A number of farmers in the vicinity of Moro have had to curtail their farm work the last few weeks because of an epidemic of flu now prevalent among Sherman county horses. Some farmers are fortunate to have only a few disabled. Others have their entire outfits tied up.

The pot-luck supper and annual congregational meeting held at the church by members and adherents of the Presbyterian church was attended by about seventy-five last Tuesday evening. Reports of the various church societies show increased activities during the past year. By unanimous vote all officers of the church were re-elected to their offices. The budget for the coming year, amounting to $2522.10, was approved as presented by the committee.

The ladies of the Dorcas Study Club entertained their husbands and invited guests at a banquet served at Hotel Moro Thursday evening. After a bountiful repast served by the hotel management, Mrs. T. C. Lee, president of the Study Club, gave a short talk of welcome to the guests and introduced Mrs. C. L. Foley as toastmistress for the evening. Toasts were responded to by Mrs. Rose, Mr. Ragsdale, and Mr. Stephens. A paper on "Latest Inventions" was read by Mrs. Stephens and a second paper on "Radio" was read by Mrs. Badger.

News Letter From Kent

Mrs. J. G. Wilson is reported to be on the sick list.

Miss Glade Guyton is quite ill, a sufferer from after effects of the flu.

Mrs. A. T. Holt and children spent last week-end out at the farm with Arthur.

Mrs. Carl Schadewitz is expected home from the hospital the last of this week.

The dance and smoker staged last Saturday evening was enjoyed by all who attended.

G. W. Burnet and wife were Sherman county visitors from The Dalles last week-end.

G. W. Howell has added a fine milk cow to his farm livestock. The cow was bought from L. W. Amick.

Dr. Thatcher was called during the week to the Wm. Mitchell home to see the two small Mitchell daughters.

A man from Redmond, Jefferson county, visited the Hoskinson farm last week, seeking pure seed for the county agent at Redmond.

Kent has enjoyed lovely summer weather the past week. Some of the old-timers claim that they have never seen such hot weather in March.

Mrs. W. R. Adams accompanied I. E. Wilson and family on a motor drive to Fossil last Saturday. The party made the return trip the next day.

Mrs. W. F. Guyton returned home Saturday evening from California, where she has been visiting the past five months. Now Dad wears the smile that won't wash off.

Mrs. Pleumke has been afflicted with rheumatism the past week, necessitating a doctor's attention. In the meantime, Max has been chief cook and bottle washer at Hotel Kent.

Mrs. L. J. Davis has left the Portland hospital and is now with her parents at The Dalles. Reports state that she is not recuperating from her operation as rapidly as her friends would desire.

There was a large attendance at Sunday School last Sunday. The special Easter program prepared for the occasion was exceptionally fine, but brief. At the Credle roll call, about half were absent.

Five cars of cypreses visited our city Thursday morning. The women could not find creditable folk who would pay them to have their fortunes told. They soon left. Needless to say, everyone was glad to see them move on.

The state highway commission has awarded the contract for grading that section of the Pacific highway between Fifth street in Oregon City and Canemah to Rajotte-Winters, Inc. The highway to be improved is approximately a mile in length, and the contract price is $90,000.

PERSONALS

Live Lines About People Who Have Come and Gone

N. P. Hanson and family were visiting in Moro this week from Portland.

Mrs. D. E. Stephens and son Edmund were Portland visitors last week-end.

Beginning with this week, the show hour at Moro theater has been changed to eight o'clock.

Anson Woods and wife were visitors in Moro this week from their home at Walla Walla.

W. K. Deal and wife, from Portland, were guests this week at the C. C. Richmond home.

J. M. Eddy and wife have both been seriously ill the past ten days with an aggravated case of flu.

E. H. Moore is now using a deluxe big six Studebaker, recently purchased from Foss & Co., as the family car.

The four-year old son of G. A. Meloy was seriously burned last week by setting fire to his bed clothes with matches.

County Stock Inspector Jas Stewart left Monday for Kent where he expects to be busy with stock inspector work for some weeks.

