MORO, OREGON

O. L. Belah returned Tuesday from a brief visit to Hood River.

T. C. Lee and family left Friday morning for a brief visit in Portland.

Arthur Phillips is having a 2-story addition built onto the rear of his residence.

"Back to the Farm," the Senior class play of Moro High will be given on May 18th.

Roy Kunsman is the owner of a new Studebaker light six, purchased thru the Foss & Co. agency in this city.

William Orcutt and wife are moving from Kent to Moro. Mr. Orcutt is taking special treatment under Dr. Polley.

Dr. C. L. Polley left Thursday noon for Portland, to attend a conference of doctors of the northwest states held this week.

W. H. Hill was hauling lumber this week for a new building on his farm west of town, to be used as a milk and cream separator room in connection with his dairy.

R. C. Atwood, of Wasco, and E. O. McCoy and L. Barnum, of The Dalles, were visitors in Moro this week attending the quarterly directors' meeting of the Bank of Moro.

Sixty members of the Dorcas Society enjoyed the hospitality of the new L. L. Peetz home Wednesday afternoon, it being the usual social held each month by the society.

Hans Thompson and wife motored to Portland last Friday, where Mrs. Thompson submitted to a successful operation for a goitre that had been bothering her for some time.

Max Linder, the famous continental comedian, comes to Moro Theatre in his own production, "Be My Wife," a rollicking, frolicsome, riotous, rip-roaring comedy, on Saturday.

Helen Cowgill of O. A. C., working with industrial clubs in the extension division, was in Sherman county the first three days of the week. A total of fifteen clubs were visited.

Several different times during the last ten days snow has visited sections of Sherman county, particularly at Kent, where about a total of four inches of snow has fallen during that period.

An 8-horse team hitched to a disc working Monday in the Wilford Belah field became unruly and made a rapid driverless tour of the farm with the result that two horses were crippled, none seriously.

Rev. H. G. Hanson and C. J. Thompson have returned from attendance at Synod, held this year at Pendleton. Making the round trip by auto, they report the upper Columbia river highway as being in splendid condition.

Miss Ger. Morgan, who was recently seriously injured by a gasoline explosion at Bickleton, Washington, is staying with her grandparents, F. A. Sayre and wife, in this city. She is being given special treatment by Dr. Polley.

W. H. Williams, proprietor of the repair department of the Moro Deschutes garage, has added a dust-proof paint room for the convenience of car owners, where they can have their cars painted by any one they select or do it themselves.

Dr. J. C. Ghormley reports the safe arrival of Misses Dorothy and Donna Jean Knox, twin girls, at the Frank Knox home at Klondike, Tuesday morning, April 11th. Mr. Knox is the foreman of the W. W. M. Co. warehouse at Klondike.

In "No Woman Knows" is marvelously pictured the drama of a woman's battles with the world. Caught in a whirlpool of desperate experiences, she is finally swamped by the cross-currents of love and swept to the crest of happiness. It's a great picture.

A good deal of interest was once aroused over the question of whether Congress was going to place imethyldiamidiphenylmethane on the free list or not. Most of us were in doubt whether it was a drug, a high explosive or a new brand of religion.

Clarence Mersinger has rented the J. L. Matthes farm near Bourbon, recently secured by Don C. Wheat in the deal whereby he sold the Deschutes garage to Mr. Matthes. Mr. D. M. Pierce, operator of the White Truck Line, on Tuesday hauled Mr. Mersinger's furniture from DeMoss to his new home.

"No Woman Knows" will be the big attraction at Moro Theatre next Thursday, April 20th. It is far superior to the average play. Plunged into the game of life, no woman knows where road will lead to happiness. Here's a story of a woman who thought she knew what she wanted and went after it, only to find that it wasn't what she wanted after all.

In an essay contest put on by the state dental association, Emma Jean Stephens of Moro in the 5th and 6th grades class, and Marie Peetz of Eskine school in the 7th and 8th grades class, won first prizes in Sherman county. The subject of the essays was care of the teeth. The prize-winning papers in each county will be sent to Salem, where the final state awards will be made.

NEWS LETTER FROM KENT

Did somebody say Spring was here?

Der Goat wishes everyone a very happy Easter.

The County Superintendent was visiting our school on Wednesday.

The play "Miss Fearless & Co." was a success and was enjoyed by all.

As Easter Sunday will soon be here we presume that Teebie will wear his big hat.

The home of Frank Haynes was gladdened by the arrival of a daughter Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Guyton returned to their ranch near Wilcox last week.

The Kamp Kookery Klub and their leader, Mr. Sibby, hiked to Buck Hol-Saturday morning, returning home Sunday afternoon. All report a good time until the grub ran short.

We hear rumors of a baseball game between Grass Valley and Kent. If anything should happen we'll let you know later. The Kent boys have been taking lessons from Wilcox so we think Kent will stand a fairly good show of winning.

Discovery of an unusually large lode of pottery clay in the mountains of the Oregon Coast range, said to assay mostly aluminum and silica and to contain small portions of other minerals, has been reported by Peter Timm of Portland, who made the discovery while on a hunting trip.

L. H. Compton, warden of the Oregon State penitentiary since February, 1920, has announced that he had submitted his resignation to Governor Olcott to become effective May 1. Governor Olcott announced that he had decided to appoint J. W. Lewis, present deputy warden, to succeed Mr. Compton.

The first carload of lumber ever milled in transit in Lane county was manufactured by the Walters-Parks Lumber company of Eugene. The lumber was shipped by the Nebraska Bridge & Lumber company of Comstock to an eastern railway company, stopping in transit at the Eugene plant to be milled.

Fifty thousand dollars additional for forest fire prevention in the Pacific northwest will be available this year, according to a telegram to the Eugene chamber of commerce from United States Senator McNary. The withdrawal of the army aero service from this duty has necessitated the additional money.

More than 1000 acres of land will be devoted to flax growing in the Willamette valley this year, according to reports issued by the Willamette Valley Flax & Hemp company. The $50,000 necessary for organization has been subscribed and work on the several plants of the organization will start at an early date.
