Six members of The Dalles lodge I. O. O. F. were presented with 25-year veteran jewels of the order at a ceremonial held in the lodge rooms on September 12th. Numbered among those so honored was L. Barnum, formerly of this city and now vice-president of the First National bank of that city.

Don Wheat and wife, from Eugene, have been visiting with friends in Moro since last Friday. They will leave on their return this Thursday. The trip from Eugene was made by auto by way of Willamette pass, south of the McKenzie pass, coming into the Dalles-California highway at Crescent, about fifty miles south of Bend.

W. A. Ruggles has purchased the McKean residence property on Court street, moving part of his household goods into his new home this week. W. A. has been farming the Herman Pape farm east of Moro. This property was sold last spring to G. W. Kinney and, temporarily, W. A. has discontinued farming.

Authority Says Clothes are Incidental

Whether she realizes it or not, the woman who is dressed in the most artistic manner is a mathematician of the highest order. She also is an artist, which is another way of saying the same thing, and a diplomat.

So declares Madam Lydia Costes, who is in Portland on her annual visit to the coast. She has studied clothes and has decided they are for one purpose only—to express the character and temperament of their wearers. Clothes are not intended to keep out the weather or hide one's nakendess, at all. If they do it is an incident. The subject of health and morality have little to do with dress, she avers. Madame believes that all art, in fact, is the application and elaboration of the basic rules of geometry.

A. C. Thompson and wife returned Saturday from a two week's vacation spent at Belknap springs, near Eugene. A. C. said the trip did him an immense amount of good, he having lost twelve pounds of cussedness on the trip. The looseness of his trouser waist band seems to agree with his assertion.

Construction work on the new overland telephone lines from Portland to San Francisco, passing thru Sherman county, has reached within four miles of Grass Valley, from as far south as Bend. The line is completed from Grass Valley to Portland. Construction south from Bend will be undertaken next year.

Francis T. Wade, of Wasco, district attorney for Sherman county, and Miss Olive Gates, of Hillsboro, were married Wednesday evening, September 12th, at a church wedding in that city. Rev. H. A. Deck officiating. Following the wedding service a reception was held to about seventy guests at the Gates residence.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Dillinger, who have been touring the middle west, visiting especially the states of Iowa, Minnesota, and Wyoming, during the last 60 days, returned to their home in The Dalles last week. Mr. Dillinger brought back with him a brother and sister from the east who will remain for an extended visit this fall.

Farmers in the Walla Walla section are organizing for the purpose of curtailing the acreage planted this fall to wheat. The movement has advanced to the point where several thousand acres will probably be idle next year. The farmers of that section are also holding their wheat for a price of not less than one dollar a bushel. A number of offers at 98 cents was refused last Friday and Saturday.

H. J. Simmons, publisher of the Fossil Journal, and J. M. Cummins, publisher of the Arlington Bulletin, were visitors in Moro last Saturday. They were returning from a motor trip to Portland. Mr. Cummins is a former resident of Sherman county, moving to Wasco from Goldendale in 1892, with a newspaper plant for the purpose of establishing the Wasco News, now the News-Enterprise, occasioned by the removal from Wasco to Moro of the Observer, published at that time in Wasco. The Observer was moved to Moro at that time by its former owners, Jones and Hosford, for the purpose of advocating Moro as the county seat of the new county of Sherman.

BRIEF NEWS

Paragraphs on State, County and Community's Events

G. E. Mathews and wife left Sunday for Portlnd, to be with his father on Monday during the hours of a hospital operation.

Three men occupants of an auto mobile overturned near Klondike last Saturday with slight injuries to themselves. Too much speed is the report that reached Moro.

H. J. Warn, known locally as "Dad" when proprietor of the Bee Hive restaurant in this city, was a business visitor in Moro Saturday. He is now located at Rufus where he owns a restaurant and short order establishment.

J. F. Burton, of Salt Lake city, Utah, was registered at Hotel Moro last Friday. Mr. Burton is a member of the executive committee of the national farm bureau and was in the county on business connected with that organistion.

Quite a surprise to the local members of Moro lodge I. O. O. F. occurred Monday evening, after the regular session of the lodge had closed, when the marriage of C. L. Montgomery and Mrs. Elizabeth Heath was solemnized. Justice A. M. Young officiated at the ceremony.

CHURCH NEWS

Notes of Interest to All Local Denominations

The Dorcas society will meet and work at the church next Wednesday afternoon, September 26th.

W. L. Dillinger will preach at the Methodist church in this city Sunday morning. A cordial invitation is extended to all to be present.

Portland Methodists entertained the conference Monday by a sight seeing trip over the Columbia highway with luncheon at Eagle creek. This was greatly appreciated by the many present

Among the many enjoyable features of the Methodist conference, held last week at Portland, for Mrs. Smothers was a banquet at the Seward hotel where seventy-seven minister's wives were present.