F. S. Scott and wife, from Lafayette, Yamhill county, were visiting over Easter Sunday week-end with their daughter, Mrs. F. E. Fortner.

A. B. Potter and family were visitors in Moro on Monday from Klondike. Mr. Potter is much impressed with the wheat crop prospect around his home for the coming harvest.

E. G. Remington, from Grass Valley, and Mrs. Maxwell Wilson, from Wasco, were married at the Presbyterian manse on Friday, March 23rd, Rev. H. G. Hanson performing the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Kaestner, accompanied by W. S. Kaestner Jr., were week-end guests from Chicago this week at Hotel Moro. The Kaestners are old-time friends of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Chindlund.

W. H. Ragsdale received word last week of the serious condition of his mother at Silverton, causing him to make a hurried trip to that city. Upon his return, Mr. Ragsdale reported his mother as slightly improved.

Floyd Platt entertained a party of friends numbering fifteen at luncheon at Hotel Moro Sunday. Included in the party were George Hennagin and wife, Clarence Sparring and wife, Tom Fraser and family, A. B. Damon and Miss Beryl King.

T. E. and W. F. Hulery, from Moro, and L. V. Eakin, from Grass Valley, attended the special Easter service held this year by the Knight Templars at Goldendale. The ferry at Maryhill crossed twenty-six cars in fifty-five minutes Sunday evening when the Knights were returning to their Wasco and Sherman county homes.

It is becoming quite "the thing" in Moro to partake of Sunday luncheon at Hotel Moro each week. Those so doing on Easter Sunday were J. J. Schaeffer and wife, E. H. Moore and wife, George Hennagin and family, R. L. Kunsman and family, A. C. Thompson and wife, E. T. Strong and family, H. W. Strong, wife and daughter.

H. W. Strong and wife, accompanied by their two daughters, Mrs. Vivian Ball and Miss Maybrey Strong, were visitors last week end at the home of their son and brother, E. T. Strong and family. The visitors left on their return Wednesday, intending to visit with relatives at Hood River and at Portland.

Rev. Henry G. Hanson received a telegram Thursday morning from Willmar, Minnesota, announcing the death of his father on Wednesday evening, April 4th. Besides Mr. Hanson here at Moro, there are a brother and sister at the family home, one sister at Wist, South Dakota, and one at Whitewater, Montana. The father was 82 years of age and had been confined to his bed for about eight months. His helpmeet passed on about twelve years ago. Mr. Hanson left late Thursday afternoon for Willmar, Minnesota, expecting to return within ten days time.

Owners of property in the burned area of Astoria have reached an agreement as to the type of construction they desire in the rebuilding of the streets. They have asked the council to call for bids on a fill with reinforced concrete retaining walls only, thus eliminating the talked-of fill with stepped bulkheads. The estimated cost of this proposed improvement is about $600,000.

J. H. Fredrick, president of the Hood River County Protective association has announced that the state fish commission has completed preliminary details for the construction of a permanent trout hatchery at the confluence of Deadpoint creek with the west fork of Hood river at the Devil's Punch-bowl. Lumber is being assembled and construction will begin at once on the buildings. It is expected that 3,000,000 to 5,000,000 trout fry and several hundred thousand steel heads will be propagated annually.

Easter Cantata Successful Affair

The presentation at Presbyterian church Sunday evening of the cantata "Easter Angels" by the Methodist and Presbyterian churches of Moro had been widely advertised and as this was the first venture of its kind, it created unusual interest.

Early Sunday evening automobiles from all directions were coming to the Presbyterian church. Before church time the building was packed. Anticipating an unusual attendance, the men of the church had borrowed seventy chairs from the high school, eight good sized pews from the Methodist church, as well as chairs from near neighbors. Even with this preparation, about twenty people stood up thru the service. About 200 people were present to listen to the Easter music and the message of the evening which was on "The Meaning of the Resurrection," preached by Rev. Henry G. Hanson.
