G. E. Mathews and wife returned late Sunday afternoon from Portland, where Mr. Mathews was called the first part of the week to be with his father during and after an operation at one of the local hospitals. Mr. Mathews' father was considered to be out of the danger of serious results from the operation at the time of their return.

Mrs. W. J. Barnes has a son, Mrs. O. F. Miser, and three sons visiting with her and family, from Oswego, Kansas. The Miser family drove overland, arriving at Moro last week. They continued the trip to Ashwood, where a brother of Mrs. Barnes has a homestead. Mr. Miser is now with the brother at Ashwood while Mrs. Miser is at Moro.

W. S. Orcutt passed away at his home in this city at 12:30 a. m. Tuesday morning, the immediate cause of his death being complications caused by eating grapes and watermelon. Funeral services were held from the Methodist church at Moro at eleven o'clock Tuesday morning followed by interment in the I.O.O.F. cemetery at Kent.

BRIEF NEWS

Paragraphs on State, County and Community's Events

E. R. Hickson and J. M. Eddy visited the Deschutes river at Shearer last Sunday, resulting in a fine catch of trout. We are indebted to Mr. Hickson for some of his catch, which were greatly appreciated.

W. S. Powell expected to leave the middle of this week for Corvallis, driving thru by auto. Accompanying him was his daughter Opal, and Miss Elsie Bourhill, who expect to attend O. A. C. this fall.

V. G. Cushman and wife made a hurried drive last Sunday from their farm home at Condon to the hospital at Wasco, where a nine pound daughter was born to Mrs. Cushman fifteen minutes after arrival at hospital.

Clarence Hulse left Monday for Salem, in company with A. M. Zevely, assistant county school superintendent. Clarence was awarded the trip because of his high standing and efficiency in the school gardening club.

Foss & Co. have rented their automobile repair department to Messrs. Armstrong and Morris, who will assume charge of that part of the business beginning October first. Morris is a son-in-law of E. A. Cushman.

J. M. and Mrs. Axtell expect to leave next week for Portland by auto, taking with them several dozen canary birds that Mrs. Axtell has raised during the past year and which she has sold to Portland bird fanciers at more than fair prices.

Mr. Claude B. Parkhurst of Battleground, Washington, and Miss Josephine L. Stark of Grass Valley were married at the Presbyterian manse last Wednesday forenoon in the presence of witnesses only. Rev. H. G. Hanson officiating.

Contractors are busy setting up a crusher plant and assembling material with which to resurface the Columbia highway between The Dalles and Deschutes river. The plant will be located about ten miles west of the Deschutes river.

Mrs. J. M. Axtell returned last week from a trip to Portland and the coast at Netarts, Pacific City and Ocean City. Mrs. Axtell was a member of a party, that made the trip from Hillsboro to the coast, consisting of her son and family and her daughter and family.

Six inches of snow fell on Mount Hood last Thursday evening, September 20th, the first white coat the mountain has received this season. The snow extended down a mile below the timber line, freezing and covering the hand ropes used by mountain climbers in gaining the summit.

W. A. Morgan and son Ray were over Monday from their home north of Condon. They made the trip by auto over the Cottonwood grade, which Mr. Morgan said was in good condition altho the road leading into Condon from the Gilliam county side is rutted somewhat from heavy wheeling.

J. F. Foss has a sore left forearm, caused by a piece of steel, the size of a match head, from off the face of a blacksmith hammer. He was working at the anvil of his shop when the chip from the hammer entered the fleshy part of his arm close to the elbow. An x-ray shows the steel to be close to the bone and about 1 1/2 inches from the surface.

Byron Hawkes and wife, from Bonners Ferry, Idaho, were guests last week at the J. F. Foss home in this city. Mrs. Hawkes is a daughter of A. D. McDonald, of Spokane, and a niece of Mrs. Foss. Mr. Hawkes, seventeen years ago, was a resident of this city being the pharmacist at the then Robert Montgomery drug store. He now has a drug store in his home city.

The presentation of "Adam's Rib" at Moro Theatre this Saturday is the second appearance of this picture at any theatre in Oregon. Manager Mathews bought it for Moro after viewing it at the censor movie office when in Portland last week. We believe it is the blagget picture yet shown in Moro. The scenes include an intermixture of cave-man and twentieth century on an elaborate and lavish scale heretofore unsurpassed.

Roy B. Corson, who was $14,000 short in his accounts as cashier of the First National bank of Bandon, waived preliminary hearing when arraigned before United States Commissioner Dodge at Myrtle Point and was released on a bond of $10,000 furnished by friends in Bandon.

