The Fourth at Wasco

The celebration of the Fourth of July this year in the county will be more of a large community effort than at any previous time for a number of years. Since the entry of the United States into the World War it has become of more significance to properly celebrate the Independence of this country and the word Independence itself has now a greater and newer meaning to many.

Because of this change that has come over the public in the last few years it is eminently proper that the celebration of the day be in the hands of the American Legion and to that end all Sherman county are back of the local unit; members of the American Legion in making this a complete success.

The American Legion Post at Wasco are trying to handle all features of the celebration without asking the usual contributions from the public and the business men of the county, as was always done in former times. To this end they have inaugurated a "Goddess of Liberty" contest open to any young lady in the county. The choice will be decided by means of votes sold at one cent each to the friends of the different contestants.

Regulations governing the contest provide that no one can withdraw and have their votes placed to the credit of any other contestant. This leaves the voting exactly as each one who pays for them wants it to be and the result is decided by the amount of interest aroused by the friends of each contestant.

Thursday those named as contestants and the amount of votes to their credit was as follows:

Marguerite Foss, 1950
Alice Farrington, 1860
Gladys Tate, 1450
Clara Hilderbrand, 1000
Ruth Akers, 610
Greta Freeman, 340
Gladys Pound, 250
Gladys Morrow, 210

Field Day At Experiment Station

People of Moro and vicinity can visit the Experiment Station at any time, but many of them seldom do.

Saturday, June 25, has been set aside as a special day to explain the work of the station to every one interested. Farmers from all parts of the county will be present, and Mr. Stephens is especially anxious to have a large number of farmers from the vicinity of Moro attend. There are many new things to see on the Station this year. There are some striking differences in the winter wheat plots sown at different dates last fall.

There are also several new wheat varieties in which every farmer will be interested.

You will want to spend at least an hour going over the tillage experiments to observe the effect on the wheat of different methods of cultivating summer fallow. In the nursery will be shown some new wheats that are immune to stinking smut and some very promising hybrid wheats. These and many other interesting things will be shown on June 25, from two to five in the afternoon.

"Fatty" Arbutle In Rompers

When the poet said, "Make me a child again just for tonight," he was not thinking about "Fatty" Arbutle, but Chubby Roscoe takes him at his word in his new picture, "The Life of the Party." He dons rompers, socks, and a very juvenile straw hat and goes through the streets of New York thus attired—in a taxi-cab. The occasion is a children's party for the Better Babies' League and Roscoe, as a general lawyer who always aims to please and who has been attracted by the eyes of the pretty secretary of the League, becomes quite the "life of the party."

Afterwards, however, when he is homeward bound with a chauffeur who is more or less hors de combat on account of some bootleg whiskey, the trouble commences.

"The Life of the Party," adapted from a funny story by Irvin S. Cobb, is coming to Moro Theater this next Saturday.

Efficiency experts attention! In order that the men on the morning shift at the rock crusher may maintain their average output of rock Engineer Wall is giving the crew a lunch at 10 a.m. at the expense of the county. The morning shift had six long hours between 7 a.m. and 1 p.m. without a bite to eat. Mr. Wall has found out that during the last hour the output drops well below the average and this is estimated to be close to two yards of rock lost each day because of the empty stomachs and therefore he inaugurated the free lunch system with a ten minute rest period. So far the experiment has proven successful. The lunch consists of sandwich and coffee all around.

Dr. C. H. Johns, Chiropractor, has divided his time between Wasco and Moro. He will be at Moro Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday and at the Sherman Hotel, Wasco, on Monday, Wednesday and Friday of each week.

More Wins From Grass Valley

The local baseball nine defeated the Grass Valley aggregation on the home diamond last Sunday by a score of two to one. The game went 11 arduous innings, with Grass Valley and Moro each scoring one run in the 1st and 2d innings, respectively. In the last of the 11th, with two down and two strikes called on him, Garthhaffner for Moro lined out a hot one through 2d base and made safe. Moore next up drew a walk, and B. Tomlin following, hit to VanLandingham on 8d, who threw wild to 1st, letting in the winning run. The game was closely played through-out, and was the best game staged on the local diamond this season, except for occasional wrangling, at which certain individuals seemed to "shine." "Lefty" Baldwin occupied the mound for the locals and pitched a fine brand of ball, striking out nine men, including Bray who was generally conceded to be a sure hitter.

