The first baseball game of the season was played Sunday last on the local grounds between the Grass Valley and Moro nines.
And Manager Jackson's bunch of huskies didn't do a thing to the visitors—they simply outplayed them in every position and rannings around them until they were tired out. Score: Moro 21; Grass Valley, 0.

up in bed and able to converse without tiring, after his long sick spell.

Members of the Sherman and Wasco county courts will hold a conference in The Dalles June 6 to make plans for the construction of a free bridge at the mouth of the Deschutes river or the purchase of the present toll bridge.
The indications are that the long-needed free bridge over the Deschutes will soon be provided. M.
A. Moody, owner of the present toll bridge, will meet with the two county courts.

This week concludes the current term of school for Moro district.
Program of events that generally take place at this time began last Sunday when Rev. B. T. Smith preached the baccalaureate sermon in the M. E. church Sunday evening. Commencement exercises and awarding of diplomas to the graduating class were held in the opera house Thursday evening. The track and field sports and declamatory and oratorical contests between the schools of the county were held at Wasco Friday.

Recognizing the usefulness and labor saving qualities of the Maytag power washer as used in the family of their son, Omar G.
Sayrs, it was but a short time before Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Sayrs decided that each one of their four married daughters should also have one in their families. Last week Ginn, Coleman & Co. delivered an electric Maytag washer to Mrs. Via Race at Mosier, an electric Maytag to Mrs. R. T.
Morgan at Moro, and a gasoline power Maytag washer to Mrs.
Clare Axtell and Mrs. W. A. Morgan, both living east of Moro.
With the gift of these four power Maytag washers each one of their five married children now possess the best method to make the work of Blue Monday as near a pleasure as it can be made.