Charges filed by the Oregon State Bar association against Joseph Woernle, Portland attorney, demanding that he be disbarred from practicing law in this state, were practically all substantiated in the findings of Judge Bagley of Hillsboro, which were filed with the supreme court.

Elbert Dyer's offer to the state game commission of a site for a trout hatchery on Ferry creek, near Bandon, has been accepted by the commission on recommendation of M. L. Ryckman, superintendent of trout hatcheries, and work will be started on construction about the first of October.

Fear shipments from Medford to the eastern markets number 1438 cars, and there are from 150 to 200 more cars of the commercial crop yet to go. The apple crop shipments to eastern markets are in full swing. It is estimated that the commercial apple crop will be from 800 to 1000 cars.

News Items From Kent and Vicinity

Karl Schadewitz whose barn burned a short time ago expects to rebuild at once.

The funeral of W. S. Orcutt who died Tuesday morning in Moro was held at the Odd Fellows cemetery Tuesday afternoon.

The telephone co. crew who have been putting in the new lines have completed their work and, like the Arabs, have folded their tents and silently stolen away.

Monday afternoon, when driving to the cemetery the car driven by Marvin Howell ran amuck; turned over, pinning Marvin underneath. Mrs. Young and daughter, Mrs. Howell and daughter and Marvin escaped with but slight bruises.

News is rather scarce in and around Kent most all of the farmers are through harvesting, although quite a number still have wheat in the fields. The price is not as generous as farmers would like. But we have noticed for quite a while farmers haven't been getting as much for their grain as some of us think they should.

As an aftermath of the meeting of the Albany chamber of commerce and engineers who have been working on plans and estimates for the two proposed bridges over the William site at Harrisburg and at Albany the issue of voting bonds to the amount of $178,480.49 for the Linx county share in the two bridges will go on the ballot this fall.

CHURCH NEWS

Notes of Interest to All Local Denominations

The Young People's Society will begin their meetings next Sunday evening at 7:15 at the Presbyterian church, Miss Andersen, the president, leading the meeting. All young people are welcome.

The sacrament of the Lords Supper will be administered by Rev. U. C. Smothers at the Methodist church next Sunday morning. All members and friends of the church are requested to be present.

There was a noticeable increase in attendance at the Methodist Sunday School last Sunday. It is expected that many more will be present this Sunday to have a part in the balloon ascension which will be sent up for the contest winners in the near future.

The specific topics for Sunday mornings for the next few weeks, each service beginning at eleven o'clock, is as follows:

Sept. 30. Communion Sunday.
Inner life of Jesus.
Oct. 7. The Personality of God.
.. 14. The Goodness of God.
.. 21. The Love of God.

Christian Science services at eleven o'clock Sunday morning. Subject: Reality. Golden text: Isaiah 40:5. The glory of the Lord shall be revealed, and all flesh shall see it together: for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it. Responsive reading: 1 Chronicles 16:8, 14-23, 34. Wednesday evening meeting at eight o'clock.

Sunday school is held in the Sunday school room at the rear of the church every Sunday morning at 10:15.

Reading room is open daily. All are invited to attend the church services and make use of the reading room.

Rev. Henry G. Hanson has announced tentative plans for the fall work of the Presbyterian church. The morning sermons during the winter will have for the general theme, "The Life of the Spirit." They will deal with the big things of life. The general purpose is to be a thorough grounding in the things of God, of Christ, and of the Church in the world. The general plan, as Mr. Hanson announced it, is to preach five sermons on God, three sermons on Man, six sermons on Jesus, four sermons on the Bible, three sermons on the Holy Spirit, four sermons on Prayer, and four sermons on the Kingdom of God.

The Rally Day exercises at the Presbyterian church last Sunday morning brought out a large attendance. The program was both unique and instructive. The church was lastly decorated the main exhibit being a grain display board, an arch with the words "welcome" spelled out with ears of corn. Flowers completed the decoration. Members of the church session did the decorating while Mrs. J. E. Coleman directed the work. Mrs. C. L. Poley and Mrs. T. C. Lee deserve special praise for the splendid program rendered including promotion exercises, a short pageant showing forth the anointing of David, and a general exercise on Christian Patriotism, besides several individual recitations. The special offering of $15.11, will go toward helping in Sunday School work among immigrant children. Ninety-six people were present at the exercise. The Sunday School from now on, should show a larger increase in attendance, as all the summer vacationists have returned.

