

TOWN LIFE IN NEW REPUBLIC

Community Building in Czechoslovakia Includes Theater and Other Forms of Recreation.

Village life in Czechoslovakia is much fuller than the life on our main streets. As in most of Europe, the farmers do not live on isolated farms cut off by bad roads and weather from their neighbors, but after their work in the fields come back into town and have a real community life there—social, political meetings, dance and song festivals, school entertainments, outings, according to Viola I. Paradise and Helen Campbell in Scribner's.

In one village of only 1,200 inhabitants—a village consisting of a single street and down near the railroad station a mail factory owned co-operatively by the farmers in the village—was a community building erected a year ago with public funds—$60,000. It had a theater, lecture rooms, a well-equipped gymnasium, baths, a large garden, an athletic field, an excellent coffee house and restaurant and a number of rooms in which visitors to the village could be accommodated—the whole building modern and attractive.

The day we visited this village a play for children was being given in the theater, preparations for a school lecture in the evening were being made, in the coffee house men were reading papers from all over the country or were playing billiards or chess. The opera from the nearest city was to come next evening.

Ancient Tribe Is Found.

Discovery of a tribe whose people he believes to have antedated the ancient Egyptians, is reported to the National Foreign Trade Council by John Gillen, a manufacturer of Wichita Falls, Tex., on his return from a South American tour of a year and a half, says the Detroit News. These people, known as the Machiguas, speak a language very similar in construction to English, he reports, and declares they worshiped trees in the tradition that their ancestors had escaped extinction in the Biblical flood by climbing trees. The tribes live in the country of the headwaters of the Amazon, where Mr. Culbertson says he had invaded forests never before penetrated by white men.

New Yorker Bequeathed Estate to Scottish Relatives.

New York.—Robert Innes, who lived at the Mills hotel in Bleecker street and died in Bellevue hospital on May 14, 1922, was believed to be poor, but the transfer tax report of his estate filed here recently shows that Public Administrator James J. Frawley found assets of $103,533, chiefly in cash, stocks and bonds. The public administrator also found that Innes was survived by a brother, John Innes, and a sister, Mrs. Isabella Ingalls, both of Greenock, Scotland, who divided his estate equally.

The associates and friends of Innes thought that he had a few dollars in savings banks because he kept bank-books in a box at the Mills hotel, but he dressed poorly and left no personal articles worth while appraising. He had only $13 in his possession when he was removed to Bellevue to die; his watch was nickel and the chain was brass.

The public administrator found that Innes had $8,214 in five savings banks and he discovered later that a safe deposit box rented by Innes contained bonds worth $25,704 and stocks valued at $65,053. Among the items were $2,087 in United States Treasury notes; $11,200 in Liberty bonds; $3,000 in Kingdom of Denmark bonds; $3,000 Santa Fe 4s, and $10,000 Missouri Pacific 4s. His stocks consisted of 250 United States Steel common, $24,750; 220 Atchafalpa railroad, $21,835; 100 Southern Pacific, $9,062; 100 Pacific Oil, $6,500 and 800 Missouri Pacific common, $6,725.

U. S. Flyers Brave Death to Photograph Volcano

Hilo, Island of Hawaii.—Airplane photographs of the fire of an active volcano were taken recently by United States army pilots, who successfully performed this daring feat over Kilauea, the largest continuously active volcano in the world.

A group of four planes did the work. In a sudden descent directly over the inner crater they went down to within a few hundred feet of the roaring inferno of lava within the encircling walls.

Heavily buffeted by the up-rush of superheated air and gas fumes arising from the pit, the aviators drove their planes straight ahead, while the daring photographers leaning far outboard took a series of rapid-fire photographs of the tumultuous molten lava directly beneath them, according to witnesses of the feat. A series of unusually graphic views was taken.

Those who participated in the flight were Lieutenants J. M. McCulloch, W. N. Arms and Ned Schramm; Capt. R. G. Hoyt, communication officer; R. C. Whiston, photographer, and three enlisted men.

Frenchman Blames Wife for Star, Escapes Duel

Turin, Italy.—The threatened duel between Bruno Gemelli, Italian war hero, and M. Cassagnin, French horticulturist, is definitely off, the latter declaring his wife wrote the letter defaming the Italian army, which brought forth Gemelli's challenge.

The affair started with the belittling of Italian products in a French horticultural catalogue. A woman member of a distinguished family of Turin wrote a letter of protest after reading one of these catalogues, and in reply received a communication, apparently from M. Cassagnin, containing accusations of cowardice against Italian officers and soldiers.

Gemelli, who holds the gold medal for military valor, promptly telegraphed the Frenchman, begging him to consider himself "soundly cuffed" and challenging him to a meeting on the field of honor. Cassagnin now designates his wife as the cause of all the trouble.

Doctor Plays Solo for Guests, Then Ends Life

Seattle, Wash.—Two minutes after he had finished playing a clarinet solo at a musicale recently in the house of Dr. F. B. Whiting, and without any warning to the guests, Dr. Albert F. Mattice, forty, a Seattle oculist, picked up a revolver from a settee near the window and fatally shot himself, dying shortly afterwards.

Doctor Whiting declared that the revolver was his and that he had taken it from his grip on removing some music. He said he had placed it near the window.

According to friends attending the musicale, no motive could be found for Doctor Mattice's actions, as he appeared to be in the best of spirits.

Great Disaster.

One of the never-forgotten disasters of a lifetime is to lose one's bunch of keys.

