Men as a whole are better dressed than women, but there is no reason for their being so. If there is anything more than anything else afflicting American women it is the inclination to overdecorate themselves. Simplicity is the test of a well-dressed man or woman.

Think of the money, mind and energy devoted to the prosecution, defense and punishment of criminals. What might it not achieve in constructive work if it could be diverted. Crime comes high, and it comes in droves.

Mars, in 1924, will be 35,000,000 miles from the earth as against the other extreme in the orbit of the planet of 284,000,000. Relatively unimportant, except that it may be good for a tire ad.

The boy of fifty years ago found diversion Saturdays whitewashing a fence or chopping half a cord of wood in the morning, and dispersing in a swimming hole all afternoon. And yet he had his fun.

The person who doesn't propose some sort of an amendment to the Constitution of the United States really isn't in the swim these days.

Chileans think American collars are designed for men with short necks. The Latin prefer altitude to comfort.

RAILWAY OFFERS SCHOLARSHIP TO CLUB MEMBERS

Club Member Ranking Highest at Fair Goes to O. A. C. at U. P. Expense

A scholarship paying the expenses of the winner of the contest to the summer session for members of boys' and girls' clubs at the Oregon Agricultural College next summer has been offered by the Union Pacific railway company to the Sherman county boy or girl making the best showing in club work at the Sherman county fair on October 11th and 12th, announced H. C. Seymour, state leader of boys' and girls' clubs, when he was in Moro Saturday.

The winner will be selected on the basis of 75 per cent on rank in club work, considering records and exhibits, and 25 per cent on activity of the club member in community affairs.

The judges will be Grace May Zevilly, county superintendent of schools, H. C. Seymour, state leader of boys' and girls' clubs, and a third person to be selected by these two.

The following members are eligible for the contest: calf club, Kent local leader, C. E. English, members, Walter Adams, Estoll Hartley, Paul Wilson, George Wilson and John Wilson; Moro local leader, A. M. Zevilly, members, Lenore Amidon, Willhage Hill, Thomas Stephens, Theodore Barnum, Harry McDonald and Eugene Amidon; individuals, Don O'Leary, Grass Valley, and Able Holt, Kent.

Faultry II, Kent, Durward Helyer and Jesse Helyer. Pig club, Grass Valley, individual, Don O'Leary.

The fact that Russians are eating tree bark may yet suggest something to American manufacturers of breakfast foods.

Sometimes, it is a question whether it is the "overhead" depressing business, or the "heels overhead" among the people.

THOUSAND ACRES WHEAT IN COUNTY CERTIFIED PURE

Five Varieties Inspected. Average of Purity 99.76 Per Cent

Over 1000 acres of wheat, including five different varieties, were certified in Sherman county by County Agent Carpenter and E. R. Jackman, crop specialist from O. A. C., on July 19th and 20th. The average of purity was 99.76 per cent. Federation, Hard Federation, Turkey Red, Forty Fold, and Triplet were the five varieties judged in the survey. Not all of the fields in the county that might have passed certification requirements were inspected, but only a few of the best ones of the most commonly grown varieties. The following fields of wheat passed the certification requirements, the number of acres, the kind of wheat and the percentage of purity being indicated:

E. A. Hoskinson Kent	160	H F	99.92
Wassermiller Kent	10	H F	99.78
Peter Peters Kent	100	40-F	99.52
Patjens & Andrews Kent	80	H F	99.70
Vern Coe Moro		T R	99.85
Vic Smith Wasco	60	T R	99.71
Vic Smith Wasco	40	T R	99.97
Vic Smith Wasco	320	T R	99.90
J. J. Wiley G. Valley	100	T R	99.63
Jim Wilson G. Valley	80	Tri.	99.47
G. Hoskinson Kent	60	H F	99.96
G. Hoskinson Kent	40	H F

The fields that are particularly fine from the standpoint of varietal purity are the 40 acres of Turkey Red on Vic Smith's place near Wasco, 60 acres of Hard Federation on Guy Hoskinson's place near Kent and 80 acres of Hard Federation on the Patjens & Andrews place west of Kent.

Every year there are farmers who buy seed wheat on account of their own seed being mixed or because they wish to change varieties. In getting new seed it is important that it be free from varietal mixtures. The best time to locate good pure seed is when the crop is standing in the field just before harvest. With this object in mind, County Agent Carpenter and Mr. Jackman made the certifications listed above.

Women's Choice is The Home

In normal times, 20 out of every 100 persons engaged in gainful occupations in the United States are women. At present it is believed that 8,000,000 women and girls are at work and that a fourth more will be when industry reaches normal conditions. This invasion of women applies to almost every field of enterprise. Yet these figures take no account of the vasty greater number of women who are not classed as in "gainful occupations" yet perform the natural function of women—home-making. The woman who is a home-maker may not be able to count her income in dollars as accurately as the other, who draws a fixed salary; yet she is in a gainful occupation nevertheless, says the Marion Star. Her "jewels" may be her sons and daughters and her reward may be less financial, but she has it in the satisfaction of having done a woman's part in rearing a family. It does not fall to every woman to give such service, but to whomsoever it is given to be a wife and mother the reward is not less, though it is expressed in different terms. That the position of home-maker is the natural desire of women is shown in that about as many step out of "gainful occupations" annually as enter them. Thus, for most women, such employment is but temporary in contemplation of marriage. That so many are willing to exchange salaries for the home is proof which occupation appeals with more force to women.

The strongest argument we know in favor of evolution is the circus. Nothing else so well explains its unshaken hold upon generation after generation, upon old and young. A circus without animals would be only half a circus. It becomes a complete circus only when the human are is joined to the animal segment. In other words, both are necessary to this "story of mankind." The animals, domesticated or wild, are our "contemporary ancestors." When they come to town with their evolved human descendants the deeps of nature call to each other, and a curious and compelling instinct bids us give them welcome, says the Toledo Blade. From some far-off ancestral jungle we hear the call of the wild, and we throng the streets and tented shrines to trace our lineage to its source. In the circus the beginning and the end meet. And the question is which end is nearer the real jungle.

Another reason why girls should not resort to calamine is, men have no constitutional objection to freckles, which are always tasteless and sometimes winsome, remarks the Houston Post, but they don't like the taste of the put-on stuff and have no assurance that it is guaranteed under the pure food and drug act.

In Bavaria the teaching of English has been substituted in the schools for that of French on the ground that French culture has passed its zenith while English has become the commercial language of the world. The French will probably consider that a hostile demonstration and call up a few more divisions for "national defense."

"The young girl of today is as good as she was thirty years ago," says a bishop. Yes, but how did she keep young?

Summer furs begin to show a feeling of attack; but the summer doesn't.