Don't Fail to See "Adam's Rib"

Cecil B. DeMille's latest production for Paramount, "Adam's Rib," by Jeanie Macpherson, had its world premiere at Grauman's Rialto Theatre, Los Angeles, and registered the greatest triumph of the producers career, according to the Los Angeles newspapers, all of which gave high praise of the picture.

Guy Price, in the Evening Herald said: "For novel daring in the production of forest and cave man sequences in the midst of a portrayal of twentieth century life it is doubtful if this picture has ever been equaled. Cecil B. DeMille deserves great commendation as a director. The excellence of the photography cannot be gainsaid. Milton Sills wins the unrestricted approval of all spectators. Elliott made the most of his part, Theodore Kosloff is a success and Ann Q. Nilsson and Pauline Garon are well suited to their roles."

"Adam's Rib" comes to Moro Theatre this Saturday. Admission 15c and 40c.

School Club Work at Salem Fair

The magnitude and efficiency of boys' and girls' club work in the state was impressed on the minds of the visitors at the state fair held at Salem this week, according to H. C. Seymour, state leader of boys' and girls' club work. Larger and better displays being shown at the fair.

Booths exhibiting club work were arranged by Multnomah, Jackson, Douglas, Linn, Polk, Tillamook, Washington, Columbia, Clackamas, Hood River, Sherman, and Malheur county young people. Eighteen counties judging teams from different counties were competitors and twelve counties sent canning teams to try out for honors, two or three canning teams competing each day of the week.

Counties sending stock judging teams included Multnomah, Union, Umatilla, Sherman, Hood River, Clackamas, Malheur, Washington, Columbia, Clatsop, Tillamook, Polk, Marion, Linn, Benton, Douglas, Jackson and Lincoln.

Canning teams were from Multnomah, Clatsop, Columbia, Washington, Tillamook, Lincoln, Benton, Lane, Jackson, Clackamas, Hood River, and Umatilla counties. The qualities of exhibits this season at the county fairs have been better than ever before, reports Mr. Seymour. Clubs over state are showing growth, as indicated especially by the fact that reports are coming in every day from clubs completing their work one hundred per cent strong.

What One Man Learned About

GULBRANSEN The Registering Piano

A Gulbransen Registered Mechanic, in a moment of enthusiasm, penned his thoughts, with the following result:

"I would very much like to write something pertaining to the Gulbransen that would be helpful to some other Gulbransen mechanic, but it is a hard proposition and I will tell you why.

"I have known the Gulbransen Player for five years, and the manufacturers for two. I made their acquaintance under very pleasing circumstances viz: I was converting a 65 note player into an 88 note player, which had to be fitted with a Transposing Tracker Bar. I had almost given up hope of procuring one, when suddenly I thought of the Gulbransen factory. I got there in the course of time, and was received by a man who I felt somewhat like a wanderer would who had just returned to a dear home after many years of absence. I was taken into the office and had a very pleasant chat on players with one of the officials. Finally I was asked by the worthy gentleman to give him my candid opinion of the Gulbransen, so I told him that the Gulbransen was the best and also the worst player that I had ever come across, that it was both good and bad. That got him guessing, and I don't mind admitting that I rather enjoyed the situation. Finally he gave it up and requested me to explain. I then told him that it was a good player for any one to possess, but a bad one from a mechanic's point of view who had to make his living from regulating and repairing players, as nothing ever seemed to go wrong with them. I have been selling them now for nearly a year and that is still what I think of the Gulbransen.

"I tuned a Gulbransen in Harvey, Ill., a short time ago that had been bought in 1915, there was a stack of over five hundred rolls that have all been played scores of times and not a thing had ever been done to the player apart from the tuning during that eight years, and it plays just like a brand new Gulbransen. I thought it wonderful but still I was soon to see something more wonderful.

"Two weeks ago I paid a visit to the Operators Piano Co., Chicago, who, as you know are makers of player rolls, and there I saw a Gulbransen Player that had been used for demonstrating rolls for over fifteen years. I believe it was one of the first Gulbransen players ever made. I had the pleasure of playing a couple of rolls on it, and was surprised to find how well it played. I could get the same expression and it had the same easy pedaling as the present day Gulbransen. The manager told me that they never did anything to it bransen. The manager told me that they never did anything to it during the fifteen years they had had it but tune it and put on several new pairs of pedals, that ought to prove to any one that the Gulbransen was made right from the very beginning. I just love to sell the Gulbransen, and am proud to be one of the many distributors.
