Water trough and tank material now on hand for any size job. Get your order in early. See Foss & Co. about it.

Mr. and Mrs. Soren Hansen and son Ova were Kent visitors at The Dalles Tuesday and at Moro on Decoration Day.

Try Golden West Coffee if you are particular. For sale at Moro Trading Co. Money back if not satisfactory.

The coal shortage in Moro was relieved Sunday evening by the arrival of a car of nut coal at the Tumalum Lumber Yards.

C. E. Adams, plumbing and tining expert, left Tuesday for The Dalles, where he has a contract to place a roof on a new house.

Mrs. R. Q. Mills, sister to Mrs. T. E. Hulery, has been granted a divorce and has had her maiden name, Esther McKinney, restored.

E. E. Barzee and wife and C. G. Silver and family were Portland visitors this week, going by auto via the Columbia Highway.

Chas. Boardman and family were Kent autoists in Moro last Saturday, coming by way of Rutledge and returning through Grass Valley.

W. L. Dillinger was in Moro Monday after Tumalum material with which to rebuild his windmill tower, toppled over last winter by the wind.

I can now make immediate delivery on the Super Six, the Grant Six and the Maxwell. Call or write me at Wasco, Ore. J. R. Kaseberg.

C. H. and W. E. Howell have bought the Robert Kaseberg farm west of Wasco, paying at the rate of $70 an acre, or a total of $125,900 for the land without crop or outfit. Mr. Kaseberg last fall bought a section of this same land from the E. O. L. Co. for $50 an acre.

Mrs. Irving Kunsman and Mrs. Claud Thompson will entertain the Thursday Pleasure Club the afternoon of June 7th at the home of Mrs. Kunsman.

Geneva, the 8-year-old daughter of P. L. Dillinger, is seriously ill with broncho-pneumonia, complicated with whooping-cough. A special nurse is with her.

J. R. Hinshaw, the horse buyer, is at Moro after the best animals he can find, especially mares. The price is not too high if you have the stuff that is worth it.

L. B. Payne is using the Fleck Orchards auto truck to haul sand from Rufus to the Roy Powell farm for use in plastering and cement work on his new home.

A car load of Cheney Rotary Rod Weeder, the kind that surely gets the weeds and makes money for the farmer, has arrived at the Moro Hardware & Implement Co.

When an autoist buys tubes, blow-out patches or boots, they want fresh stock. Foss & Co. These are evidently all the posts for sale in the county, as one farmer drove from Rufus Monday after a supply from the Moro yard.

Lots better than wheat and a better feed for hogs is Albers Bros. Berkshire Hog Feed, made from molasses, corn, barley, wheat and other ingredients. For sale by Independent Warehouse & Milling Co., Wasco.

The car of extra fine cedar posts recently arrived at the Tumalum Lumber Co. yards are going fast. These are evidently all the posts for sale in the county, as one farmer drove from Rufus Monday after a supply from the Moro yard.

A patriotic service will be held in "Kent" Sunday, 2 p. m., when the work of the Army Y. M. C. A. will be presented by Rev. Robertson of Moro. Some layman will accompany him; so everybody please make an effort to be present.

J. W. Messinger and wife are visitors in the county from McMinnville. Mr. Messinger is on a trade for property near The Dalles. He says he wants to get back where he is better acquainted and the sun shines at least once in awhile.

Moro Auxilliary of the Red Cross at their regular meeting Tuesday last, among other business transacted, decided to send one of their members to Portland to confer with the state organization and gather the routine of the work expected of them, and for this important duty selected Mrs. C. L. Poley to make the trip. All members are requested to be present at next Tuesday's meeting, as there will be plenty of work for all to do.

Henry DeMoss arrived home last week after an absence of several months at advance agent for the DeMoss Entertainers, who will return next week after completing their engagements in south western Washington.

Barnum Bros. & Peetz have sold their holdings on the DesChutes to Edwin Mays. The property includes 1080 acres along the breaks, three sheep camps, fencing, corrals, etc., used when the parties selling were running sheep west of Moro.

Two of our local auto drivers ventured close to collisions with other cars Sunday afternoon. One had an interview with the judge at the request of one of his near victims, and promises to go slower in the future disposed of the case temporarily.

W. C. Bolton, of Friend, Ore., writes us that the Kingsley Local of the Farmers' Educational and Co-operative Union of America, will hold their seventh annual picnic at Friend, Ore., on Saturday, June 9, 1917. A good program is being prepared.

With the exception of one bridge about a mile south of Hay Canyon warehouses, the new grade up Hay Canyon is now in first-class condition for any kind of travel, says R. C. Byers, road supervisor in charge of the work. Placing the bridge is waiting the arrival of material.

A coincidence of interest is that the winning oration at the Declaratory contest last Friday at Wasco was written by Prof. F. E. Dunton, as well as the oration that won the gold medal for Moro last year. This year Thelma Buxton won the medal and last year Grace Muir.

Martin Hansen and family have moved to their summer home in the Cascade mountains near Redmond on the Metolious river. O. L. Belshee will soon join the Moro summer colony at that place. They have several head of horses with them to use as pack animals on their trips to the lakes back of their summer homes.

Elmer Ralston Barzee and Lois Eliza Schaeffer were married at the home of the brides' parents near Erskine, Thursday night, May 24, Rev. John Robertson officiating. Miss Schaeffer is a graduate of the Moro high school this term, and the marriage immediately followed the graduating exercises.

Big Eddy, jr., a former employee of the Observer, who is now living at Waterville, Wash., and Miss Kathryn McCormick were married at the home of the brides' parents at that place on Friday, May 25. Mr. Eddy, while in Moro, took considerable interest in the success of the athletic sports of Moro high school.

Editor Ireland and wife, accompanied by E. S. Ackerman from Moro and Mrs. Ireland's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Ashby from Grass Valley, were autoists visiting the Kent section Sunday afternoon. We found the roads rough from the recent rains, but the day an ideal summer sample. On our return from South of Kent we met Luther Davis just returning from a days' fishing in Buck Hollow and were presented with "a mess" of 16 fine mountain trout.

The Observer wishes to commend the Spirit of Wasco; the cohesion of its business men and residents adjacent to that city when any business of benefit to the community is under consideration. The work done to prepare the grounds and grand stand for the Sherman county field meet, if paid for in dollars and cents, represented a considerable sum; besides, the time limit within which the work was done, was short. The result was something for the county at large to emulate.

When returning from The Dalles Tuesday evening with his family in his new Reo seven passenger, Lester Smith was run down by a man going at an excessive speed and on the wrong side of the road. Lester was going up grade when he saw the collision was to happen, and stopped and crowded to the bank. The Reo had its radiator broken and fenders crumpled. We understand that the man causing the accident is a foreigner not financially responsible, and claiming now to be a little unbalanced mentally.

The Moro Red Cross Auxilliary is determined to increase its membership and to further this end two teams, each composed of several ladies and captained by Mesdames L. Barnum E. H. Moore respectively, have been selected to canvas for new members. To make the contest spirited the team securing the lesser number of new members will entertain the other team at an afternoon tea.

G. B. Bourhill and Rev. Robertson were elected at a meeting of a number of subscribers to the fund from Moro for the Army Y. M. C. A., held Saturday afternoon, to elect two members from this place on the county permanent committee to distribute the relief fund for Sherman county. At a similar meeting at Wasco R. C. Atwood and D. W. Wade were elected to represent that place. The names of the committee members from Grass Valley, Kent and Rufus have not been forwarded to the secretary.