Baldwin allowed only three safe hits in the entire 11 innings. He also started at bat, getting three safe hits in four trips to the plate. Rutledge in the box for Grass Valley struck out four men. Following is the line-up:

Grass Valley	Moro
Bray catcher	Hardin
Rutledge pitcher	Baldwin
Heghor 1st base	Andersen
Maderas 2d base	Moore
VanLand 3d base	Tomlin
Davis short stop	Mathews
Wicox right field	Garthhaffner
Baker left field	Canning
Sharp center field	G. Tomlin
Vintin mascot	Kunsman

Market Road Funds

Engineer Wall has begun a survey of the new market road leading from this city into the Monkland section, leaving the Sherman Highway directly in front of the Hockman farm over a new railroad crossing and using a saddle in the hills to cross the present Hockman grade and continuing on the west sidehill to a point approximately 450 yards south of the turn at the old Cochran corner. It is the intention to grade this piece of rock and surface it this summer to a point as near the I. K. Axell farm as the market road funds will permit.

Sherman county this year will spend close to $42,000 for market road work. Of this amount $9000 will be spent at Kent, $4000 as a carry over from last year and $5000 from this year; $19,000 will be spent on the Monkland unit, leading from the Hockman farm; $14,000 on the unit in and through Moro. The citizens of Moro also put up an additional $17,000 on this last project.

Sherman county is divided into four market road districts: Wasco all north of Gordon Ridge eastward to the Grass Valley canyon; Moro from that line south to Nigger Ridge; Grass Valley from Nigger Ridge to Bourbon and Kent the balance.

Wasco district pays 40 per cent each year into the market road fund, Moro and Grass Valley each 25 per cent, and Kent 10 per cent. So far the Wasco district has not received any benefit from this fund, as the policy has been to put the work for each year as near one place as possible.

Last year was the first season Market Road funds were available in this county, about $30,000 being expended at and near Grass Valley and at Kent.

In the 90 years since the opening of Japan less than one-half of 1 per cent of the total population have embraced Christianity. Some contend, therefore, that Japan's reply to Christianity is a polite but emphatic "No." Others see in this an incentive to renewed effort, to a closer study of conditions and methods of approach, says Minneapolis Tribune. All agree, however, that the work must go on, that the faith must never be lowered that has inscribed on its banners: "Go ye out into all the world and preach the Gospel." In the life of a nation 90 years is but a moment. With Japan it has been a moment filled with movement and change. If one judges Christianity in Japan broadly one cannot escape the conclusion that the spiritual gain has exceeded numerical growth; that results have warranted the long labor of the Christian missionaries.

While an individual apparently may do a number of things at once, psychologists agree that the mind can contain only one thought at a time. Thoughts, however, as we all know, can change with lightning-like rapidity. If then, we fill the mind by conscious effort with positive, optimistic good thoughts, there is no room for negative, pessimistic, detrimental thoughts. "As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he." More and more is this age-old truth impressing itself upon the modern, analytical mind. This is the age of triumph of personal efficiency. Right thinking is having its day. For proof, study the leaders in your community.

There are undoubtedly acres upon acres of land in the eastern part of the United States, too poor for either garden or pasture purposes, which would readily produce white pine trees. The professor of forestry at the Massachusetts Agricultural college calls attention to the price of $30 to $35 a thousand feet for which pine logs are selling on the stump, and says that pine stumps will be as valuable for the next 30 or 40 years as it is today. His advice to farmers who own large areas of unimproved lands, to plant them with white pine, with a certainty of profitable sale, would seem to be worthy of consideration.

E. E. Barzee and wife left Tuesday morning on an auto trip to Portland, Klamath Falls, Medford, Crater Lake and other southern Oregon points, expecting to return about July 4th.

Homer McKinney, formerly of Moro, brother to Mrs. T. E. Hulery, and Miss Luella Edmonds of Centerville, Wash., were married at Corvallis June 11th. They will make their home in that city.

S. P. Brisbin and wife left Tuesday morning for Portland, and Washington county points where they will visit during the next three weeks with relatives and old-time friends. During his absence Ralph Brisbin will be in charge at the undertaking parlor.

A lively debatable question at the rock crusher at the morning lunch hour Wednesday was the question "Do dogs like compressed air?" The final analysis was that no one could say as to the species, but that there was one dog in Moro that did not. This particular canine, while nosing around at the crusher that morning, came upon one of the drillers blowing the dust out of a hole with a long pipe connected to the compressed air hose. The dog became interested in the pipe, so the driller turned the air into his face. Then and there this member of the canine race became angry, not realizing that the invisible thing that was bothering him was unbiteable he tried his best to get a firm hold with his teeth. The enemy evaded him until the driller resumed his work and the poor pup retired to a corner to think it over.