Greenland Journalism Is Rather Primitive

According to the opinion of a British bark, journalism in Greenland is rather a primitive stage. The captain makes frequent voyages to Greenland and is held to be an authority on conditions in that country. The one editor in Greenland is a Dane, of the name of Moeller, who conducts the only newspaper and enjoys the singular distinction of printing the paper for the natives and teaching them to read it.

Mr. Moeller is not only the editor and proprietor, but he is the reporter, printer, distributor and business manager, and every two weeks he performs a long journey on skates to dispose of his journal. Originally it contained only a few crude illustrations, but gradually other matter was introduced, until now it contains articles on affairs of the day. This man actually taught his subscribers to read his paper, first introducing words, then sentences, and now articles on the topics of the time.

Flashlights Replacing Lanterns in South China

Electric flashlights, batteries and bulbs are finding an increasing demand in the markets of South China, Hongkong alone buying about 30,000 gold dollars worth annually. About 40 percent of this trade has been secured by the United States. Japanese exporters taking most of the balance. There are no flashlights or parts manufactured in the Hongkong district.

Most of the flashlights sold are for use on board vessels. A large number, however, are being purchased by the Chinese themselves, especially in the country districts. The electric flashlight is beginning to replace the old-fashioned lantern in South China.

Tiberius' Gallies

From beneath a layer of 19 feet of mud and rubbish, the conglomeration of 19 centuries, the floating palace of Emperor Tiberius will be brought to the surface.

The floating palace consisted of two galleys, which are certain to contain marvels of ancient art, according to the archeologists engaged by the municipality of Rome, says the Detroit News.

The palace lies at the bottom of Lake Nemi, near the Eternal City. Private individuals are taking charge of the expenses in order to save the government money.

Britain's Taxable Wealth

Taxation since the war has changed the distribution of individual holdings that make up Great Britain's taxable wealth. Landowners now possess more bonds or cash than previously, and fewer ancestral acres. The proportion of stocks and bonds in the largest estates is about twice as great as that in the smaller estates subject to inheritance tax. Every individual, rich or otherwise, seeks to adjust his holdings in such a way as to make the tax burden least oppressive.

Paradise Nuts

Paradise nuts are sweet and oily and resemble the brazil nut. The nuts are formed inside a large unshaped shell, commonly known as a "monkey pod," similar in construction to that inclosing brazil nuts, but much larger. When a mature pod falls to the ground the natural gas within blows off the nut, fitting it of the urn, scattering the nuts, and at the same time producing a characteristic report which brings all the neighboring monkeys rushing to the feast.

CLOCKS THAT TICK WANTED

Germanes Found African Native Cares Little Whether It Keeps Time or Not.

The German may lack the dash and pluck of a Briton to jump against heavy odds—and take a chance to win or lose all. But in even the pettiest of undertakings every angle of the trade problem is pondered and weighed, to eliminate the risk of loss.

In so trifling a trade item as egg cups, the Germans ascertained that hens in India laid smaller eggs than their sisters in Europe, and put out special egg cups for the Indian hotel and mess trade that fit exactly, says London Tit-Bits.

To these German trade scouts also the Indian religious calendars became objects of closest scrutiny. They learned which were the feast days when natives commonly made presents to one another, and just what sort of articles were in demand at such times of the year—and imported accordingly.

In one African district cheap British alarm clocks had been in use for years. Suddenly sales fell off—and German clocks took the lead. Why? Because when German alarm patenting study had found that whether a clock kept time or not made small difference to the jungle folk. What they really enjoyed was hearing the clock tick!

Having found this secret, the Germans brought the natives a nice shiny clock with a powerful tick—a tick so loud that it fairly flooded the leafy forest with its rasping voice—and everybody was happy except the British traders.

Such is the methodical, prodigiously patient and incessantly industrious German business man.

Palm Tree Man's Brother.

Muslim peoples cherish a quaint and attractive tradition which bespeaks their gratitude for the palm tree that is so nearly the staff of their life. When God created Adam, they say, from the dust of the earth, there remained over a little handful of earth from the raw material of His handiwork, and with it He created the palm tree to be man's brother in the vegetable world and the supplier of his greatest need.

And the sign of this kinship is preserved in the characteristic which separates the palm from all other trees. As man can live, though maimed in his limbs, so can the palm tree survive, though it may shed its bark and its branches. But cut off their heads and man and palm must die.

Alexander Selkirk Memorial.

A memorial to the real Robinson Crusoe, was erected on the island of Juan Fernandez by the officers of H. M. S. Topaze in 1858. It reads: "In memory of Alexander Selkirk, mariner, a native of Larock, in the County of Fife, Scotland, who lived on this island in complete solitude for four years and four months. He was landed from the Cinque Ports Galley, 96 tons, 16 guns, A. D. 1704, and was taken off in the Duke, privateer, 12th Feb., 1709. He died lieutenant of H. M. S. Weymouth, A. D. 1723, aged forty-seven years." It is set into hard rock in a beautiful spot, about 1,700 feet above the sea, near Selkirk's Lookout.

Doom of the Rivet Tossers.

Blowing red-hot rivets through a hose of metal is replacing the old rivet tosser and the boy with the catching can as a means of transportation. The new apparatus is known as the "Ponchar rivet gun" and consists of a galvanized metal tank with a connection welded to the side for the air supply line. The discharge valve is opened by a movement of a steel rod attached to the treadle. A metal receiver with a buffer block is at the discharge end of the conveyor tube. This prevents the plastic rivet from being deformed when suddenly arrested upon reaching the end of its run.
