at Rufus from a brief visit at The Dalles, where she was a guest of her mother, who in turn is now visiting her daughter at the farm.

W. E. Hulery and wife have returned from a visit to Portland. Mrs. Hulery visited at Salem while W. F. took in the auto show and in turn was taken in at the auto dealers jinx party Friday of last week.

Mrs. J. M. Axtell returned Tuesday from a visit at Hillsboro, Oregon. She was accompanied by her son Floyd and family who are leaving that city for a new home in Montana and are visiting in Moro before leaving.

Word has been received that Mrs. Wm Morrison has improved in health to the extent of being permitted to sit up part of each day. It will be several weeks before they will return to Moro and in the meantime will rent rooms in The Dalles.

The concrete foundation under the east end of the bridge over Grass Valley canyon at Nish is not safe. Flood waters have washed and undermined the pier until any car hitting the structure at more than 20 miles an hour will probably push it into the creek.

E. W. Mason bought the New Home sewing machine offered for $1 less each day by Ginn, Coleman & Co. The price of $46 taking it Wednesday. So much interest was taken in the proposition that another machine will be offered by the firm on the same terms.

Mrs. Bert Shelton, who has been visiting with her husband at Wasco, returned to Goldendale the first of the week. Mr. Shelton recently bought the meat market at Wasco, but cannot move his family from Goldendale until either a house is vacated or a new one built in that city.

N. J. Willard has had the Willard Lunch Room at Biggs thoroughly renovated and repainted. It is surprising how much a little paint, paper and calcimine, mixed with efficient labor, can brighten and improve an interior. The lunch at The Willard is most appetizing and the coffee better than most Portland restaurants. Try a lunch next time you are in Biggs.

Henry Gosch and wife were up from The Dalles this week. Henry and wife are old time settlers of Sherman county, formerly farming in the Monkland section, where they yet have farming interests. They are also old-time friends of Mrs. Johnson and family and were here as friends to attend the funeral of Henry Johnson, son of Mrs. Johnson.

L. Barnum, manager of the Bank of Moro, has been offered the position of vice-president and manager of the First National Bank at The Dalles. The formal election to that position is expected to be consummated Thursday of this week, and until definite action is taken by The Dalles bank no action will be taken by the Moro bank to fill the vacancy here.

Garden seeds furnished this office for distribution by Congressman N. J. Sinnott are going fast. If you want any of these seeds come in and make your selection or write for them. Delivered postage free anywhere in the county. Each teacher of a rural school has been supplied with some of these seeds through the office of County School Superintendent Curfman.

James S. Stewart, joint representative with A. M. Wright for the counties of Sherman, Gilliam and Wheeler, will be in Sherman county next week, beginning Monday, as representative of the membership committee of the Oregon Chamber of Commerce. It is anticipated that a number of Sherman county citizens will identify themselves with the organization as a result of the visit of Mr. Stewart.

Monday, March 17. Dr. Freeze, the well-known Portland eye specialist will make his regular visit to Moro and may be consulted free at Moro Hotel parlors all day. Free demonstration of the new "One Piece" lens, the perfect lens for both near and far vision. Headaches, eyeaches, crosseyes and other eye troubles given careful attention. You are assured of the newest and best in lenses and mountings, and all guaranteed.

Local Horses in Spring Race Meets

Local horsemen will be represented on the spring racing circuit this year for the first time since the circuit was inaugurated. Three of our local horsemen have made arrangements with Eddie Brain, a successful driver of track horses, by which Mr. Brain takes the local horses and trains them for the circuit and also handles them during the various meets. Under this arrangement Mr. Brain left last Saturday with Heighho, owned by Roy Powell; Hal C., owned by A. R. Barzee; the 5-year-old filly owned by K. A. McPherson, and later will have Razzle Patch, owned by E. M. Alley of Grass Valley. The horses will have their preliminary training on the State Fair track at Salem, before moving onto the regular circuit which now includes Condon and later, probably next year, Sherman county at the fair grounds near Moro.

Pure Bred Bulls Coming

Does it pay to raise good stock? There are a few Sherman county farmers who really believe that it does, and believe it strong enough to put up the price that it takes to buy high class, pure bred bulls for use in their particular neighborhoods.

These men have organized themselves into the Sherman County Co-operative Short Horn Breeders Association. The bulls will be owned by the association and at the end of every two years they will be exchanged among the breeders in the different blocks under the supervision of the board of directors.

Under this plan the bulls purchased at this time will serve the committees for the lifetime of such an animal, thus dividing the initial investment of $250 paid for a bull over a period of six or eight years.

The association will also replace any bulls that prove to be extra poor breeders or which die from no fault of the parties in charge by assessment of the different blocks. Any unavoidable loss is thus distributed and one block will not be called upon to stand a total loss at any time.

This movement, started by A. H. Barnum, chairman of the livestock improvement committee of the Farm Bureau, is meeting with the approval of our leading farmers. Indications are that there will be a large number purchased next year. With pure bred bulls of the same breed in every community the complexion of the livestock of the county will be entirely changed.

The motto should be "A pure bred bull in every community—to the block with the scrub."

Chester Anderson is yet at the hospital in Portland, but so far recovered as to be able to sit up part of each day. Wednesday Chester celebrated his birthday by trying to regain the use of his legs.

Mrs. J. A. Nicholens and children left Tuesday for The Dalles. Mr. Nicholens is packing the furniture and will leave as soon as a house can be secured. Mrs. Nicholens has made her home on the old homestead all her life, a period of 38 years, the longest, probably, of any one who has lived in Sherman county since its settlement by the early pioneers, and to her that place will always be "home."