A balloon ascension race is now in progress at the Methodist Sunday school. A real balloon will be sent up for the winners. Come next Sunday and learn how you can help your balloon to sail above theothers.

Rev. H. H. Miles, former pastor of Moro, has retired from the pastorate on account of the health of his family and will engage in the grocery business in Salem where his daughter Helen will enroll at Williamette University this fall.

Rev. U. C. Smothers and family returned from Portland Monday where they had been in attendance at the Methodist Annual Conference. Rev. Smothers has been assigned to Moro for another year and will preach at Spaulding chapel Sunday at eleven o'clock and at the union service at the Methodist church in Moro at eight o'clock.

The Presbyterians are making preparations for Rally Day, which is to be observed in the church next Sunday morning, September 23. A special program, including a pageant will be presented by members of the Sunday school. Special exercises connected with promotion will be rendered. The church will be specially decorated for the purpose. The plans for the classes for the coming year will be announced.

In connection with the morning service at the Presbyterian church, Rev. Henry G. Hanson will preach on the subject, "Wanted—A Holy Enthusiasm." "Every Member Present" is the slogan for the day.

Christian Science services are held every Sunday morning at eleven o'clock and on Wednesday evening at eight o'clock. Sunday school is held in the Sunday school room, in the rear of the church building, at 10:15.

The subject of the lesson-sermon for Sunday is "Matter." Golden Text: Psalms 73:26. My flesh and my heart faileth: but God is the strength of my heart, and my portion forever. Responsive reading: Deuteronomy 8:11-18

The reading room, at the rear of the church, is open daily. All are welcome to make use of the reading room and attend the church services.

Time to Consider New Tax Levies

Tax levying bodies of the county—city, roads, school districts and county—soon will have to buckle down to consideration of the 1924 budget and the work this year must be done in much quicker time than in former years. This is due to the fact that although budgets should be compiled and assembled by september 1, the budgets are not yet all completed and in some instances, not as yet under serious consideration.

Budgets must be ready for the tax conservation and supervision commission by October 1st. This means that the tax levying bodies will have to sit in continuous sessions for the purpose of going over the budgets of the various political sub-divisions.

O. L. Belshe and wife, accompanied by Mrs. Belshe's sister, Mrs. George Hansen, and J. C. McKean and wife, left Wednesday for Pendleton where they will attend the annual Round-up and the Shrine Ceremonial held in that city this week.

Philip T. Searcy and Miss Gertrude May Brown were married at the Presbyterian manse last Monday morning in the presence of witnesses only. They left immediately for a short wedding trip to Beaverton and other points in the Willamette valley.

J. C. Wilson was in town Tuesday from Kent, carrying himself gingerly with the aid of a pair of crutches. His left leg, near the ankle, was severely injured last week when a sack of wheat fell on him while he was working in the elevator at Kent.

A movement is under way in Moro, sponsored by the Methodist and Presbyterian churches, to organize and maintain a public reading room and library. It is planned to give a program in the near future with which to raise funds for this purpose.

Report has it that the new Sherman highway grade is now being rock surfaced both north and south of the crusher, long hauls toward Grass Valley alternating with short hauls toward Kent. About three miles of grade, south from the crusher, has been surfaced.

Joe Truitt, proprietor of the Main street barber shop, left Sunday for a brief visit with his family at Bend, Oregon. The compelling motive for the visit, said Joe, was to see a baby daughter born on September 2d. He expects to move his family to Moro in the near future.

Karl Schade and wife left Sunday by auto for Ellensburg, Washington, where they visited with an uncle of Mrs. Schade, returning Tuesday to this city. They were accompanied on the trip by Mrs. Schade's brother, Hoarce McKee, and her sister, Mrs. Roy Hulse. The 198 miles were driven each way in about nine hours, including the ferry transfer at Arlington.

It Lasts! and Lasts! and LASTS!

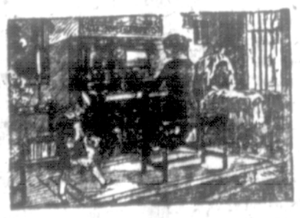
It is an actual fact, few products of any kind have a record of dependability comparable with the Gulbransen "REGISTERING" Piano. One must remember that the first Gulbransens were turned out in what were the experimental days for Player Actions, where defects might be excused on the grounds of lack of knowledge and experience. And yet, every day, letters are received commenting on quality and serviceabliity of the first Gulbransens.



They were made RIGHT
They have been made right every since.
And, according to the words of Mr. Gulbransen, "we shall continue making them that way until — Bryan's elected president"

Next week we will tell you of an experience, that comes to us as a signed statement, right from the heart of an old experienced Piano Tuner and Mechanic. Watch for it.

The GULBRANSEN "REGISTERING" PIANO is made in four models; all nationally priced, the price branded in the back of each instrument at the factory

White House Model	$700
Country Seat Model	$600
Suburban Model	$495
Community Model	$420
