IN MEMORIUM

Otis Wesley Dillinger, oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Dillinger, was born in Gilmore, Washington, June 4th, 1902, and died at the home of his parents near DeMoss, Oregon, November 24th, 1920.

Wesley was born in the parsonage in Gilmore where his father was serving his first pastorate. His home has been with his parents, they living two years each at Gilmore, Belmont, and Centerville and one year in The Dalles. The past twelve years his home has been in Sherman county.

He was an industrious young man; successful at farming, but being of a mechanical turn of mind was satisfied on the farm so had laid aside his earnings that he might attend the auto school in Portland. His plans were all made to go in a few weeks and it must have been a disappointment to him for his mind dwelt much upon auto repairing and in his deliriums he would talk of his work.

He united with the Methodist church when a small boy and held his membership in the Moro Methodist church at the time of his death. He leaves to mourn their loss: his parents, two brothers, Joyce and Everett, and one sister, Laura, of the immediate family besides other relatives and many friends. Funeral services were held Friday morning, November 25th, from the Methodist church, conducted by Rev. H. H. Miles and Rev. E. E. McVicker, interment being in Rose Hill cemetery.

Card of Thanks

We wish to sincerely thank all our friends who were so sympathetic and helpful during the sickness and at the time of the death of our son and brother. W. L. Dillinger and family

The theme Sunday morning at the Presbyterian church is, "The thought of man ruleth his life." In the evening the subject of the sermon will be "The Centurion's confession." Also there will be an educational film put on the screen. All are welcome. Walker, manager of New Moro Hotel, lived with his parents and the evening of Mr. Cannon's arrival was spent in bringing many reminiscent periods back to memory.

Wilber Woods, from Lewiston, Idaho, was visiting in Moro Tuesday. He expected to continue his trip to Portland before returning to Idaho. He brought word of an auto accident that occurred on a mountain grade 18 miles south east of Lewiston last Sunday, one of the victims being Blaine Hansell who formerly lived at Moro. A party of four was going down the grade on low compression when the steering gear refused to work at a sharp turn. One of the occupants jumped at the turn when warned by the driver of the car. Another was thrown clear when the car turned over, Blaine fell through the car roof on the second turn over, while the driver was thrown out on the third. The car was demolished when it hit a rock 200 feet down the mountain side. The injuries to the men are not expected to result seriously.
