LIQUOR QUESTION READY FOR COURTS

United States Answers Test Challenge of British Vessels.

New York.—The test case sought by British steamship lines on their right to bring beverage liquor into American waters is ready for the courts.

Seizure Saturday of hundreds of cases of wine, beer and liquor under seals of his majesty's government aboard the Baltic and Berengaria put the next move in the "booze war" up to Great Britain.

The big liners brought considerable intoxicating liquor, such as is barred by the supreme court's interpretation of the Volstead act, into port here for the deliberate purpose of having it seized.

The liquor seized was trucked to government warehouses. Captains of both vessels entered formal protest at the breaking of their government's seals, but put no obstacles in the path of confiscating officials.

SEIZURES O. K., SAY BRITONS

Prime Minister Says There is No Ground for Protest to America.

London.—Stanley Baldwin, the prime minister, stated in the house of commons that there was no ground for protest if British customs seals were broken within United States territorial waters by officials of the United States customs service. His statement was in answer to a question whether Great Britain recognized America's right to break the seals on liquor aboard ships.

Addressing a congregation in the Welsh Baptist chapel here, former Premier David Lloyd George made it apparent that he also did not share the views of certain of the British newspapers concerning the lack of right of the American authorities to seize British liquor stores aboard ships.

COAL COMMISSION SPEEDS UP REPORT

Washington, D. C.—The coal commission is rushing to completion its report on wages, profits and costs in anthracite mining so its findings may be brought to bear in a labor situation of increasing intensity now arising in the industry.

Miners' wage contracts expire August 31 and a strike is threatened unless negotiations for replacement are successful. In recent union elections supporters of John L. Lewis, present national head of the United Mine Workers, have met defeat, and it is considered certain that when delegates of anthracite workers meet June 26 to frame new wage demands the element newly come to dominance will at least set out to gain substantial wage advances. The commission is required to make a report by July 1 to aid in the wage negotiations.

While the commission's report as to the facts of costs, profits and operating conditions in the anthracite fields will be partial, its members hope to have data usually at issue in wage negotiations clearly defined.

Guardmen on Parade at Camp. Camp Lewis, Wash.—More than a thousand visitors witnessed the review of the entire 1st division Sunday afternoon, for the first time since the division went to France in 1918. It was declared by army officials to be the greatest and most orderly spectacle they had ever seen.

Idaho Warden Resigns. Boise.—W. L. Cuddy, warden, has resigned as directing head of the Idaho state penitentiary, following the escape of five prisoners from that institution, but the board of prison commissioners refused to accept his resignation and relieved him of responsibility because of illness.

Mount Etna is Subsiding. Catania.—All indications are that the worst part of the Mount Etna eruption is virtually over. Naturally, this does not mean that the flow of lava, stones, ashes and cinders will cease immediately but the flow has lessened considerably.

MacMillan Departs for Far North. Wiscasset, Me.—The 115-ton auxiliary schooner Bowdoin, bearing Captain Donald B. MacMillan and his party on their way to resume scientific work and explorations in the Arctic, sailed from this port Saturday.

HARDING TO BE AT MEACHAM JULY 3

La Grande, Or.—The entire Pacific northwest is invited to Meacham, at the top of the Blue mountains, July 3 and 4, to greet the president of the United States and do honor to the pioneers of the Oregon country.

The presidential special will arrive at Meacham at 9 o'clock on the morning of July 3. Governor Pierce of Oregon, President Jay Upton of the Oregon senate, Governor Moore of Idaho and Mrs. Bean of Wenatchee, personal representative of Governor Hart of Washington, will constitute an official reception committee to greet the chief executive and his party.

The president and his party will witness a pageant depicting characters of the time of the Wilson Price Hunt expedition in 1811-12 and featuring several hundred Umatilla Indians with their war paint and gorgeous costumes; the time of the coming of the first wagon train in 1843; with the ox-driven schooners; a troop of cavalrymen in the uniforms of 1850-1860, and freight wagons, pack trains, Concord coaches and sideline buckboards. In the afternoon of July 3 the feature will be President Harding's address.

The Portland office will distribute news in marketgrams to be sent out five days each week to the newspapers of the three Pacific northwest states.

The marketgrams will in each issue give a complete review of crop and market conditions for the preceding seven days, both locally and in other sections of the country.

Borah Approves Plan

Spokane, Wash.—Approval of the world court idea as expressed by President Harding at St. Louis was voiced by Senator Borah in a speech to the Farmers' union at Coeur d'Alene. "Though not in favor of the league, I favor Harding's plan as detailed in his speech," Borah said.

Thought for the Day

The bad habit we do not begin, we will never have to quit.

PROHIBITION HERE TO STAY, SAYS HARDING

Denver, Colo.—President Harding waded into the prohibition situation without gloves here and in by far the most forceful speech he has ever delivered on this controversial subject, he declared that prohibition in the United States has come to stay, that people might as well make up their minds to it, and that it is up to the individual states and local authorities to enforce it.

If the states fall in this moral and constitutional duty to the federal government, he warned, then the government at large will be compelled to create a national police authority that in the end will severely injure state sovereignty and eventually menace the well being of the republic. Moreover, he served notice on the "wets" within his own party that there would be no "wet" plank in the republican platform next year and he predicted also that there will be none in the democratic platform.

The president had nothing but scorn and criticism for those officials who, charged with enforcement of the law, violate it themselves with impunity.

Spokane, Wash.—Approval of the world court idea as expressed by President Harding at St. Louis was voiced by Senator Borah in a speech to the Farmers' union at Coeur d'Alene.

"Though not in favor of the league, I favor Harding's plan as detailed in his speech," Borah said.
