A COLUMN OF BRIEF NEWS

Paragraphs on Community, County and State's Leading Events

W. S. Hall, from Kent, was a recent business visitor in Moro.

Frederick R. Nunn of Wasco and Lillian Fern Conway of Grass Valley were married in The Dalles on Monday, July 17th.

Mrs. W. H. Fairfield and daughters Reta and Ruth, from Newport, Oregon, were visiting in Sherman county during the week. Mrs. Fairfield is a sister to Mrs. O. P. King, and formerly lived at Grass Valley and at Kent.

A new piano has been purchased for the Community Hall at Kent. The hall is sponsored by farmers living in that vicinity. The intention is to dedicate the piano in the near future, when a harvest ball will be given in the hall.

Miss Mabel King, who has charge of the social and local news columns of the Daily Chronicle at The Dalles, was visiting last week-end with her brother, Glenn King, and family at the old homestead north of Grass Valley.

Herman Pape and wife drove "over" from Corvallis—a little matter of some 240 miles—the first of the week to look after their farm interests at the beginning of harvest. They arrived Monday and started on the return on Friday.

A petrified oak tree has been uncovered by workers engaged in the construction of The Dalles-California highway between The Dalles and Dufur. The tree was uncovered in excavating and is so located that it will be allowed to stand where it is as an object of interest to tourists. The tree was about four feet under the ground.

Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Axtell and niece, Lois Wilder, and Mrs. P. C. Axtell returned from Eugene Sunday, where they attended the wedding of Miss Nanette Axtell, of Eugene, and Mr. H. F. Franklin, of Portland. The newly wedded couple will make their home in Portland, where Mr. Franklin is engaged in business.

The Farmers Elevator & Supply Co. started receiving wheat at all of their grain depots this week. H. B. Belshoe was the first to deliver wheat at Hay Canyon; C. W. Smith first at Nish; Eugene Amidon first at Moro; O. G. Sayers first at Erskine; R. C. Byers first at DeMoss. The grain all tests good quality and averages between eight and fifteen sacks to the acre, as near as can be estimated.

The following news item, of interest to many Moro people, is taken from the July 8th issue of the Eureka, California, Humboldt Times: The first of the week Miss Eunice B. Coleman became the bride of Frank C. Fraser, near Carlotta, at the Holmes place. Mrs. Holmes being a sister of the bride. The wedding party assembled out of doors under the redwoods for the ceremony, which was as simple and quiet as could be; only the more immediate relatives being present, the bride's mother, Mrs. James E. Coleman having come from Oregon for the event. Following a brief wedding trip, the couple will make their home at Carlotta, California.

TEST PROVES HILL DAIRY HERD FREE FROM DISEASE

Dr. Beletski Conducts Tests Required by State Law on July 14-15-16th

The only herd of tested cows in this section is owned by W. H. Hill, proprietor of the Moro Dairy. Any one who is at all particular about the family supply of milk products for growing children can well take notice of this fact.

About two months ago, in his efforts to provide an absolutely pure dairy product for his customers, Mr. Hill tried to have his dairy herd tested for tubercular and other forms of disease. His efforts became known, thru rumor and misunderstanding, and several of his customers discontinued, but bettered themselves not at all when they turned to private sources of dairy supply because none of the cows around Moro had been tested under the conditions of the state law.

After several weeks of effort on the part of Mr. Hill, and following a letter from W. H. Lytle, D. V. M., state veterinarian and secretary of the Oregon State Live Stock Sanitary Board, notifying Mr. Hill that Dr. Beletski of Wasco "is thoroughly qualified" to make the test required by the state live stock board, all of the herd in the Hill dairy were tested on July 14th, 15th and 16th.

When making the required test a temperature reading is first made, then the animals are given a heavy feeding of hay, followed by more temperature readings, then a serum treatment, more temperature readings and observations as to the reaction to the test.

When the tests were concluded it was found that all the dairy herd were entirely free from all symptoms of contagious, infectious, or communicable disease, and thoroly sound and healthy animals. As a result of Mr. Hill's effort to provide the residents of Moro with a high grade of dairy products, he now holds Oregon State Live Stock Sanitary Board official health certificate No. 3291.

It is not uncommon, in a herd the size of Mr. Hill's, to find one or more animals that, while not unhealthy, cannot successfully pass all the required tests. That all the animals in this herd did meet all tests speaks highly of the past efforts of Mr. Hill to righteously serve his community.

Lost: Bay horse, about 1450 pounds; rangy built; branded mule shoe upside down on left shoulder; white mark on back. Reward. Finder notify Geo. Reisman, Moro, Oregon.

WHY DID SMITHSON CHOOSE THE UNITED STATES?

No one knows why James Smithson, an Englishman, bequeathed his fortune to the United States to found, at Washington, an "establishment for the increase and diffusion of knowledge among men."

Whatever his reason, it is certain that his gift formed the basis of the most important scientific organization in the country. The story of the Smithsonian Institution is told in one of the series of folders and booklets on Our Government now being issued by this Institution.
