sees another community adopt the bulk system of handling grain.

Some endure low spirits, others take something for them. The first are the bravest, but they are also presumptuous enough to insist that the others shall endure low spirits, too. Misery loves company.

Your chickens will soon pay for them selves in increased egg production if you will use a quart can of carbolineum around the chicken house and perches; you can get it at the Observer Book Store.

Persons who suppose that the right kind of preparedness would make America jingoistic should study Switzerland. The Swiss, if they had not had a strong volunteer army and compulsory training, would not have been able to save themselves from invasion since August of 1914.

The ladies of the Upper Hay Canyon and Fairview neighborhood have formed a Thursday afternoon Pleasure Club and plan to meet at each other's home every two weeks by alphabetical selection. The next meeting will be on the 27th at Mrs. Wm. Burras; the last was at Mrs. P. C. Axtell.

N. W. Thompson has bought one of the inside lots that formed the Blue Barn corral and will build a corrugated iron structure with a concrete foundation, to be used as an implement shed when the Moro Hardware & Implement Co. moves into the new concrete building to be built where formerly stood the Phillips building.

Fear of contagion from whooping cough necessitated the private christening by Rev. A. J. Adams of two children at the residence of Frank E. Fortner last Sunday. Parents and children were Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Scott, of Klondike, a son; and Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Fortner, of Moro, a daughter.

Thursday, May 11. Dr. Freeze, the eye specialist of Portland, will be at Hotel Moro all day. All those suffering from headaches or eye troubles should consult him free at his hotel office as he does not carry his instruments from house to house. At Wasco May 12th and at Grass Valley May 10th.

Men have been busy the last week tearing down the old Blue Barn, a Sherman county landmark for the past 25 years. The building was sold to L. W. Ross for old lumber and he, in turn, will sell the most of it to other people. All the business section of Moro is pleased to have the building go as it has been an unnecessary fire hazard for several years.

Jas. Stewart, deputy game warden for the district of Sherman, Gilliam and Wheeler, the three lowest counties in the state in receipts from hunting and fishing licenses, has been notified by the state fish and game commission that he is high man in the subscription taking contest for the Oregon Sportsman with a list of 207 names and that he wins the new hat. The nearest competitor was the warden for Marion county with a list of 132. Mr. Stewart was also high man in the first contest, with a list of 225.
