Moro Trading Co Moro, Oregon

er family living between Moro and Grass Valley. She is survived by her mother, two sisters and a brother who now live in California.

T. W. Alley has sold the outfit and lease which he and his brother-in-law, E. M. McKinney, had on the Lee & Belshe farm to Chester W. Smith, who has been farming the Landry place on the north side of Gordon ridge. Mr. Smith gets a farm of about 1200 acres, with 500 now in grain and 700 acres to plow.

When in The Dalles last month we met F. E. Fortner, former cashier of the Bank of Moro and now living near Prineville, where he has large stock interests. He said he was still pleased with the prospects ahead of him in his new occupation and liked the outdoor life much better than he at first thought he would.

W. A. Rigdon is working at the G. E. Wellen place farmed by Clarence Mersinger, southeast of Moro, where he is superintending the building of a 12,000 gallon capacity cistern, gravity water system pumped with a 3-h.p. engine, an 18x20 garage, a 16x30 machine shed, cement water troughs and a dutch kitchen addition to the house.

J. H. Elliott, when in town Tuesday, informed us that he had received word from his son, Milo Elliott, saying that by the time word reached here he would be on the ocean bound for Fort Vancouver, B. C., for discharge from the Canadian army. Milo enlisted early in the Canadian army and has seen considerable service in France.

While in Portland recently we ran across Dick Bowen, a former resident of this city. When Dick left Moro he went to Lind to work in a shop at that place, from there he went to Calgary and Edmonton, Canada, but he said he liked to wear the American flag first, so came back to the States to work in the ship yards.

The road between the L.L. Peetz farm and the top of Nigger ridge was being dragged and put into good condition the first of the week by W. A. McDonald. While passing over this section Sunday we noticed a considerable improvement in the condition of the road bed. The snow of Tuesday and Wednesday of this week will soften it up, but another dragging soon after the departure of the snow will put this piece of road in fine condition.

Excuse and Failure Synonymous. An excuse is an admission of failure. It is a plea for leniency, for suspension of sentence. It is a step toward loss of self-confidence. It is the beginning of life failure. And that man or woman who expects success to crown his or her old age should go to any legitimate extreme to prevent the possibility of having to offer excuses for failure in execution. Excuses are the allies of bankrupt lives. Achievement is difficult, but profitable in its large and painful returns.—Milwaukee Journal.

Freshest Eggs and Finest Butter

Butter and eggs have a highly nutritive value and should have a prominent place on every table. But quality is an important feature to watch.

Rich, delicious butter adds greatly to the tastiness of the meal, and we always have plenty, both creamery and country made. Cheaper grades for cooking.

Our eggs come in fresh every day—right from the poultry farms. And we charge no more than you would pay elsewhere for inferior quality.
